

PARTIAL RELIEF FOR KF HOUSING PROBLEMS SEEN

Partial relief from housing problems in Klamath Falls is in sight, with acceptance yesterday of two finished housing projects by the federal public housing authority.

These two projects, the 155-unit navy project on Washburn way, and the 50-unit civilian project on Main, have been under construction for the past few months, and are now ready to receive tenants, Harry Gamble, project engineer stated today.

When the projects are filled, it is expected some relief will come to those unable to get government housing.

Project Delay
The navy project has been delayed because of some fixtures which have now been obtained, and because of incomplete arrangements for sewer facilities. The city has received word of government appropriations for sewer improvements and the council has granted permission for temporary hook-up to existing mains.

Lawns have been planted at the navy project and are coming along fine. Apartments have been assigned, and tenants are expected to move in this week-end.

29 Accepted
Twenty-nine of the 50 civilian units were accepted last night. The remaining units will be accepted as soon as available. The entire site will be finished by the end of the month, including grading, roads and so forth. This project overlooks Klamath basin, and has convenient access to stores and schools across the canal. A foot-bridge has been constructed at this point across the canal to serve the project.

2 MEN ARRAIGNED ON LARCENY CHARGES

James Phillips, 38, negro, appeared in circuit court this morning before Judge David R. Vandenberg charged with grand larceny. Phillips had indicated that he wished to plead guilty to the charge, but after hearing his statement, the court charged the plea to not guilty and appointed J. C. O'Neill to represent the defendant.

It is alleged that Phillips stole property valued at $42.50 from M. R. Graham at Chiloquin on September 3. Phillips claimed in court this morning that he purchased some of the stolen property and that the remainder was loaned to him by Graham. He said he was instructed by Graham to trade one of the articles and was merely following instructions.

Phillips was employed by Graham at a service station at Chiloquin. He is being held in the county jail in lieu of $2500 bond.

Leslie Phillips Jr., negro, waived grand jury indictment before Judge Vandenberg this morning on a charge of grand larceny. The court appointed A. C. Yaden to represent the defendant and entry of plea in the case was set for Saturday, September 15, at 10 a. m.

Phillips allegedly stole seven 100-pound sacks of clover seed from W. B. Graham on September 2. The property was valued at $94.50 and was recovered. The defendant was committed to the county jail in lieu of $2500 bond.
