Hack Breaks Up Ball Game In 12th Inning

WRIGLEY FIELD, CHICAGO, Oct. 8 (AP) — Stanley Hack plastered a hit into left with two out and a man on second in the 12th inning today to drive in a run and give the Chicago Cubs an 8 to 7 victory over the Detroit Tigers in the sixth game of the world series, and knot the set-up at 3 victories each.

In a wild, woolly and weird ball game that shattered records for number of players used and the time it took to play, Hack came through with his fourth hit of the day to break it up at the expense of Dizzy Trout, the strong-armed Tiger right-hander who had beaten the Cubs last Thursday.

Frank Secory had pinch hit a single while batting for Shortstop Len Merullo after Catcher Dewey Williams had gone out. Schuster, running for Secory, scored on Hack's double.

Hack's hit drilled through short and on into left field. Hank Greenberg, who had tied the score with his second homer of the series during a four-run Tiger rally in the eighth, misplayed the ball and it rolled through him for an error, enabling the sturdy Schuster, who was running for Secory to come all the way around, as the ball bounded to the left field wall.

Silly Exhibition
That was the end of as silly a world series exhibition as probably ever has been played, not the least peculiar feature of which is that the total of 37 players used by both clubs and the total of 19 used by the Tigers both broke previous records for a fall classic. What's more, the three hours and 28 minutes it took to complete the goings on was far more than the previous "slow" of two hours and 54 minutes the Yanks and Brooklyn Dodgers needed for one of their 1941 tussles.

Hank Borowy, clubbed out of the box in yesterday's fifth game after winning the opener, was the Cubs winning pitcher, sending the series into its full run with Wednesday's seventh game deciding it. Hank came on in the ninth and lasted, although touched for four hits. He was the fourth Cub twirler of the day.

Trucks Clubbed Out
Virgil (Fire) Trucks, winner of the second game, started for the Bengals, but was clubbed out during a four-run Cub barrage in the fifth, which wiped out an early lead the Tigers took on a run in the second on a hit and three walks. Hack was the hero of this rally, too, his single knocked in two of the markers. A hit by Phil Cavaretta brought the other two home.

The Cubs added another in the sixth on consecutive doubles by Mickey Livingston and Roy Hughes of Tommy Bridges. Two more National league markers trotted home in the seventh when Bridges lost his control, walked one tally in and sent another across on a single by Hughes.

Coal Miners Strike
A brand new domestic trouble was added to Shidehara's burdens—strikes. More than 6000 Korean coal miners in the Yubari mine near Sapporo, Hokkaido, have struck, Domei news agency said, and the "unrest seems to be spreading" to an adjoining mine. Cause of the strike was not announced.

Acceptance by Adm. Soyemu Toyoda of the navy portfolio completed the new cabinet—all, said Secretary Daisaburo Tsugita, likely to meet with General MacArthur's approval. Tsugita also predicted that "another new cabinet will be formed by political party men when a majority party comes out of the general elections" next January.

Baton Shidehara drew heavily upon parliamentarians—and untried liberals—to make up his new government. Average age of the new ministers is 61. The roster (including five holdovers from the previous cabinet):

Cabinet Named
Premier Shidehara, 73, career diplomat, replacing his first big domestic job.

Foreign Minister Shigeru Yoshida, 67, a hold-over who, like Shidehara, had opposed Nippon's militarist clique.

2-Year Discharge Plan Advocated
WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—Effective next March, all army enlisted men with two years service will be eligible for discharge, the house military committee heard today.

By that time, Brig. Gen. Robert W. Berry testified, enough high-point men will have been released to allow discharges on length of service alone.

General George C. Marshall told congress recently the two-year discharge plan was contemplated, but did not set a date.

Between now and March, Berry said, critical point scores for discharge will be reduced progressively. At present the figure is 70 points. In November it should drop to 60 points.

Navy Moves To Halt Oil Strike
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8 (AP) The navy moved today to restore production at Union Oil company's strike-bound refinery at Wilmington, Calif., only navy seized refinery on the west coast in which work was still stalled.

Lt. Comdr. William H. Wendell, navy supervisor of seized plants on the coast, left by plane for Wilmington today to confer with union and company officials, the navy announced. He was accompanied by a staff of legal and labor relations experts.

Calling the Shot
WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP) Louis Benton Houff, 60, waited in the chilling air for a bus late last night.

As he dropped a token into the box, he remarked to the driver: "You'd come a minute later, I would have died."

Then he fell dead of a heart attack.

2 Big Lumber Companies At Portland Down

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 8 (AP) — Portland's two biggest lumber companies, both CIO-organized, were shut down today by AFL pickets determined to throttle the entire northwest lumber industry.

About 250 CIO workers at Inman Poulsen Lumber company and 175 at Eastern-Western Lumber company turned back when confronted by pickets. The 100 men employed by Coast Basket and Veneer company, also CIO, followed suit.

Picket attempts failed at Multnomah Box and Lumber company and West Oregon Lumber company, Portland area plants. CIO employes crashed through the AFL line and tore the banner off a picket at the box factory.

Through The Line
At the West Oregon plant, CIO workers who outnumbered the pickets pined to one went to their jobs despite the picket line and later called out threats. The AFL men promptly withdrew, stating they had not come to create violence.

John Christenson, president of the AFL Northwest Council, lumber and sawmill workers, declared, "we are showing operators we weren't fooling when we said we were going to close the industry down so long as they refuse to negotiate with us for a wage increase. Our battle is not with rank and file CIO members, but every plant has to go down to make our strike effective."

The AFL announced four Portland AFL plants employing a total of about 400 workers were down today for the first time. They are the big M & M Plywood corporation, National Wood Pipe and Tank Co., American Wood Products Co., and Pein Box Co.

Injunctions Sought
Meanwhile, in several Washington cities CIO attorneys went to court asking permanent injunctions against AFL picketing which temporarily disrupted work at CIO plants last week.

The first hearing was held this morning at Kelso, Wash., and a second involving Grays Harbor operations in the Aberdeen area was set for tomorrow.

Meanwhile negotiations by the CIO International Woodworkers of America for a 25 cent hourly wage increase continues Thursday when meetings with operators and the U. S. Conciliation Service reconvene.

At Eugene, Ore., the CIO Oregon State Industrial union council held its convention yesterday and approved a resolution condemning AFL picketing of CIO lumber mills.

By The Associated Press
The government today renewed efforts to end the soft coal strike, biggest trouble spot in the national labor situation which elsewhere was brighter than it was last week.

There were indications that the strike lines, which hit a record high of some 550,000 last week, would drop to around 350,000 if back-to-work orders this week were obeyed.

But violence broke out again in the eight-month-old Hollywood strike (Continued on Page Two)

Hess Nomination Held Over Again
WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—Chairman McCarran (D-Nev.) said today the senate judiciary committee again held over the nomination of Henry L. Hess of Oregon to succeed Carl C. Brannan as United States attorney.

Objections to confirmation of Hess have been received from a group of Oregon citizens, McCarran said, refusing to identify the opposition body further.

Strange Dust-Colored Cloud Observed Hovering Over Waters of Crater Lake

By E. P. LEAVITT
Supt. Crater Lake National Park CRATER LAKE, Ore., Oct. 8 Will volcanic activity again return to Crater Lake after an absence of 5000 years? This is the question to which the staff of the park has been giving serious thought within the last few weeks, because of a strange and unusual gas or smoke cloud which has been seen hovering over the calm blue waters of the lake on three different occasions recently by at least three reliable observers. This smoke or gas cloud appears to have risen from the waters of the lake in the middle section at a point where the Geological Survey map shows the depth to be 1950 feet.

Dust Colored Cloud
This strange and peculiar dust colored cloud was first observed by Linda Newhall, fire lookout on The Watchman on the west side of the lake, on September 15, who reported it as a dust colored fog or smoke cloud forming on or arising from the waters of the lake. At the time, the lake was calm, the weather clear and beautiful, and there was no sign of a storm or fog condition. Apparently it was not a dust cloud caused by a slide of rock and pumice from the crater walls, for the cloud was formed near the center of the lake, far from the walls of the crater. It rose sharply, then mushroomed out, and finally spread and drifted away with the wind currents.

The second smoke or gas cloud was seen on September 17, from the summit of Garfield Peak, by Dale Vincent, photographer, naturalist and writer living along the Rogue river near Gold Hill, Ore., who was in the park to take photographs of the lake. On this occasion, the same dust colored cloud arose from the waters of the lake in long ribbon-like formations. It too, occurred on a clear, cloudless day.

Not Caused by Slide
Hulbert is sure it was not caused by a slide and there was no wind or storm conditions to cause it, as the day was bright and warm, with the surface of the lake perfectly calm, reflecting magnificently the colorful crater walls and forests which surround the lake.

No explanation for the strange and unusual smoke or gas cloud seems plausible, except that a blurb of smoke or gas was released from some of the vents which undoubtedly exist on the floor of this old extinct or dormant crater, and passed through the water to escape to the air above. The staff has been directed to watch for recurrences of the smoke or gas formation, and efforts will be made to obtain a picture of it should the phenomena occur again.

The third person to observe this strange phenomena was Park Ranger Kenneth A. Hulbert on September 30. He first observed it about 11:15 a. m., from a lookout point on the west side of the lake, between Hillman Peak and Laid Rock. The cloud was about 300 to 400 feet wide and tended upward to a distance of 400 to 500 feet. It was diamond shaped, narrow at the top and bottom and wider in the middle of the formation. He observed it from all the various lookout points along the rim, as far south as the Crater Lake lodge, and it finally drifted away much as smoke does from a forest fire.

A small fire on the north end of Bryant mountain Monday morning was reported by lookouts. KPFA sent a crew to fight the blaze.

Several small fires have also been reported on the California side of the state line near Macdoel, none of them serious so far.

Truman Plans Two-Day Rest
TIPTONVILLE, TENN., Oct. 8 (AP) — President Truman arrived at Marsh lodge on the edge of Reelfoot lake here at 11:38 a. m. (Central Standard time) today to spend two days resting and fishing before proceeding to Gillettsville, Ky., to dedicate the Kentucky dam Wednesday.

The president drove here from Caruthersville, Mo., 25 miles across the Mississippi river lowlands. He crossed the river on an eight-car ferry at Caruthersville and stopped at both Ridgely and Wynberg, Tenn., to greet school children who had assembled on the road side to wave at him.

Patton Swallows Hard On Leaving

BAD TOELZ, Germany, Oct. 8 (AP)—Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., who led the third army spearhead of the allied drive across France and Germany, today was in command of a few troops doing research work—the 15th army.

The 59-year-old general swallowed hard when the band struck up "Auld Lang Syne" yesterday as he handed over the third army flag—a big, white letter "A" circled in red and blue—to his successor, Lt. Gen. Lucian K. Truscott, Jr.

"All good things must come to an end," Patton told 400 troops standing sad-faced before him in a dramatic ceremony forced indoors because of rain.

"The best thing that has ever come to me is the honor and privilege of having commanded the third army. Please accept my heartfelt congratulations on your valor and devotion to duty," (Continued on Page Two)

Bonanza Youth Charged With Statutory Rape

Stanley Newman, 19, Bonanza, charged with statutory rape in involving a 12-year-old Klamath Falls girl, appeared before Justice of the Peace J. A. Mahoney Monday morning, was granted time to enter a plea and returned to the county jail in lieu of $5000 bail set by the court.

Newman was arrested at Bonanza by Chief of Police Cox of that town at the request of the sheriff's office. He was lodged in jail Sunday. The complaint was filed in the district attorney's office by the father of the girl who is now in custody of county juvenile authorities.

Several Small Fires Reported

Several more small fires, said to have been started by hunters in the woods, were reported to forest offices over the weekend.

A blaze near Tobin's cabin north of Bear flat was reported by the Indian service to KPFA Sunday afternoon. At that time it was thought to be about four acres in area. Crews had it under control Monday.

A small fire on the north end of Bryant mountain Monday morning was reported by lookouts. KPFA sent a crew to fight the blaze.

Several small fires have also been reported on the California side of the state line near Macdoel, none of them serious so far.

Supreme Court Rules Against AP

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—The supreme court refused today to grant a rehearing on its decision that The Associated Press must amend its by-laws affecting admission of members.

The high tribunal in a 5 to 3 decision last June affirmed a lower court finding that the by-laws restrain trade and thus violate the Sherman anti-trust act. It directed amendment of the by-laws so as to prevent AP members from considering competitive aspects of an application for membership.

The AP, in asking a rehearing, contended among other things that to require opening of its membership was not an appropriate way to achieve objectives of the Sherman act.

"Beast of Belsen" Swears Innocence of War Crimes

LUENEBURG, Germany, Oct. 8 (AP) — Josef Kramer swore on the Bible today that he was innocent of war crimes and that atrocities committed at the Oswiecim and Belsen concentration camps he commanded were on orders from higher placed nazis.

Kramer, described as the "Beast of Belsen," leaped from the prisoners' cage like a foot ball player from a bench and trotted before the court.

He said he was a loyal nazi and a member of the SS and as such only carried out obediently the orders of the Hitler hierarchy.

Hess Will Stand Trial In Germany

LONDON, Oct. 8 (AP) — The British air ministry announced today that Rudolf Hess had left England in an RAF plane this morning for Frankfurt on the first leg of a journey to Nuernberg, where he will stand trial as a nazi war criminal.

The erstwhile number two nazi, who parachuted down on the Scottish moors in May, 1941, was driven from his place of detention to the airfield in a British army car with the blinds drawn.

Unshaven and impassive, Hess appeared much thinner than his most recent photographs. He was wearing a gray civilian suit and gray slouch hat.

Hess was accompanied by one army guard, a medical officer and attendant, and an official of the allied war crimes commission.

Formalities at the airfield were quickly completed and only a few RAF personnel saw the plane leave at 8:50 a. m.

Hess whereabouts had been a closely guarded secret throughout the war. During the past six (Continued on Page Two)

In The Day's News

By FRANK JENKINS
WHILE the war was on, Germany experienced the normal hallucinations of war prosperity. Everyone was employed at high wages. Everything was salable. Every available commodity was in keen demand. The wheels of industry were turning at high velocity. There were shortages, of course—as everywhere, even in America—but because the German industrial system was efficient it was able to produce enough consumer goods to keep the standard of living fairly high while at the same time producing the necessary amount of war goods.

Besides, a constant stream of consumer goods poured back into Germany from the conquered countries. Thus the mirage of material prosperity was sustained.

NOW the situation is changed—staggeringly changed. There is almost no employment. Practically no consumer goods are being produced. Transportation is almost non-existent. Food is acutely scarce, and getting scarcer.

Every German is hungry and is reasonably certain he is going to be hungrier still before long. Every time it rains (which is about every other day) people are cold and damp, with no fuel to build fires to dry themselves out, and they are flatly certain they are going to be much colder still when winter closes down.

Everyone is acutely miserable.

THE result is this perfectly natural psychological reaction: "While the nazis were in power, we were well fed, well clothed and well housed. There was plenty for everyone to do. Now the nazis are out, and the Americans are in, and WHAT have we?"

Maybe they don't put it into words. But they feel it. This feeling, which is universal, makes our job much more difficult.

THE same thinking is loose in France.

In the years when the Germans were there, liberty was GONE—and the Frenchman values his liberty, perhaps more than anyone else in Europe. But still there is the indisputable fact that the years of German occupation were BUSY years in France. The factories were all humming. Everyone was employed. Prices were high. Business was active. The Germans paid good prices—in PHONY francs, of course—and the mirage of material prosperity was everywhere visible.

Now the Germans are gone and the Americans are present—and France is prostrate economically. The French are glad we came and they don't want the Germans back. But still there is the CONTRAST. There was activity when the Germans were there, and there is none now.

They feel it in their bones, even if they don't put it into words.

ALL this bothers us. It bothers us in Germany, where our job is to create a new order that will appeal to Germans as BETTER than the old militaristic order.

It bothers us in France, where we hope to keep the friendship of the French people.

OTHER than industrial plants and machinery and processes with a WAR POTENTIAL, we are taking nothing out of Germany. It seems highly probable that before we take anything at all OUT in the way of reparations we shall have had to put quite a lot IN.

The water table in Germany is so low at the present moment that it looks very much as if we shall have to prime the pump if we are to get any water out of the well.

MEANWHILE the Russians are pursuing an opposite course. They are taking everything out of Germany that they can lay their hands on, and so far as may be seen now they have no thought of ever putting anything back.

Their apparent simple purpose is to TAKE BACK from Germany what Germany took from them.

IF Russia is doing any worrying, it doesn't appear on the surface. She gives no evidence of it. From the beginning, she (Continued on Page Two)
