Whytal's

As per usual, I found Wanda Speer knee-deep in a pile of newly-arrived boxes and crates when I was in Whytal's yesterday. This time she was unpacking some dresses . . . Bloomfield creations . . . to be exact. Mightily attractive dresses they are, too. I oohed and ah-ed at each one she took out. Two wool jerseys . . . one was a cocoa brown with just-below-the-elbow sleeves . . . a bow neckline . . . and jewel-like buttons. The other is made of a heavily blue wool jersey . . . With a mandarin-type neckline and clever gold-centered buttons all the way down its front. A black one-piece dress . . . which gives the effect of a two-piece . . . has an aqua gilet. The "jacket" is trimmed with black embroidery. There are several of those half-size dresses which are so much in demand . . . In crepe, these are adorned with gold nailheads and come in bright shades. Besides the Bloomfield dresses, Wanda unpacked a bewitching black velvet frock . . . with a scalloped, sweetheart neckline. Close fitting, it has a cluster of detachable flowers at the waist. And some adorable dancing frocks . . . peplumed tops of striped black and white taffeta combined with slim black crepe skirts. Wanda also showed me some Jean Lang dresses . . . beloved by so many gals. These are just beginning to arrive. A dual piece gabardine has diamond shaped insets of rust at the waist . . . and a wicked looking scarlet lapel ornament. All Jean Lang dresses have novel buttons . . . It's almost a distinguishing characteristic of the line, I think. Whytal's is on the corner of Main at Ninth . . . on the first floor of the Medical-Dental building.

Currin's

Currin's supply of one of Tussy's most popular fragrances, "Be Mine" was replenished this week. Which is eagerly-awaited news for a lot of gals I know. "Be Mine" is a lovely scent. It has spicy undertones . . . And zip! All of the items are strikingly packaged, too. A small size bottle of perfume is $2.00. And cologne sells for $1.50. Soap is $1.00 per box . . . And the dusting powder is $2.00. All prices plus tax, naturally. Oh . . . Lest I forget . . . Connie heart told me that Currin's is expecting a new line of perfume and cologne — "Black Magic" — to arrive any day now. "Black Magic," as suggested by its name, is a sultry scent. Strictly vamp stuff! (Connie let me sniff a sample she received not long ago.) At Currin's . . . "The Friendly Drug Store" . . . On the corner of Main at Ninth, you know.

Town Shop

The air in The Town Shop is almost charged with excitement these days! The gals are getting so anxious to move across the street to the new store that they can hardly contain themselves! In spite of all this excitement, however . . . they delegated me to relay a message to school girls for them. Every fall there is a big rush for gym clothes as soon as physical education classes resume activities. Right now The Town Shop has a complete stock of the shorts, swim suits, etcetera, required. The shorts come in colors sure to please a gym teacher . . . navy blue, tan, white. And they come in the colors you'll want for extra-curricular wearing, too. There are lots of T-shirts . . . in a countless variety of stripes and colors. Also . . . Don't forget The Town Shop's grand selection of swim suits. The Town Shop . . . is located at 300 Main Street.

Long's

PERFECT accent, it seems to me, for that fall suit is a short-sleeved, round-necked blouse from the group which Long's has just received. Yesterday Madge Long was having a hard time trying to choose one of them for herself. And I couldn't settle the debate. I didn't know what to tell her. Because they're all so pretty! One style has a bow neckline and lots of fagoting in front. It comes in white, chartreuse, and aqua. Madge says that she knows for a fact that this blouse will wash beautifully. The rest of the blouses in this shipment come in white only. There is a plain jeweled neckline blouse . . . which is awfully sweet. A blouse in a jersey-type fabric with make-believe pockets and unusual pin tucking on its yoke. Another has a dainty lace ascot. Still another, of rayon taffeta, has lace inset at the neckline in a sort of floral pattern. It's a darling, too. The store truly has a wonderful assortment of blouses. You'll agree with me when you see them. Long's is at 719 Main Street.

Shaw Stationery

WHILE I was book-browsing yesterday, my attention was directed to a group of "young-uns" fascinated by the game display. After the children reluctantly left, I noticed that the table held several games which will interest mothers as well as their "bewildering offspring." These games are the educational "Tutor Toys" . . . of which there are two types. The "Speller Tutor" and the "Table Tutor" . . . which looks very intriguing, I think. The "Speller Tutor" is in the form of a spiral-bound book. Each page contains a whimsical picture of an animal. And is split sideways into four sections, each with a separate jingle. By flipping over one section or another, it's possible to create an infinite number of crazy looking "critters" . . . If you see what I mean. This game also increases accurate observation. Any of these games will corral your children and occupy them for hours on end. Honest! Added note for others than children . . . Shaw's has ouija boards, too. Shaw Stationery is at 729 Main Street.

The Cameo Shop

THE Cameo Shop made its debut in Klamath Falls this week . . . And after looking it over, I can report that it's a welcome addition to the shopping district! Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hooks are the owners. Of course, they aren't newcomers to town. The Cameo Shop will specialize in picture frame manufacturing. Jack is certainly an expert at that. You can have a frame of metal . . . of beautiful wood . . . of leather . . . plastic . . . in fact, almost any material you want! Then, too . . . there is a wonderful selection of other leather goods . . . billfolds, key rings, compacts and the like. Also the shop will carry stationery and greeting cards. As I said before, The Cameo Shop is at 737 Main Street.

DAMAGE SLIGHT OVER HOLIDAYS, POLICE SAY

There was little evidence of deliberate vandalism here over the two-day holiday as city police kept a close check on the residential and business districts.

Acting Chief of Police Orville Hamilton expressed his appreciation for the splendid cooperation of service clubs and beer dispensers. He also commended the citizens of Klamath Falls for their conduct over the holidays.

As a whole, Klamath Falls celebrates conduct themselves in a peaceful and orderly manner, police said. There were a few cases of over-indulgence in liquor, but no serious violations of the law were reported.

Earl Allred, 900 Owens, was struck by an automobile driven by John Janssen, 3137 Boardman, at the intersection of Main and 6th Tuesday night.

Allred received a bump on his head and a bruised left leg. He was taken to the Klamath Valley hospital and released after treatment. No arrest was made by police.

Burke C. Parrish, 1343 S. 6th, paid a fine of $100 for driving while drunk and an additional $5 fine for failure to have an operator's license.

Robert Holden, 1523 Wilford, posted $35 bail for failure to post at the scene of an accident and George E. Lang, 2015 Oregon, was arrested and cited to appear in police court today charged with running a stop sign at 11th and Klamath.

Three minor traffic arrests were made and seven drunks appeared in police court yesterday. Three more drunks appeared today and 16 parking tickets were paid.

MARINE'S WIFE ASKS HOUSING HELP

The local housing situation is felt even in far-away Birmingham, Ala. A distraught wife writes from Alabama to the Klamath county chamber of commerce asking for help in finding a place for her and her two children while her husband, a platoon sergeant, is stationed at the Marine Barracks. Her husband has served two years overseas and will be stationed here for at least five months. As he was wounded twice and now has chronic malaria, she feels the importance of being near him in this period of convalescence and readjustment. They have two-year-old twins, which the husband had not seen from the time they were six weeks old until he arrived home recently. She writes, "He is home now but has to report back to Klamath Falls on August 23. At the present he is nervous and upset over the coming separation and so I am desperately anxious to make arrangements so that we can come with him. Do you have a place—can you MAKE a place for us in Klamath Falls?"

Driver Killed In Truck Plunge

SALEM, Aug. 17 (AP)—An Arrow towing service truck plunged over an embankment with the logging truck it was pulling last night, killing the driver, Raymond H. Stenberg, 34, Portland.

Stenberg was president of the towing company. The accident occurred one mile south of the 12th street junction of the Pacific highway. A passenger, 16-year-old Harold Nunn, Portland, was taken to Salem Deaconess hospital. The physician said he seemed to be suffering from shock.

excuse for NOT going to Cal-Ore! But now you can go with a clear conscience. Do remember, though, that Cal-Ore is closed on Monday nights.

Construction Planned For Baptist Church

The First Baptist church is planning the construction of a new church building on Esplanade. As there is a considerable amount in the church building fund, the Rev. Cecil Brown states that construction will get under way as soon as building is permitted. The church, which will be on lots next to The Herald and News, will be strictly modern, according to the Rev. Mr. Brown. Plans are being drawn up and architecture being considered so that actual construction may get under way as soon as possible.

MILL DEDICATION TO BE CELEBRATED

ALTURAS—Sponsored by the local chamber of commerce and other civic organizations, Modoc county will stage a large celebration when the Grose Lake Box company sawmill will be dedicated on Saturday, August 18.

The celebration will not be confined to the new mill but to the county lumber industry. A parade through town to the mill will open festivities. Talks will be made by men prominent in business circles in Modoc and surrounding counties. Mrs. Paul McKenney, wife of Dr. Paul McKenney, mayor of Alturas, will dedicate the mill by breaking a bottle of champagne.

A barbecue of a whole steer will be served to those present. In the evening a dance will be held in Memorial hall, music will be furnished by the Marine band from Klamath Falls.

OPA Would Use Green Ration Stamps

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—The OPA plans to use green stamps in ration book No. 4 when the present supply of red stamps is exhausted. The new stamps, to last until November 1, will be green, instead of red, unless the present plan is changed. At the present rate of rationing of meats, fats and oils, and cheese, there are enough green stamps to last about nine months.

SECOND CROP INSPECTION BEGINS AUG. 20

Some 102 growers made application for certification of a total of 4028.3 acres of seed crops to be certified this year. Of this total, 2478.2 acres are potatoes, 1217 grasses, 153 alfalfa, 1041 clover, and 76 acres of cereal crops. This is the greatest acreage ever entered for certification of seed crops in Klamath county.

Diseases Noted

E. R. Jackman, extension specialist in farm crops, Oregon State college, completed the first field inspection August 4, and 675.9 acres were rejected from certification as they contained too much disease to come within the standards set for certification. Diseases noted, in order of prevalence, were leaf roll, mild mosaic, rugose and black leg. Rhizoctonia was rather prevalent in most all fields. There was only one field where rugose or severe mosaic caused the field to be thrown out of certification. Leaf roll apparently is on an increase, as this was the disease causing the greatest number of rejections. Leaf roll, rugose and mild mosaic are virus diseases and transmitted from diseased plants to healthy plants by sucking insects such as aphids and leaf hoppers. Early and consistent roguing of the fields is essential to hold any of these insect-spread diseases in check.

Where fields are not rogued and the insect population is high in a field, 30 to 50 per cent current season spread of these diseases is not uncommon. Experimental evidence shows that roguing of potatoes 8 to 10 times during their growth season will just barely hold the disease down to the percentage carried in the seed stock, and very often the disease will increase, even with heavy roguing, when sucking insects are present in a field. When roguing, growers should remove the diseased vines from the fields, as well as the old seed pieces and the new potatoes that have formed on the diseased vines.

Next Inspection

Jackman will return for the second field inspection starting August 20, and complete the inspection work about September 1. Fields should be rogued before the inspector makes his disease count.

WHEAT

CHICAGO, Aug. 17 (AP)—Trade uncertainty over future price levels, following the war's end, prompted renewed speculation in grain futures today. Losses in rye reached 4 1/2 cents a bushel times and wheat gains were off almost 2 cents in late trading. Corn was down more than a cent and beans fell fairly steady in early dealings but when Longs began liquidating their holdings, little demand was uncovered. Authorities said traders were unwilling to enter into heavy commitments at this time, fearing that wartime prices of commodities might not hold. Hedge selling also caused wheat losses. The commodity credit corporation still is buying wheat and export needs are expected to be heavy, and these factors prevented heavier losses in wheat. Wheat closed 1/4 to 1/2c lower than the previous finish, September $1.03 1/2, corn was down 1/4 to 1/2c, December $1.12 1/2, oats were off 1/4 to 1/2c, September $0.75 1/2, rye was 1/4 to 1/2c lower, September $1.30 1/2, and barley was down 1/4 to 1/2c, September $1.10 1/2.
