TULELAKE — Dr. and Mrs. Howard Hannaford, who worked as missionaries to the Japanese in the WRA center at Newell, before returning to the Far East, have sent a message to their many friends in Tulelake and Klamath from Aleppo college in Syria.
"Aleppo is fascinating! A mass of sunbaked buildings, with domes and minarets of mosques and crosses of Christian churches rising above the surrounding desert. A tiny river or creek winds through this little oasis, feeding the olive, fruit and nut orchards.
"The ancient citadel stands upon a great rock, towering above the depression in which Aleppo lies. The now half-ruined citadel, rebuilt at the time of the Crusades, is inhabited by Moslems. Aleppo college commands a site on a hilltop, beside the old Antioch road. There is an airport and a military road, and new houses and apartment houses are building up around it.
"Fragrant Prides of India trees and orange trees bloom outside the window. We are beginning to study Arabic, although the college and girls' school students speak English, and French is used in the shops."

Church Folk Urged To Donate Linens
Donations of linen, blankets and comforters have "made the difference between life and death," a recent report from Europe states.

State Councils of Church Women are asked to sacrifice 12,000 sheets, 4000 blankets or comforters, 12,000 towels, 6000 pairs of pillow cases and 12,000 handkerchiefs for this need.
Local contributions of the above articles may be left with Earl Redman at his office, 111 S. 8th, and are requested to be in not later than October 10. Goods must be in the United Church service warehouse, New Windsor, Md., by October 15, for overseas shipping.
The cooperation of all Christian women is requested in this urgent need and all donations, however small are exceedingly welcome.
