

MODOC COUNCIL SUPPORTS AIR SERVICE HERE

Strong support for the effort to get through airline service for Klamath Falls was voiced in a resolution authorized by the Modoc defense council in meeting Wednesday night at Alturas.

It was pointed out that air mail, air passenger and air express service has been inadequate in the big northern California-southern Oregon territory of which Klamath Falls is the largest city, and that a solution to the problem can result only from a through service to this city.

Spokesmen at the meeting suggested the probability of local air service between Klamath and Alturas, Susanville, Lakeview and Burns, once a stop is authorized for Klamath as a main line point.

Phil Hitchcock, director in charge of aviation for the Klamath county chamber of commerce, discussed the matter with the Alturas group.

Several Klamath men attended the session, and were accompanied by Congressman Lowell Stockman, now visiting here. Congressman Stockman, in a brief talk, paid tribute to Congressman Clair Eagle of the California second district.

"He's one of the better men in congress," said Stockman.

Harry Land of the Simonds Saw company was host at the Alturas session. Attending from Klamath were Land, Henry Semon, R. R. Macartney, Hugh Campbell, Ernest Kolbe, Malcolm Epley, Guy Stoddard, Phil Hitchcock, Jack Almetter, George Mitschelt, K. A. McNabb, and A. R. Dickson.

MALIN NATIVE DIES IN FRISCO HOSPITAL

MALIN—Elsie Victorine Durkee, 25, native of Malin, died July 24 in a San Francisco hospital following a lingering illness, according to a telegram message from her husband, Cox'n L. C. James Russell Durkee, U. S. navy, now stationed at Treasure Island.

Mrs. Durkee was the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Victorine of Malin. She had been a resident of San Francisco for two years. Born August 24, 1919, she spent her entire life here before moving to the bay area. She was married February 6, 1941, and was the mother of a son, 19 months old.

While living in Klamath county, Mrs. Durkee was employed in the First National bank and in the credit department of Montgomery Ward. She was a Malin high school graduate. In addition to her parents, her husband and son, Mrs. Durkee leaves one sister, Mrs. Margaret King, Malin; two brothers, Jimmie, U. S. army in the Marshall Islands, and Joe at Camp Roberts, Calif., and her three grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Brothaneck and Mrs. Elizabeth Victorine, all of Malin. The body, accompanied by her husband, is being returned to Klamath Falls, and funeral announcement will be made later.

Loses Hands In Big Creek Dairy Blast

ASTORIA, July 26 (AP)—Dynamite blasting caps were believed by police today to have caused an explosion at the Big Creek Dairy, Knappa, which required a Portland boy to have both hands amputated.

The boy, Cecil Gulbranson, was cleaning a garage with Haven Mackie, Portland, when the blast occurred last weekend. Both boys are about 14 years old. Mackie suffered serious facial injuries which may impair vision in one eye.

Lakeside Camps Beckon To Klamath Boys and Girls

Many Klamath boys and girls have been packing their suitcases to leave for summer camps while others are already enjoying recreational activities at the various lakes.

Scheduled to start August 12, the summer recreation camp located at Lake of the Woods will be held for those children who have not had the opportunity this year to attend other summer camps. Due to the delay in the registration of many of the boys who have gone to summer camps in the past, registration has been light, and E. E. Hambrick stated that at least 30 more people must register this week if the camp is to open. At least 80 boys are needed before the camp can be conducted on a successful basis.

There will be a qualified life-guard, two qualified women who will act as counselors, and two women in charge of the kitchen. Hambrick will accompany the group. Girls and boys should bring one red point and one blue point, four heavy quilts or blankets, and personal clothing. A flashlight is desirable, but not necessary. Buses will leave here Sunday, August 12, at 8 a. m., and will return August 19. It will be necessary for each camper to carry his own lunch for the first day. Fee for the week's camping trip is $10.

The 4-H club at Lake o' the Woods will open its doors to girls of the 4-H club, Sunday, July 29. Activities offered include handicraft, swimming instruction, discussion periods and leather craft. This camp will be open to 4-H boys, August 5. There will be a qualified life-guard on duty at the waterfront. Those wishing to register should do so with Mrs. Winnifred Gilen at the health service building.

Camp Fire Girls are getting ready to leave for their camp at Lake o' the Woods which opens July 29. Camp Fire Girls may attend both sessions, but Blue Birds will be registered for the second week only. There will be two weekly sessions beginning July 29 and ending August 12.

Boy Scouts are enjoying special fishing trips to other lakes and streams at their camp now being conducted at Crescent lake. The camp, under the direction of Robert H. Lamoth, Klamath scout executive, features swimming, life saving, archery, boating and canoeing. This camp, running from July 15 to August 19, admits around 100 Boy Scouts a week.

Camp Esther Applegate, located on the southwest end of Lake o' the Woods, is operated for Girl Scouts between the ages of 10 and 17. Swimming, riding, handicraft, first-aid instruction, dramatics, archery, singing and folk dancing are some of the activities. Hikes through the woods are opportunities for nature study, outdoor cooking and exploring. There are unit campfires almost every night.

Cascade

The weather at Cascade Summit has been cooler recently, but so far the much-needed rain has not fallen and the fire hazard is great.

Among guests at the resort here are Lt. and Mrs. Roy Watson, of Battle Ground, Wash. Lt. Watson was wounded while with the armed forces in the South Pacific. He is on a 30-day leave from the hospital.
