

OPA DOWNS PRICES TO 1942 LEVEL

public will not have to pay more than three years ago. But the National Association of Manufacturers says the OPA policy of holding prices tight "threatens to hold up reconversion."

In a statement in New York last night, NAM said in effect that conditions have changed since 1942, and that prices of that year would not yield "incentive profits" now.

In like vein, Louis C. Upton, president of the American Washer and Ironer Manufacturers' association, said in Chicago that OPA's order for 1942 ceilings on household washing machines would not permit "break-even prices."

It was Price Administrator Chester Bowles who described OPA's price policy as designed to aid small business. To carry it out, he outlined two special programs.

Programs

One provides assistance for new small businesses. To get them rolling quickly, operators will be permitted to set their own price ceilings in line with those on comparable products made by another firm. This means the new concerns will not have to go through the red tape of applying for specific ceilings.

The other program, primarily for small firms but not restricted to them, does this: It allows upward price adjustments for manufacturers who are losing money when production is at normal volume. They will get sufficient relief to guarantee that they break even financially. In general, these increases will have to be absorbed by distributors.

Lend-Lease End Brings Protest From British

hoped the sudden cessation of this great mutual effort would not have been effected without consultation and prior discussions.

"Overseas Outgoings" The prime minister said Britain's "overseas outgoings" on the eve of Japanese defeat were equivalent to an annual expenditure of about eight billion dollars, including essential food and other non-munitions supplies "which we must now pay for."

Winston Churchill, opposition leader, exclaimed in response to Attlee:

"I cannot believe that this is the last word of the United States. I cannot believe that so great a nation, whose lend-lease policy was characterized by me as the most unselfish act in the history of the world, would proceed in such a rough and harsh manner as to hamper a faithful ally who held the fort while their own American armaments were prepared."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 (AP)—Foreign Economic Administrator Leo T. Crowley said today responsible British officials "must have recognized that lend-lease would have to be discontinued after the Japanese war and could not be used as a part of her post-war rehabilitation and reconversion program."

Commenting on Prime Minister Attlee's statement before the house of commons today that a sudden end to lend-lease had put Britain "in a very serious financial position," Crowley said in an interview:

"I had no discretion under the law and under the promises made to the congress of the United States. The late President Roosevelt, Mr. Truman, as vice president and president, and I had repeatedly stated that lend-lease could not be used for post-war rehabilitation."

In the first nine months of 1944, 38 per cent of the total shipments of tooth brushes from factories went to military, post exchanges, ships' stores, Red Cross, and for export.

AUSSIES PROTEST BRITISH DISREGARD

Thomas Blamey would attend the surrender ceremony attached to the United Kingdom service representative, or represent Australia directly.

British Denial

Dominions Secretary Addison denied that Britain had opposed Australia's wishes.

Evatt also protested Britain's agreement to the Potsdam declaration without, he said, consulting Australia. "We first heard of the matter from a world-wide public broadcast. Care was taken to consult China and apparently the soviet also."

Air Force Vet Has Bad Memory

PORTLAND, Aug. 24 (AP)—PFC George Stanich, 25, a veteran of several years in the army air forces, rode as passenger in a two-seater plane yesterday with a nagging feeling that maybe he forgot something.

The plane began a slow roll over Troutdale, and out went Stanich. As he plummeted downward, he remembered what he'd forgotten: his safety belt. He parachuted to safety.

Committee Would Reseed By Plane

FOREST GROVE, Aug. 24 (AP)—A Tillamook-Washington county committee wants the state to provide $75,000 for airplane reseeding of the Tillamook burn.

The group, led by Sen. Paul Patterson, Hillsboro, was to submit the plan to Governor Snell and State Forester N. S. Rogers today. The committee said grass-planting would be the quickest way to reduce erosion.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 (AP)—The navy today canceled all further admissions to the naval reserve midshipmen's program (V-7), effective immediately. Some 5000 midshipmen now in training as prospective deck and engineering officers will complete their courses.

M'Arthur Will Land Tuesday

Kyushu had been marked for occupation by allied troops by September 1.

The message to MacArthur on the purported Russian move said the announcement had come from Moscow—by what route it did not say.

"Should this report prove true," it continued, "it would be regretted by the Japanese government, which is doing its best in order to fulfill all your requirements by placing the army and navy forces and civilians under strict control."

Imperial Report

The report from Imperial headquarters was worded as if the Russians were acting with-cut MacArthur's knowledge, adding:

"It is earnestly hoped that the armed forces of the allied powers will enter Japan according to the plan, as has been notified by the headquarters of the supreme commander of the allied powers."

Another message said Wednesday's big blow had blotted out radio communications with China, and that Atsugi airfield—20 miles southwest of Tokyo where the supreme commander is scheduled to land Tuesday—was muddy.
