gendarmierie, as in Japan, were permitted to remain to help preserve order.

Initial Landings
Maj. Gen. Archibald V. Arnold's veteran seventh infantry division made the initial landings and moved swiftly into Jinsen preparatory to advancing the 23 miles inland to Seoul (Keijo), the Korean capital.

The landings in force were preceded by an army liaison party which flew here three days ago to make preliminary arrangements.

Ships of the big convoy were met early this morning off the Korean coast by a Japanese vessel carrying pilots to guide the American through the treacherous shallow waters.

The troops went ashore under "invasion" tactics, fully armed and covered by guns from the convoy.

the union in bringing about a meeting.

Company officials, on the other hand have said they have been waiting for the meeting, agreed upon between AFL and CIO unionists at the picket line last Wednesday morning, and had had nothing to do with the failure of this conference to develop.

Hartung said that if union officials could speak to the owner of the mill the dispute would be settled in 20 minutes.

It was understood that conferences had been held by the conciliation service with both the AFL machinists and the CIO separately with management, but that a joint meeting of all three groups had not been held. Virgil Burtz, vice president of the IWA-CIO, concurred with Hartung's statements and said that he would remain here for a few days in the event that a joint meeting was negotiated.

Coast Guard Cuts Discharge Score

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—The coast guard today reduced its point score requirements for the discharge of male personnel—from 49 to 43 for commissioned and warrant officers and from 44 to 40 for enlisted personnel.

The coast guard, operating as a part of the navy in wartime, said the cuts were made to bring the rate of releases in line with that of the navy proper.

Until today, the navy and coast guard point scores for discharge were identical. The coast guard said however, the lower average age of its personnel acted to release proportionately fewer members of the coast guard. Hence today's change.

51 INJURED IN TRAIN COLLISION

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Col., Sept. 8 (AP)—A siding collision of two Union Pacific passenger trains injured at least 51 persons last night and derailed one locomotive and two Pullmans. Three of the victims remained in serious condition today in Glenwood Springs hospitals.

Of 33 persons still hospitalized, 12 were Union Pacific employees.

The trains were operating on Denver and Rio Grande Western tracks because of a Union Pacific railroad bridge fire in Wyoming. The collision, on a mountainous route, occurred at 6:15 p. m., when the Challenger ran into the rear of the Los Angeles Limited.

Railroad and navy officials said today those still in serious condition were:

Mrs. Maggie Ward, 51, of LeGrand, Calif., internal and back injuries; Roy Byron Rathburn, navy storekeeper, third class, Stretcher, Ill., head and neck injuries; G. Carlson, carpenter's mate, first class, USNR, Denver, internal injuries.

Because the main tracks were not blocked, trains were able to bring the injured into Glenwood Springs where ambulances rushed them to doctors.

BRITAIN MAY ASK U. S. AID IN RECONVERSION

the British and American officials will start from widely-separated bargaining positions but with common agreement on one basic point: it is in the long range interest of the United States to help Britain get back into peace-time industry and trade as soon as possible.

Some American officials with an eye to postwar markets in the United Kingdom, say that such a reconversion in Britain would be a great help to business expansion and the creation of jobs in this country.

What United States representatives want out of the British in the talks beginning Monday is fairly clear.

400,000 Nazis On Crime List

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—As many as 400,000 nazis may be tried for war crimes when the allies deal justice to the architects and terrorists of World War II, it was disclosed today.

Guilty big shots probably will be hanged. The military regards shooting as "an honorable death."

Small fry who get off with their skins may be given labor sentences, perhaps helping rebuild what they destroyed in Russia and elsewhere.

Hitler's terror organizations, the Gestapo and the SS (elite guard), will be charged collectively with war crimes. Conviction would mean automatic punishment of any member of either outfit who couldn't prove he was forced in.

MISSING BOY FOUND
SEATTLE, Sept. 8 (AP)—A fruitless night-long search for 3-year-old Duane Manning of Kent, who disappeared about 1:30 p. m. yesterday from the home of his grandparents, was resumed this morning by scores of men and three bloodhounds. The youngster is the son of Harold Manning, navy electrician's mate 3/c, and Mrs. Manning.

to make good the damage that was done in the German invasion.

A sergeant in our occupation force in the Berlin area says that when his outfit was moving in they had to watch the Russians at every stop or they'd have pulled off the engines that were hauling our trains and started them back to Russia, leaving us standing.

YET, without exception, our men report that in every personal contact the Russians are agreeable and helpful. One of our pilots, flying from Berlin to Frankfurt, got caught in bad weather and short of gas and had to land on a Russian field. He could speak no Russian. The Russians could speak no English. But among them they all knew a little German and so they got along.

Our pilot was fed, quartered and when the weather improved was given gas to get on his way. He says he was never treated more courteously.

Our representatives at the first meeting of the four-nation group council in Berlin say the Russians were difficult to deal with until they got a clear understanding of what we were proposing, but when they understood what we were driving at, and it seemed reasonable to them, they became co-operative.

You can't find any American on the ground, who is rubbing elbows with these Russians, who is willing to say that they are a menace.

YOU hear all kinds of stories about slave labor in Germany. One of our well informed experts, who speaks fluent German but is in no way a German sympathizer, says there is general misunderstanding as to how a lot of these outside workers got to Germany in the first place.

Plenty of them, he says, came of their own free will because of the higher wages they could earn. Many of them married here, and are remaining in Germany.

This man says that the great majority of Germans didn't and STILL DON'T know about the horror camps. He thinks our telling of the story of these camps to the Germans has been poorly done and adds that it is by long odds our best weapon for bringing home to them the guilt of their nation. When clearly and convincingly presented, by moving pictures accompanied by a factual lecture, he says, the

U. S. Congressmen Arrive In Turkey

ANKARA, Sept. 8 (AP)—A group of United States congressmen arrived in Turkey today on another lap of a tour which has taken them to 28 countries to survey economic conditions.

"We seem to be the Marco Polo of the 20th century," remarked one member of the delegation which, after a two-day visit here, will continue on to Palestine, Tehran, India, North Africa, Spain and Portugal before returning to Washington.

Members of the group are A. S. J. Carnahan, Missouri democrat; Michael Feighan, Ohio democrat; Walt Horan, Washington republican, and Victor Wickersham, Oklahoma democrat.

6 Hulls Scrapped At Vancouver Yards

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 8 (AP)—The 345-foot hull of six ships, costing about $12,000,000, were being cut up for scrap in three Vancouver shipyards yesterday after federal orders came to scrap the vessels when contracts were cancelled immediately after V-J Day.

At least two of the vessels, which were transport ferries, were within two weeks of launching. The government has ordered that two more transports on the way here be "burned" for scrap. Each hull contains 1500 tons of steel.

which he often hides his emotions, was of serious mind.

He arrived shortly before the 11 a. m. ceremony (7 p. m. Friday PWT) after motoring from Yokohama. His khaki-colored car with five stars rolled up the short incline within the embassy compound through an honor guard of the seventh regiment, first cavalry division, with fixed bayonets.

The guard extended from the embassy ground for two blocks. At the end of the line clusters of Japanese gathered in mild curiosity.

Jap Interest Low
There had been little interest evidenced by the Japanese in the troops' arrival, not even among the groups of office workers in downtown Tokyo. They merely stared impassively at jeeps of reconnaissance elements which had "GHQ" printed on their windshields.

MacArthur entered the grounds accompanied by Admiral Halsey, commander of the third fleet, and Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, whose eighth army is occupying Central and North Honshu, including Tokyo.

They greeted General Chase. MacArthur walked swiftly to a position in front of the ornate but now empty, lily pond in the center of the embassy compound. The clear notes of "The General's March" floated over the quiet Azabu district from the first cavalry band.

The flag was slowly raised up the 30-foot pole while the band played the "Star Spangled Banner."

Admiral Halsey stood silently at attention. His long, shaggy brows seemed shaggier still. A little later, he looked around the embassy garden, then stared in unabashed concentration at the flag as if thinking of the long, hard pull which had brought his third fleet to Tokyo bay.

MacArthur held a stiff salute until the flag reached the top. He seemed absorbed by the significance of the occasion.

No Japanese were present.
