

GREYHOUND BUS DRIVERS QUIT; 7 STATES HIT

nia and Nevada stages make one round-trip a day to Reno. Inquiries for tickets have sharply declined because of the strike and officials of the Klamath Falls bus depot said today that there was no indication as to how long the strike would last.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5 (AP)—Thousands of travelers and commuters, stranded in seven western and southwestern states by the midnight strike of Pacific Greyhound bus drivers, sought other means of transportation today as union and management officials indicated six hours later there had been no change in the situation.

Taxi drivers reported a bonanza on short-haul trips, railroads noted an immediate increase in the demand for train travel, and bus lines not affected by the walkout were besieged with requests for accommodations.

Strike Ordered
The 2700 Pacific Greyhound drivers and station employes in California, Oregon, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas were ordered on strike at midnight by the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America (AFL).

Greyhound company officials here estimated the shutdown would affect 140,000 passengers daily, half of them military personnel.

Wage Demands
The walkout was called shortly before the deadline by Robert E. Hasselmann, the union's business agent, when last minute negotiations with the bus company and U. S. conciliation service representatives failed to bring agreement. Wage increases ranging from 12 1/2 to 30 per cent are being asked by the union for its members.

The stoppage went into effect without incident. Drivers were under instruction to continue their runs until midnight and then proceed to the nearest company depot and "drop the bus." On many of the shorter inter-city runs, commuters were left part way home with few other means of transportation available. Passengers on longer routes and transcontinental trips were put off at the nearest terminal.

Changes Made
Hasselmann charged that in final conferences the company demanded wage cuts rather than increases. This was denied by F. W. Ackerman of San Francisco, company vice president, who asserted his firm was willing to allow 15 per cent wage boosts and arbitrate the additional amount asked.

Angeles by boat and sent here either by train or truck. The four operations closed down by the walkout are Los Angeles Works and terminal at Wilmington, Los Angeles Lubricating plant terminal at Wilmington, operations of the pipeline department, and natural gasoline operations in the Los Angeles basin area.

In a telegram received today by The Herald and News, it was stated by T. E. Nichols Jr., division manager, that "without prior notice and in direct violation of the war labor disputes act and our agreements with the union, the Oil Workers International union, local 128, at 10 o'clock today struck four plants and operations of the Texas company."

and the voyage has lasted 12 days, it doesn't appear out of the way.

DOWN the harbor at slow speed. Suddenly, out of the thin fog, the famed skyline of New York emerges, its skyscrapers, topped by the Empire State Building, towering unbelievably. All over Europe, an eight-story building is high.

We round a point and the Lady with the Torch comes into view. In the distance and in the early morning haze she is barely visible. So it isn't the inherent beauty of the world-famous figure that inspires the queer feeling that brings a catch in your throat and, no matter how hard-boiled and practical you may be, a trace of salty moisture to your eyes.

IT'S what she STANDS FOR. People are FREER in America. Life is BETTER in America. After weeks in war-torn Europe, that knowledge is burned into your mind like a brand on a steer's rump. Nothing can EVER remove it.

Never again in your life can you be in any doubt about it. That's what brings the catch in your throat and the salty moisture at the back of your eyes.

JUST as you're thrilled to the point of exaltation, a voice on the loud speaker instructs everybody to get on once to the dining saloon. There, just as you want to be drinking in the sights of New York harbor, you spend three solid hours going through immigration, customs, security control and all the rest of the rigamarole involved in passing from one country to another.

school classmates and represent the junior and senior girls. Two schools, Malin and Tulelake, centered interest in only one girl, supporting students assisting their choice in sale of dance tickets that count for 1000 votes each. The remaining schools had from two to five entries.

Closest race in the preliminary contest that closed October 1, was between Jo-Ann Kandra, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Kandra and Dolores Steele, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Steele, all of Merrill. Dolores lost to Jo-Ann by only two tickets.

The girls will be guests of the Merrill Service club and the Merrill volunteer fire department, joint sponsors of this year's fete, at a dinner at the Willard hotel, October 10 and at all events during the festival. They will be introduced at the Queen's ball which will follow the banquet Friday. This time the queen will be presented with a wristwatch and others of her court with jewelry.

The court will ride on the queen's float in the parade scheduled for 10 a. m. Saturday and will be presented again Saturday night at the annual harvest dance.

Music for all three dances will be furnished by "The Chicanos." The dance committee which is responsible also for the royal Tiger bats. He only fanned one, but that one happened to be Hank Greenberg, homer-hitting hero of yesterday's game. Opening the second, Passeau pushed a wide-breaking curve past Hank to polish him off.

Ten in a Row
Claude retired the first five men in order before York got on. Then he put 10 more down in a row before Swift waited out his walk at the start of the sixth. Ed Borom ran for the Detroit catcher at this point and Hub Walker pinch-batted for Overmire.

Walker rolled an easy grounder out to the baseline between first and second. Don Johnson, a fielding star at second during the game, scooped up the ball, and tagged Borom going by, then threw to Phil Cavaretta, another fielding ace of the day, to complete a double play. That was the end of the Tigers. They weren't even close to getting to first at any time afterward.

TIMBER MOUNTAIN FIRE CONTROLLED

of the Modoc national forest. The fire started Tuesday afternoon five miles south of Timber mountain near Tionesta and raced out of control Wednesday when strong winds came up. The Alturas-Klamath Falls highway was closed for a time and the quarantine station was abandoned when the fire jumped the road for a distance of almost a mile. Flames by-passed the station however.

Still Smoldering
The Modoc fire which destroyed the community hall and school house Thursday afternoon was still smoldering today in the sawdust pile where the blaze originated.

Flames were checked before they could spread to any of the dwellings in the Modoc Point community. Men and equipment from Klamath Forest Protective association, the county, Klamath Agency and the Klamath Falls Marine Barracks answered calls to fight the fire which broke out a little after noon when high winds fanned the sawdust pile fire.

An outbreak of fires in the Fremont forest area have occurred recently as a result of the influx of deer hunters into the area.

Small Fires
Small fires have been reported so far near Cloyer Flat west of Valley Falls, in the Lakeview logging area and near the Dicks ranch on Crooked creek. Another was reported near Tobin cabin in the Silver-Lake ranger district.

Hunters have also discovered fires near Sycaun Butte, at Log Spring and along the Chewaucan river near Coffee Pot flat, all in the Paisley ranger district. Forest men have again warned of fire danger because of the extreme dryness of the woods at this time. Most of the fires are attributed to careless smokers and to abandoned campfires and warming fires.

The source of the fire was not known today. The mill was a total loss. The capacity of the mill was 80,000 board feet per eight-hour day.

KLAMATHITES URGED TO BOOST FUNDS

vation Army are well-known, the organization is world-wide. When the war broke out the Salvation Army was already on the spot at Pearl Harbor.

Local activities of the corps, however, are not so generally known, and that is what interests the people of Klamath Falls now when they are digging down for contributions to the community fund.

Three hundred and 11 people received assistance through the local office of the Salvation Army last year through funds available from the community fund.

Lodging was supplied 260 nights; 453 meals were served, 400 garments distributed, and transportation provided for 10 people.

In addition to these benefits, made possible from the community fund allotment in 1945, the Salvation Army maintains an employment service, assists in housing problems, finding missing persons, and salvaging used articles. Annual summer camp for children at Lake o' the Woods is sponsored by the corps.

Prison work is carried on; unwed mothers and their babies are cared for by negotiations between this office and the White Shield Home in Portland.

Emergency relief is one of the main activities of the Salvation Army and this is one place a person can go knowing he will receive aid when he needs it.

A contribution of $5.72 to the community fund, which is less than a full day's pay for most people, would furnish for one day, hospital and medical care for a girl plus hospital and medical care for her infant, as well as one night's lodging and one meal for an adult.

Leaders Attend Training Meeting

Among home extension units represented at the leaders' training meeting held Thursday were Altamont, Shasta, Henley, Bonanza, Bly, Merrill, Malin, Poe Valley, Fairhaven, Modoc Point, Fort Klamath, Midland and Klamath Falls.

The meeting held in the foods laboratory of KUHS, was conducted by Mrs. Myrtle Carter of Oregon State college. Refrigerator desserts were demonstrated, and instructions for making them will be presented at home extension units throughout the county this fall.

Enrollment in the city schools has increased by almost 300 in the first month of school, according to figures from the city school office today.

BONANZA PIONEER MATRON PASSES

Margaret Elizabeth Broadsword, 79, for more than 53 years a resident of the Dairy and Hildebrand area, died Thursday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Anna O. Hartzler, of Hildebrand.

Mrs. Broadsword had not been in good health since the death of her husband, Francis W. Broadsword, Bonanza merchant who died November 7, 1942, at the age of 78. The store which Mr. Broadsword operated was a stopping place for many travelers going by wagon train to the eastern section of the country and into Lake county.

Final rites for Mrs. Broadsword will be held Monday at 2 p. m. from the Bonanza church with Rev. Wilbur A. Rogers officiating. Burial will take place in the family plot in the Bonanza cemetery. In addition to Mrs. Hartzler, Mrs. Broadsword is also survived by another daughter, Mrs. Sarah Jane Michael of Bonanza, and a son, William Orval Smith of this city.

1 DEAD, 1500 JAILED IN STUDENT STRIKE

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 5 (AP)—Argentina's nation-wide student strike against the Farrell-Peron government ended in defeat today, with one student dead, others injured and some 1500 in jail.

A curt police communique said that "forces of authority" had occupied buildings of the nation's six universities and ousted students barricaded within, writing finis to the "civil disobedience" movement which involved some 30,000 male and female students.

Seizing the buildings Tuesday after President Edmirro Farrell ordered them to get out of politics, call off their strike and return to class, the students held the premises for three days against besieging police.

The movement flared into open fighting here and at La Plata yesterday and last night, and the students yielded and agreed to evacuate the building today.

A police ban on gathering or printing news of the student movement was rigorously enforced, cameras were smashed, negatives confiscated, and photographers were hauled off to jail.

Youth Killed
Col. Filomeno Velazco, chief of federal police who gave the students their baptism of fire last night, ordered a few guards left at the emptied buildings to prevent further disorders, after last night's clash between students and nationalists in which a 20-year-old youth was killed by gunfire.

Junior high showed 1904 pupils registered, and one month later, on October 4, the number had jumped to 2114.

At Klamath Union high school registration had increased from 1122 to 1218 with the largest increase shown in freshman class enrollment.
