Martha's Shops and Shops

Such a handy idea I noticed in a friend's garage the other day. I want to pass it along. She had converted a shoe bag into a container for small gardening tools — hand trowels, twine, gloves, etc., fitting neatly into the pockets. Maybe this isn't new to some of you, but it was to me.

Whytal's

HERE'S a casual, inexpensive suit I saw at Whytal's that's a wardrobe standby for sports, office or school. . . and you know what a comfortable feeling it is to have something like that.

This is a Gateway Modes . . . of a new all-wool weave . . . priced at only $25.00. The one-button jacket has a plain neckline . . . shoulder darts for neat fit . . . and adequate pockets. The skirt is designed on gored lines . . . with kick pleat front and back.

A choice of colors includes peacock blue, bright red, navy and brown . . . in sizes from 12 through 18.

Other tailored suits in stock, however, range from 10 through 20 in size.

At Whytal's store . . . Ninth and Main . . . in the Medical-Dental Building.

The Cameo Shop

NO picture is too large for us to frame. . . Jack Hooks of The Cameo Shop told me the other day . . . and after looking at a six-foot map he'd just finished, I certainly agreed.

New mouldings in various sizes and patterns have been received by the shop's picture department . . . which also has mat board in several shades. Picture glass is always used . . . and when Mr. Hooks . . . a specialist in this line, with years of experience . . . finishes a picture, it's ready to hang.

I noticed the shop still has a limited number of the beautiful hand-tinted Crater Lake pictures . . . now almost impossible to obtain . . . and a complete selection of photograph frames in all sizes . . . of wood, glass, leather or metal.

You'll find The Cameo Shop at 737 Main Street.

Long's

RIGHT plaid, pleated skirts . . . adored by the young in heart . . . have arrived at Long's . . . which is headline news to those who missed these favorites after the government decreed less use of material.

Of all-wool . . . the kind that holds a pleat . . . one skirt has a background of scarlet . . . the other of navy . . . and the plaids are big and Scotch.

Topped by a wool jacket . . . of which Long's has a complete selection . . . these make gay ensembles. For instance, a gold sports jacket with straight lines combines perfectly with the red plaid. And with the navy you could wear a loafer-type jacket of fuchsia or a conservative dark green.

These loafer jackets are quite different from any I've seen . . . with Johnnie collars . . . silver buttons down the front . . . and buttoned cuffs. Other shades include rose, blue and light green.

You'll also find most anything in accessory touches to go with these outfits . . . At Long's Apparel . . . 719 Main Street.

Cal-Ore

ATMOSPHERE has a lot to do toward enjoyment of the places we seek for relaxation. I guess that's why Cal-Ore Tavern has been so consistently popular . . . because the management hasn't overlooked its importance.

Down there the other evening with a group of friends . . . to celebrate a birthday . . . I started thinking about this . . . and of how all the employees . . . from the orchestra that prides itself on smooth music . . . to the chef whose pride is the delicious dinners . . . have a part in creating an atmosphere that's conducive to bringing patrons back again and again.

You'll find Cal-Ore on Highway 97 south . . . just a short motor jaunt from town.

Long's

IT'S almost wool-scarf weather . . . and never have I seen a more gorgeous selection than Long's is showing this week.

Of 100 per cent wool . . . imported fabric . . . these carry the Rothstein of Los Angeles label.

From versatile head squares . . . to neck scarfs that are ideal with fur coats and suits . . . you'll find any shade you desire . . . even purple . . . in plain colors and striped combinations.

You can also have other types of scarfs . . . such as the floral print crepes . . . for those who don't care for wool.

Long's Apparel is at 719 Main Street.

Houston's

FATAL APPLE . . . doesn't that sound Adam and Eve-ish? It's the newest shade in nail enamel by Revlon . . . described as an I-dare-you red . . . and put out especially to go with Autumn's bright apparel.

Houston's has just received a shipment of Fatal Apple . . . including the lipstick to match fingertips . . . in smart, black plastic containers . . . and a supply of Revlon's "wind-milled" face powder by the same name . . . a glowing pink. All of you who have used this powder know its staying power is terrific.

You can purchase the enamel, lipstick or powder separately at Houston's . . . or in sets . . . and, of course, Fatal Apple is also on the manicurist's table. . . In Houston's Beauty Salon . . . 114 North Eighth Street . . . around the corner from Main.

Whytal's

THE store personnel at Whytal's was mighty pleased this week by a shipment of Kay Artley frocks . . . a more youthful version of the shirtwaist style . . . that are perfect for School Belles and practical for office work.

Made of a lightweight gabardine . . . the colors are vivid . . . peacock blue, fuchsia, rust and apple green. I was particularly impressed by the tailoring . . . flattering, fitted waists accented by flared skirts. Added for variation are the hipline side pockets, narrow leather belts and simple tailored collars.

Sizes on these dresses run from 12 through 20 . . . and the price is $8.98.

At Whytal's in the Medical-Dental Building.

Currin's

NEVER will I take another trip . . . by any conveyance . . . without the convenience of a cosmetic bag . . . especially when there's such a variety available as at Currin's.

The ones I favored . . . after looking them over . . . were the lovely leather Monique fitted bags . . . with drawstring tops . . . in several styles and colors, including a soft red . . . because they'd also serve as handbags. These are $14.95, plus tax.

But Currin's has received a new shipment of unfitted cosmetic bags . . . or cases . . . in both genuine and imitation leathers that are just as desirable. The real leather . . . priced at $14.95, and tax . . . are almost circular in shape, with zipper fasteners . . . and come in red, green or tan.

The others resemble small travelling cases . . . with full mirrors in the top . . . and are especially commodious. These are only $6.98, plus tax, which you'll agree is reasonable enough when you see them.

Currin's also has the well-known Tussy cases . . . made of an imitation leather resembling reptile skin . . . fitted with cosmetic essentials . . . for $7.50 . . . and the deluxe Harriet Hubbard Ayer cosmetic . . . completely fitted . . . for $20.00. (All such bags are classed as luggage . . . hence the tax.)

Connie Baert at the cosmetic counter told me that men especially like to buy these bags for gifts . . . preferring the fitted ones . . . so there's a tip for puzzled husbands.

Currin's is the friendly drug store at the corner of Ninth and Main.
