Red Cross

The war isn't over yet for the Red Cross and an appeal is being made this week for workers to help with sewing. The local unit has just received a quota of 1520 garments to be completed for shipment to the Philippine islands. These people are almost destitute and need these garments badly, say women at the Red Cross headquarters.

Also it is asked that those women who have work out to finish their work and turn it in to Red Cross headquarters by September 15.
