Keno Highway Community Given Name Of "Pioneer"

"Pioneer" is the name unofficially given today to the community lying along the Ashland highway between Keno and Weyerhaeuser.

Mrs. Vera Clemmens is the correspondent of The Herald and News for that area, and it was at her suggestion the name was applied to it. Many of the pioneer residents of this area made their home there in early days, on such places as the R. A. Emmitt property, the O. A. Stearns' farm, and the Hiram Murdoch place.

In recent years, the community has developed rapidly, with several new homes rising there.

PIONEER COMMUNITY—Weyerhaeuser employees in this community enjoying their vacations are Mrs. Art Wilson, who with her children, Toby and Darleen, have gone to Clayton, Wash., to visit Mr. Wilson's mother, Mrs. Dessie Mesner has gone to Oakland, Calif., and E. Hurlbut is spending his at home putting up his hay.

Haying has begun with most of the farmers along Keno highway, with the Ralph Johnston, John Lily, Kerns brothers and W. L. Frain ranches in full swing.

Word has been received by the Zarosinski family that their son, John, who has been stationed in England, for some time will be home soon. John is serving in the navy.

Mrs. Ruby Severson, former resident of this community who now resides at Chiloquin, visited at the Zarosinski home on Sunday. She was accompanied by her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Cherry, who were recently married.

Mrs. W. L. Poole, Klamath Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Harvey called at the T. G. Clemmens' home Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. N. Anderson has a new grandson of this week, born to Mr. and Mrs. Merle Anderson of Keno. The boy has been named Kenneth John.

Mr. and Mrs. Halleck Donelson and son arrived Monday evening from McMinnville, Ore., to spend Donelson's vacation at the W. L. Frain and T. G. Clemmens' ranches. Donelson is the grandson of the Frains. His son is the only great grandson of theirs, so their visit to this community was a welcome one. Donelson is the son of Mrs. Clemmens. They returned to McMinnville on Friday.

H. H. Van Valkenburg, Ashland, a former pioneer of this community, was a visitor at the Colwell brothers' ranch on Friday. Mr. Van, as he is better known, sold his holdings here last spring to the Colwell brothers of Merrill. This is one of the largest and oldest ranches in this community.

A get-together dinner was held last Sunday at the M. H. Parsons' home. The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. Ben Johnson and children, the George Smalley family, Malin; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dahlke and family, Medford; Mr. and Mrs.

Lyle Earnest, Klamath Falls; Oscar S. Parsons Jr., Tionesta.

Joe Pritchard, former resident, has purchased an orchard in the Bellevue district, Ashland. He was a recent visitor here.

Milo Lepley of the armed forces, is spending his furlough with his brother, Miles Lepley. He is stationed at Albuquerque, N. M.

Carl Bringle is stationed at San Diego, Calif., waiting further orders from the navy. His wife and baby are with him. Mrs. Bringle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Parsons.

Mr. and Mrs. Davison, of this community, visited the Pritchards Friday of last week.

Alfred Burton is cutting and baling hay for several farmers in this area.

W. L. Frain returned Sunday evening from Topsy Grade area where he looked after his cattle on their summer range.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hurlbut and family visited with relatives at Ft. Jones, Calif., Friday, returning here Saturday evening.

Callers at the W. L. Frain ranch on Sunday were Mrs. L. Vaughn and daughter Kathleen, Mae Phinney and Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Metcalf.

Residents of our community extend their deepest sympathy to the Robert Colwell family who were saddened by the death of their twin boys, born July 3.
