

OFFICIAL START GIVEN CRESCENT MARINES' CAMP

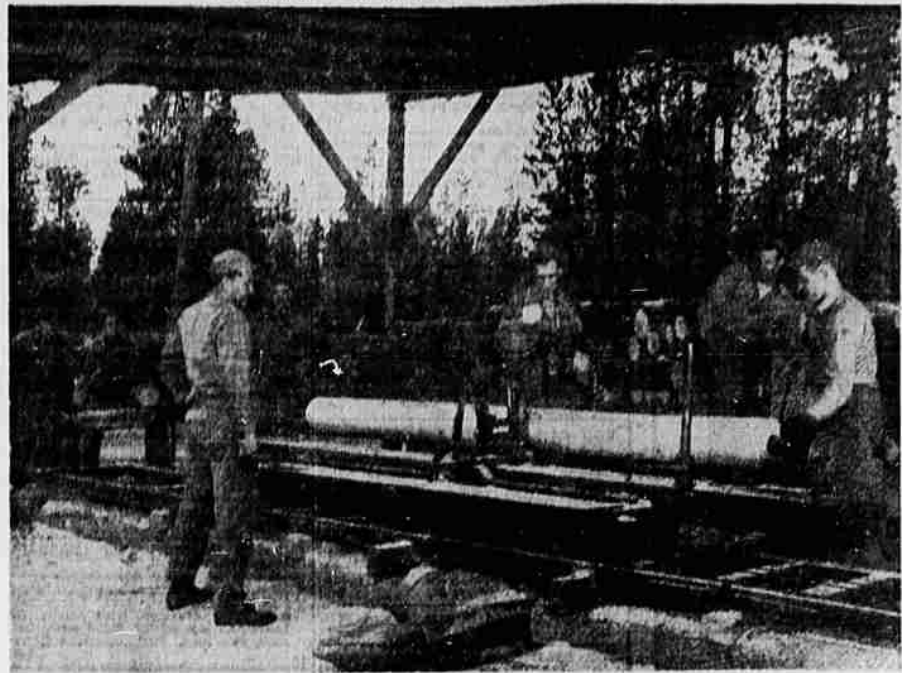

The recreational camp for the personnel at the Marine Barracks was officially opened last Saturday night at the camp which is near Crescent Lake.

Eight of the log cabins are completed so far and the mess hall is nearing completion. The unit will consist of 45 buildings when finished. Col. George O. Van Orden has been in command at the Barracks during construction of the camp and much of the organization and building was made possible through the efforts of Mrs. Van Orden.

Five units of forest land was given to the group by the Deschutes Forest service and it is from this area that the logs are being taken.

The opening on Saturday night was a combination official opening and farewell party for Col. Van Orden. On hand to honor the colonel were marines and their guests and part of the post dance band.

In it up to their necks. These cars that you carp at are what they are because we have to keep them going so incessantly that there is no time for cleaning or overhaul and the tracks of whose roughness you complain are made so by the constant pounding of heavy war freight whose end purpose is to smash our enemies—and if we hadn't been here to carry it our enemies might have smashed us.

"Besides, if you as a civilian would stay at home, we could provide comfortable accommodation for one more soldier or sailor."

Seattle Woman Sues Masquerader

SEATTLE, July 18 (AP)—A young Seattle "wife," Dolores Carroll, started annulment proceedings yesterday against Danny D. Carroll, 25-year-old woman foundry worker accused of masquerading as a man and inducing her to go through a marriage ceremony.

The complaint said that "husband's" real name is Marcella Majerus and that the ceremony took place in Tacoma last February 16.

Parker Heads Forestry Project

PORTLAND, July 18 (AP)—The Clackamas county farm forestry demonstration project, established by the U. S. soil conservation service five years ago, will be headed by Alvin L. Parker.

CAPTAIN GOERING HOME FOR LEAVE

Home on a 30-day leave after returning from European duty is Capt. George Goering, former Klamath Falls dentist. He was met in Portland last Saturday by Mrs. Goering and is now at home at 1044 Huron with his wife and two children, George and Adelle.

Capt. Goering has been in France, Luxembourg, Belgium, and Germany as a dentist in the 3rd corps since last August. He wears the ETO ribbon with four battle stars and the Bronze Star medal.

The captain was at one time in action around Bastogne when it was surrounded and it was the troops of the 3rd corps which relieved the men there. His unit received a commendation from General Patton at that time.

At the end of his leave, Capt. Goering will rejoin his group for reassignment.

Hearing Waived in Burglary Case

Marvin H. Adams, 18, charged with burglary not in a dwelling, waived preliminary hearing yesterday in justice court. Bail was set at $1000 cash and he was committed to the county jail in lieu of bail.

Adams allegedly stole property belonging to the Klamath county agricultural experiment station on May 25, including a microscope valued at $150.

PORTLAND PILOT KILLED

COURTHOUSE GROUP IN X-RAY SIGN-UP

The employees at the county courthouse have been the latest group to sign up 100 percent for the free chest X-rays to be made by the mobile unit which will roll into Klamath Falls on August 6.

The unit, which is sponsored by the Klamath County Public Health association and financed by the Christmas Tuberculosis seal sale, will be in Klamath Falls on August 6, 7, and the morning of August 8.

There will be time for 300 X-rays a day and applications coming in are being numbered. If there is not enough time to take all the people signed up, the names will be placed on file for next year when the unit comes through again.

The community of Malin has already reached their quota and complete arrangements have been made there. The unit will be at Kalina park in back of the store in Malin.

The chest X-ray unit will come into Klamath county on July 27 at Bly.

Notice to the Public

BEGINNING on or before July 1, Mr. Earl Miller will be the operator of Mallory's Meat Market. He is a returned veteran of the early Aleutian Islands campaign and of Germany.

GIVE him a break and help him in all the ways you can. He will return by giving you the best meat at less cost.

THIS is in keeping with my promise to the returned veterans when they left.

MR. MILLER, as many will remember, helped operate this market when it first opened and was here about a year when called into service. He served about five years.

FORT LEWIS SAVES MILLIONS ON SCRAP

FORT LEWIS, July 18 (AP)—Savings of approximately thirty million dollars have been effected in the last six months alone by the Fort Lewis army service forces depot, it was announced today.

Segregating, classifying and processing all materials returned from overseas theaters for salvage, the depot has turned back into supply channels a total of 18,475,157 items, representing more than 350,000 tons.

The materials processed include everything pertaining to the army, and range from aspirin tablets to locomotives. It includes material left behind in overseas theaters as the troops move up, as well as junk collected from the battlefields. Each item is thoroughly inspected before packaging and shipment to designated depots over the country.

There are no precedents for this type of work, as it is an entirely new operation for the army, said Col. E. A. Mueller, commanding officer of the depot. One of a very few similar depots in the entire country, the Fort Lewis unit was set up in October of last year. It maintains a sub-depot at Seattle to handle scrap iron and metals.

At the present time, 460,000 square feet of warehousing space in 43 large processing buildings is occupied in this type of work.

USO Camera Club Holds Meetings

The first two meetings of the USO camera club have been held at the USO clubrooms on Friday and Tuesday nights under the direction of Dr. E. D. Lamb.

Dr. Lamb chose as his subjects for the first meetings the topics "Photographic Material" and "Composition." His schedule of coming lectures will include "Enlarging and Printing," "Landscapes," "Clouds and Portraits," "Retouching Prints," "Kodachrome Slides," and "Enlarging."

This club is open to civilians as well as military personnel of this area.

Coggeshall Goes To Washington

Capt. Coggeshall will attend conferences and meetings in regard to the post and also recent developments in tropical diseases. He will be gone about 10 days.

Five trees go to war for every man in uniform—one makes possible the man in uniform's living quarters, mess halls and chapels in training camps. Another provides the wooden crates necessary in shipping him food, clothing, tanks and guns. Wood from the remaining three trees goes into the making of virtually every piece of equipment necessary in waging modern warfare—wood cellulose in high explosives, wood in bombers and battleships, wood for pontoon bridges. These trees are helping conserve our freedom. Oregon produces one-sixth of the nation's timber supply to help outfit the man in the service. Protect these trees. Keep Oregon Green.

SEAGOING COP

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—The latest thing in law enforcement is a seagoing policeman at Coney Island. His uniform—a bathing suit.

Philip Franchini, 48, sitting in his motorboat, noticed a swimmer heading purposefully his way, waving a piece of damp paper.

The swimmer—Special Policeman Edward A. Sanserverino; the paper—a summons for motorboating too close to the swimming line.

AFL Asks Court Order For Libby Protection

PORTLAND, July 18 (AP)—An AFL official has asked circuit court to prevent former AFL Cannery union local officers from removing documents and funds from union offices.

AFL Administrator R. D. Smith charges Kenneth R. Smith, whose discharge from the Libby, McNeill and Libby company plant here resulted in a jurisdiction dispute, with persuading other union members to resign.

Until 1896 Miami, Fla., was an Indian trading post, that boasted two dwelling places, a storehouse and a small fort.

Pendleton's Laundries Close

PENDLETON, Ore., July 18 (AP)—Lacking OPA and WLB price ceiling and wage ceiling relief, Pendleton's laundries closed down entirely Monday, and shortly afterwards the city's hotels and tourist courts followed suit.

Hotel men, with a total of 300 rooms represented, said they no longer could operate without laundry service. One of Pendleton's laundries, the Troy, handled the hotel business the last two weeks, but lost so much money in this transaction, according to its manager, J. T. Stenston, that it refused to take any more hotel work.
