News Behind The News

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 — Mr. Truman is having more trouble with congress than is apparent.

An increasing number of members of both houses are stiffening their backs against the usual political pressures, believing the nation is in a serious crisis.

The utmost effort of Senator Floor Leader Barkley was necessary, for instance, to get the CIO-PAC man Raymond McKeough confirmed for six years on the maritime commission.

The opposition frankly questioned the wisdom of putting a CIO official, but even more than that, a man who led the political action part of CIO in three western states, into a position of power over the merchant marine whose unions are recognized as probably the most extreme in the country—and all over the objection of AFL.

Appeased By Promises MORE democrats privately held this conviction, than voted it. These were appeased by personal promises McKeough would not use his position for CIO-PAC purposes, but his actions on the commission will find close congressional scrutiny from now on.

I suspect more than a majority of democrats thought it a mistake to place an outside party man, able to wield such immense political action power in a six-year job.

Conversely, the developing administration foreign policy is meeting almost unanimous senate approval. After two-and-a-half hours behind the doors with State Secretary Byrnes, the foreign relations committee members, both republicans and democrats emerged in a favorable mood.

Mr. Byrnes knows how to handle senators from long experience and he handled them this time by leaving them convinced he had told them all there was to know about the London conference. What they heard did not contradict anything the public already knows, but the details which Byrnes gave put convincing emphasis upon the public announcements of the results.

Nomination Delayed THIS enabled him to escape the hole he was in on the Braden appointment. This nomination of the new ambassador to Argentina has been delayed through several secret sessions of the committee. Senators felt Byrnes had made a mistake in not consulting the committee in advance, not notifying the other Latin American nations, and that Braden had been too active in earlier Argentinian affairs.

Some were angry because the Pan American conference set for October 20, had been postponed to November 20. I judge that Latin affairs got out of Byrnes' hands while he was busy preparing for London and at the peace conference.

Even the Byrnes policy on the Far East found favorable support when he told the senators he was behind General MacArthur without reservation.

The tax bill went almost unanimously through the house when the administration came to terms with the varying viewpoints. It will be amended in the senate, but only in details, unless the republicans break loose and demand a less modest cut. The other parts of the administration program are still facing opposition.

Truman Loses Ground CONSIDERED all in all, it is evident Mr. Truman has lost some ground in congress, but not to any decisive extent yet comparable to the condition into which Mr. Roosevelt worked himself.

His statement when he returned from his weekend vacation urging the country to go to work conveyed an inspiration which caught popular favor, although many are waiting to see how he comes out with the strike question. For instance the oil people got their 15 per cent and the opportunity to dicker for the other 15 per cent, and in the settlements it is clear he can yet lose his whole case against inflation.

Some murmuring was heard because he went away for his long planned trip in the middle of the strike crisis, but there is a tendency in congress to judge him by the results he gets.

accept a free exchange of commercial transport rights. Dr. Edward P. Warner, PICA president and formerly vice chairman of the civil aeronautics board, said the transit agreement drawn at Chicago—which 20 countries have accepted—falls short of the idea for which Symington had made "so vigorous a plea." But, he added, it "does at least accomplish an enormous reduction in the amount of special negotiation and trading that needs to precede the establishment of a new air service or the extension of an old one."

The transit agreement is an exchange of the right to fly over and make non-traffic stops in a country. The type of agreement Symington had in mind would exchange the right to make traffic stops.

New Effort H. J. Symington, president of the International Air Transport association (IATA) and a key figure at Chicago, where he sought to resolve the differences between the British and American proposals, called for a new effort to open the world skies to commerce.

In an address delivered at a dinner for the two organizations last night, Symington said bluntly that since unanimity on air freedoms is not possible, a "strong and reasonable majority" should join in signing a set of rules for international flying. He declared he was opposed to "bilateral bickering."

Bi-lateral negotiations—agreement between two countries—was the method in general use before the war, and the one the United States has used since failure of the Chicago conference to

REPLY TO CRAWFORDS

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., (To the Editor):—Have been a subscriber and reader of your paper for many years. I read with interest the comment and letters "To the Editor." Recently a number of articles signed by Wade Crawford and spouse have appeared. These I read first with amusement, then with boredom and, lastly, with disgust.

So far, my personal opinions have kept to myself, but the letter in Friday's paper was so unjust that I take the pleasure of writing to explain to anyone interested just why the Crawfords feel such envy, jealousy, and bitterness toward our superintendent, B. J. Courtright.

A number of years ago we bestowed upon Wade Crawford the highest honor and position any one could hold on the reservation, that of superintendent. We had faith and confidence that a one of our own people would do everything in his power to be of greatest benefit to the reservation. Instead of being the benefactor he seemed to leave nothing undone that meant a profit to Wade Crawford and Company.

We found it necessary to sign a petition to have him ousted from the office of superintendent. No superintendent could ever hold a candle to the Indian superintendent, Wade Crawford, who gave no consideration or courtesy to those who refused to bow to him under his reign as dictator.

We have had more than enough of the Crawfords as their uselessness and greed have been shown at the general councils in the past eight years.

No names were mentioned by our present superintendent whom we respect and admire, but the cloak seemed to fit the Crawfords and they see fit to wear it.

We have given a vote of confidence to Superintendent Courtright for his never failing courage, help and understanding in the face of all the difficulties presented to him.

As for the Indians being on relief, haven't they always been on relief? At least the Indians have the necessities of life and that is more than some under the supervision of Crawford.

Speaking of the loan board, what is the purpose of a loan board if it is not to lend? Even the Crawfords have borrowed when they could show an intention of repaying.

I have attended every meeting and election that I possibly could and have never in any way had

Mr. Courtright even attempt to influence my vote. The Crawfords are the only ones that resort to trickery to influence a vote.

Mr. Courtright has no political ambitions, he is not running for office, but he has a job and does it. If he gives as careful a watch to the elections and ballot boxes as Crawford says, it only proves the necessity of safeguarding the polls from dishonesty.

Some people after eight years of trying to force themselves into offices of responsibility would realize that they are not wanted. Very Truly Yours, Dorothea E. Hamilton, 516 Klamath, City.

ABOUT DAROLD DIEHL

RENO, Nevada (To the Editor): We have lived in Klamath Falls many years and have a lot of friends there. We would like to have them know the latest news received from my son PFC. Darold Diehl.

PFC. Darold Diehl is recovering from injuries received in Germany on VE Day. He served under the 34th Red Bull Division while overseas. He expects to be well enough to be released from the hospital over there so he can be home Xmas, which is his 21st birthday.

I'm sure his friends will be glad to read this as he attended Modoc Point school, Shasta way school and the two Altamont schools.

Sincerely yours, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Diehl 348 N. Virginia St. Reno, Nevada.

BRIEF ON VETERANS HOSPITAL PREPARED

Advisability of a veterans' hospital facility for Klamath Falls and advantages of such a project in this particular location, have been set forth in a brief prepared by Charles R. Stark, manager of Klamath county chamber of commerce. This brief was checked by the veterans affairs committee at a meeting held Tuesday afternoon.

The approved brief will be forwarded by airmail to State Senator Marshall Cornett, now in Washington regarding Klamath Falls' request for a major airline. Phil Hitchcock will join him in Washington in a few days on the same matter.

The World Today

By DeWITT MacKENZIE Associated Press War Analyst

MacArthur's epitaph for broken Japan is so starkly realistic that it brings one up with a jolt:

"This ends its military might and its military influence in international affairs. It no longer reckons as a world power, which for almost a hundred years increased its military might and its military influence in international affairs. It no longer reckons as a world power, which for almost a hundred years increased its military might and its military influence in international affairs."

Nippon has been utterly smashed. Not only that but she has been deprived of her ill-gotten gains and thrust back into her tiny island kingdom. She now lacks the resources to recover anything approaching her former position. She has been flung into the oblivion from which she emerged almost within the memory of living man.

Vacuum in Orient Now that's a fact of tremendous import. It means that a vacuum has been created in the Orient, with the disappearance of this dominant power. It is in the nature of things that something must rush in to fill that vacuum. That is, some other people will in due course take its place. What will it be?

He would indeed be gifted with rare vision who could see that now. However, the probabilities are that for a considerable period the influence of the Big Three—America, Russia and Britain—will control the situation, pending the emergence of the new Asiatic power. China is a logical successor, but it will be long before she could assume the crown, for she is terribly weak in all categories excepting one—the magnificent spirit which enabled her to hang on in face of the Jap onslaught.

China Ultimate Successor So China is a logical ultimate successor to the throne, but before we accept this as a finality we should stop and ask ourselves whether there is any other Asiatic power which might intervene. And we shouldn't let that term "Asiatic" restrict our vision, for there's one great power which we have come to regard as European but which also is Asiatic.

Sure, that's Russia. The soviet union is extending its influence methodically in the Asiatic sphere. Japan's defeat is rendering this far easier.

This is no time for prophesy as to what will come out of the Oriental melting-pot, but we shall indeed be short-sighted if we don't recognize that Russia may be the power which will rush into the vacuum created by Japan's elimination. I wouldn't bet a plugged penny against a dollar that this wouldn't happen.

As for Nippon, while she has had to surrender her might, she still can achieve a useful and happy life. As MacArthur says, the Japanese "have for the first time seen the free man's may of life in actual action, and it has stunned them into new thought and new ideas. A revolution—or more properly speaking, the evolution—which will restore the dignity and freedom of the common man has begun."

TRAVELERS AID GIVES SERVICE TO NEWCOMERS

A volunteer staff of 14 local townswomen enabled USO-Travelers Aid service to give over 1000 services to Klamath Falls newcomers during the month of September. This fact was brought out by Beverly Richardson, director of the local USO-TAS unit, at a meeting of the volunteer group held October 10, at the main office of the organization, 627 Pine.

Volunteer workers were on duty at the Travelers' Aid desk recently opened at the USO club for over 200 hours during the month of September. Services given include help in finding overnight housing, location of relatives when travelers are not met, advice on travel plans, and the giving of many varied items of information about the community. Workers have been called upon for everything from lending a five-month-old baby while service-wife mama, driving single-handed from Tacoma to San Diego, enjoys a peaceful meal—to finding out if it is possible to buy gas east of Salt Lake City, to setting over a collar-button for an unhappy marine.

Members of the USO-Travelers Aid Service volunteer staff are Mrs. Avis Young, Mrs. Grace Kingen, Mrs. Mary Woodhouse, Mrs. Charlotte Marshall, Mrs. Dorothea Nolan, Mrs. Ernaede La Barge, Mrs. Clarissa Moore, Mrs. Frances Karrer, Mrs. Anna Marie Trippett, Mrs. Helen Mueller, Mrs. Margaret Froom, May Phinney, Marguerite Roebber and Ann Mueller.

Flashes of Life

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 16 (AP)—Hunting war souvenirs in Germany is fun for some GI's but getting three of a kind is something else again.

That was the problem of Lt. Edward J. Reardon of Kansas City who has 12-year-old triplet half brothers.

"I knew if I didn't get everything in triplicate the next war I'd see would be right here in Kansas City," said the young lieutenant home after two and a half years with the infantry in Europe.

To triplicate it is—three identical German Luger pistols, three Nazi binoculars, three flags bearing Hitler's emblem and three German mess kits.
