"Within effective striking distance of Japan," will continue to hammer enemy shipping and defenses "preparatory to further amphibious assault."

Simultaneously, he announced Gen. Douglas MacArthur has assumed command of all army air forces based on Okinawa, incidental to pre-grouping American air power in the western Pacific for greater operating efficiency.

Four Groups Active

Four different air commands are now hammering at Japan. The attacks are coordinated but each command issues its own report, making it difficult to gain a clear picture of simultaneous action.

Yesterday's action included the carrier sweep over Tokyo, successful B-29 raids on four cities and a refinery producing aviation gasoline. A fighter sweep from two Jims over Kobe destroyed or damaged 19 planes and 25 vessels. There was no report from MacArthur's air forces for the day.

Concedes Supremacy

Tokyo conceded American air forces held supremacy over the homeland, but commented "mastery of the air is not an absolute factor" in deciding the result of an invasion.

A current rumor in the Philippines has it that a lone Japanese plane rescued Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, supreme Japanese commander in the islands who once boasted he would make MacArthur surrender.

CHAMBER EYES PLANS TO GET TOURISTS HERE

A master program for tourist promotion for the Klamath area was presented to chamber of commerce directors Wednesday by the community advertising committee. Both long-range and immediate proposals were made by the committee, whose report was given by John Houston, director-in-charge.

Included in the plan is early designation of highway routes through the city in order that those wishing to invest in tourist facilities, such as motor courts, will know where the travel will be. The committee suggested development of a good loop route around Upper Klamath lake as a highway feature of importance, conservation of tourist attractions such as primitive areas, etc., coordination of activities with other communities and the state, and many other features. The program will be announced in detail when adopted.

E. E. Hambrick, city recreational director, said that Klamath Falls needs to develop more recreation facilities within its own limits to attract tourists and to serve the local public. He mentioned swimming, pool, parks, skating rink, and other features, and gave a survey of what is being done along these lines by other similar west coast communities.

The chamber directors supported the Bulwinkle bill, which would concentrate government control over railroads in the interstate commerce commission.

Mrs. Waters, a familiar figure at congressional committee hearings, said she represented the National Blue Star Mothers. She denounced the charter as an "international fraud."

Other opposition witnesses included Mrs. Cecil Broy, of Arlington, Va., representing Americans United, Inc., who said the charter will lead to "empire rule," and the Rev. Paul Cotton, Cleveland, representing the World Peace forum, who declared "there is something sinister in the speed" of senate action on the pact.

European Business Said "Shell-Shocked"

NEW YORK, July 11 (AP) — Eugene Tilman, president of Standard Oil Co. (N. J.), said today that Americans dealing with European businessmen must consider them "a bunch of shell-shocked people for which recovery will be a long, drawn-out process."

He said that although physical bomb and war damage to plants in Europe were huge, this was greatly outweighed by the "terrible moral damage to nationals there, many of whom appear on the verge of nervous breakdowns."

CRATER LAKE TRAFFIC GROWS 50 CARS DAILY

Traffic to Crater lake national park is steadily increasing at the rate of 40 to 50 cars daily, Thomas C. Parker, assistant park superintendent, said today. Sunday and holiday traffic is much heavier, with about 1200 people in the park last Sunday.

The road from the Crater lake rim to Diamond lake will be open to traffic tomorrow, Park Superintendent E. P. Leavitt announced. Last snow drifts have been removed and he predicted that the entire rim road circling the lake would be open by July 19.

Park authorities have established fire lookout stations at strategic points and have a fair-sized crew of rangers trained for prevention and suppression of fires.

Bill Rapp, recently discharged from military service, is back at the lookout post he manned at Mount Scott before enlistment. Linda Newhall, sophomore at Oregon State college, acts as observer at Watchman peak lookout.

Timber is getting hot and dry now and creating a dangerous fire hazard. Visitors are urged to take extreme care when smoking in the area. Matches should be broken and cigarettes crushed before being discarded. Fire menace is intensified this season by the dry weather and shortage of experienced fire fighters, Parker emphasized.

Weather has been exceptionally warm for the park area the last few days but indications are that the heat wave is breaking and the air is becoming cooler due to recent thunder showers. No sleeping or eating accommodations are available within the park area this season. Visitors are requested to make such arrangements elsewhere.

FEW NEW HOUSES SEEN FOR CIVILIANS

PORTLAND, Ore., July 11 (AP)—The president of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association expects Americans to get few new houses this year.

George Gerlinger predicted that tremendous military demands will make it impossible for civilians to obtain the lumber that previously had been expected.

In a statement released here, Gerlinger declared that direct war requirements will take 80 per cent of Pacific coast lumber production in the next three months.

As an example, he described one deployment center in France which "required lumber sufficient to build a city of 10 square miles. Lumber is needed now to build six more cities, as large as medium-sized American cities, on captured Pacific islands."

Appealing for more manpower and heavy truck tires, Gerlinger declared the industry was finding it difficult to turn out the demanded timber. The northwest alone needs 10,000 more workers, he said.

Five cities in Costa Rica have a population larger than 10,000.

Back-To-Work Moves Develop

By The Associated Press

The national strike picture brightened today with the settlement of the Detroit milk walk-out, the Chicago Dodge stoppage and a temporary end to the eastern fuel gas dispute.

These back-to-work developments reduced the total idle by more than 3000 to an aggregate of about 47,000.

Striking CIO United Dairy Workers voted to return to their jobs immediately after cutting off milk supplies to some 500,000 customers for more than two days. The strike, centered at two creameries, was over whether the company should employ union cashiers.

ternative if we are to have permanent peace.

The Japanese have been told categorically that the allies "have no desire or intention to destroy or enslave" them. At the same time it has been made equally clear that unless Japan surrenders she will suffer the same destruction as Germany. Actually the punishment probably will be worse, because Nippon is more vulnerable to bombing.

That is the final verdict which the mikado's government must accept.
