

CONFERENCES WILL BE HELD IN BUS STRIKE

January 1, 1941 to the date of the hearing before the war labor board. Pacific Greyhound claimed the average hourly earnings have increased 16.3 per cent," the bulletin stated.

Ask Wage Increase
"All the union is asking is that the company grant an immediate wage increase which would help close the gap between present wages and present living costs. The strike will end as soon as the company grants such an increase."

Hasselman said mainline drivers are asking a 12 per cent increase from 5.13 cents per mile to 5.75; station employees want a 30 per cent increase; and local commuter drivers seek $1.10 an hour, a boost of 20 cents hourly.

Gov. Earl Snell of Oregon announced at Salem he had wired representatives of management and the union in San Francisco as follows:

Many people in our state are entertaining hope that mutual understanding and agreement may be reached soon. If there is any manner in which this office may be of assistance, I would be glad to have you so advise."

and the richness of America's way of life.

The strangeness fades and the picture begins to become familiar. You are an American COMING HOME and these things that at first struck so oddly are just the normal American picture.

BUT still there is a jarring note. Something somewhere that doesn't fit in. A readjustment you haven't yet made.

Suddenly it hits you! These buildings are ALL STANDING. There are no rubble heaps, broken only here and there by gaunt steel joists thrusting starkly out like a splintered bone from the crumpled flesh of a leg or an arm.

The odors that drift in to your nostrils are the native odors of an American city—burned gas, hot asphalt, roasting peanuts, etc.—no faintest trace of that fetid, sickly stench that STILL issues from time to time from the rubble heaps that once were cities.

You realize that you've been in Europe so long that these things have been accepted by your subconscious mind as the NORMAL ORDER!

BY the time you've reached your destination you're in a chastened and humble mood. You reflect with horror on the occasions when you've been narrow and selfish, when you've put your own petty and trifling PERSONAL considerations ABOVE your country's welfare, when because he belonged to your own party you've voted for a man you knew wasn't quite as broad or as capable or as statesmanlike as the candidate of the other party, when you haven't hesitated to stand up for the interests of your own crowd or your own clique or your own bloc and to hell with the wider, deeper, permanent interests of the nation as a whole.

In this chastened mood you tell yourself you aren't ever EVER going to be narrow and selfish and petty at the expense of your country again.

It's too bad the mood can't last.

TULELAKE TEACHERS FEEL HOUSING LACK

Used date for occupation is near the first of the year.

Teachers found quarters in private homes where they will continue to live. Others rented apartments, some with the understanding that when the hunting season arrives they face the possibility of a move. That time is here.

Hunters Move In
There are no sleeping accommodations available in the town, apartments are all filled and the hunters are coming in.

Thursday, household belongings of one family were piled into a trailer and another family including two children of school age, faced life in a school building, the only place for them to go. Teachers are more philosophical about the situation than patrons of the school, several of whom voiced the opinion that it is a case of "cash versus culture."

No Jurisdiction
The Tulelake OPA office said late Thursday it had no jurisdiction over the situation and tenants would have to file complaints in the Sacramento office if they wished to take action. It is understood that a number of soldiers' families were also ousted although there are but a few days remaining before the Tulelake camp is closed. J. W. Carlisle is chairman of the local board.
