Today's Roundup

REGON'S new United States senator, Wayne Morse, makes good copy. If there is need for new proof of that, it can be found in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post...

It is not a folksy story, such as is so often the treatment of politicians in magazine articles. Wayne Morse is not a folksy guy. The horse business is emphasized in the Post story and pictures, but it's strictly classy stuff...

Senator Morse is a smart lawyer of the cool, intellectual type, having no kinship with those members of the profession who bellow and weep. He has a way of making his listener feel righteously intellectual, thus stimulating his ego and winning his support if not his love...

Service Clubs Take On A Job

KLAMATH'S service club organizations have given yeoman service to the war loan drives. The various groups have sponsored drives individually, and can take much of the credit for the outstanding war loan record in this county...

Langell Valley

LANGELL VALLEY — Carl (Boze) Burns visited friends in Langell valley last week. He is on furlough after three years in the South Pacific. He is visiting his sister Mrs. Claude Shuck and family of Merrill...

Eagles Lodge Will Hold Open House

Briefs From The Pocket File

WHILE Klamath's Pelicans certainly weren't playing fired-up football on Modoc field last night, everybody will agree that the great Medford team justified just about everything that has been said about it. Our Hale Scarborough remarked a day or two ago that Medford either has a whale of a team or a whale of a press agent. It seems it has both.

Again, we want to say a good word for the planning and execution of between-halves shows at Klamath's football games. Last night's demonstration was interesting and impressive, worthy of our pride and appreciation.

Local people away from home are always sending our circulation department wistful notes. We have one today from Imogene Martinez, who says she is "stuck over here" in the Salem area. "I do enjoy reading the news about that country where the whitefaced cattle are raised," she says, longing to be back again to "enjoy the good things of life that only the dear old Klamath country holds for us."

The World Today

UNLESS general expectations are overthrown, France will decide tomorrow to make important changes in her governmental system, take another turn to the left internally, and, at the same time, lean more toward Britain and the United States in world affairs.

Socialists Assailed SINCE then the socialists headed by Leon Blum, who have been accused of putting their ideas of economic reform ahead of the military preparedness which was so disastrously lacking in 1939, have been bitterly assailed by the communist party for supporting the idea of a "western nations family," which was considered by the Reds as pointed against Russia. Blum, who is not a candidate himself tomorrow, has answered that a Franco-British alliance, which might attract other countries of northern and western Europe into a bloc, is merely a means toward preparing for the founding of an international community, and by no means directed against anyone.

The Blum group displayed a strength more than double that of the communists in the provincial elections last month. Since none of the major parties seems likely to have a majority in the new assembly, however, foreign policy will cut across party lines, with Foreign Minister Bidault's new movement republican populaire, a De Gaulleist party which ran second in the provinces to the socialists, taking an important role.

Reverse Constitution

INTERNALLY, there seems no question that the new assembly will be instructed by the referendum also being held tomorrow to revise the 1875 constitution, order governmental elections next spring, and dissolve itself, giving France the opportunity to wipe out the last vestiges of the impermanence which has surrounded all government activities for five years.

The new constitution is expected to provide for election of the French president by universal suffrage as in America, instead of having him chosen by the senate and chamber of deputies. The senate itself probably will be elected in similar fashion, instead of by an electoral college as before.

Midland

MIDLAND—The Midland Victory club met at the home of Mrs. August Andrieu last Wednesday. The group worked on Red Cross sewing. Mrs. B. H. Mistler, president, asked for suggestions for improving the club for the coming year. Each member had a new idea to submit. Prize for a new idea introduced by Mrs. Edward Burke and Mrs. Floyd Bhurig, was won by Mrs. Leon Andrieu. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Leon Andrieu, November 19, with roll call suggestions for Thanksgiving.

Those present were Mrs. Leon Andrieu and daughter Ruth, Mrs. LeRoy Hauch and son LeLande, Mrs. Francis Flowers, Mrs. Floyd Bhurig and two daughters, Mrs. Edward Burke and sons, Eddie and Gary, Mrs. Joe Ayers and son Tommy, Mrs. Edna Mistler, Mrs. Edna Travers and Mrs. August Andrieu.

Anena Ray Bohman has been home this week after a tonsilectomy. The Midland grange is giving a box social, free dance and bazaar the evening of October 27, with a prize for the prettiest box.

J. H. Hoffer has been missed for several weeks in Midland with his big black stallion, Dan. He has been ill and we hope he will be about soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gray went hunting this week. Robert Casebeer wrote friends last week he was on Okinawa and the big tornado was expected the same day.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Milani entertained at dinner Wednesday evening at their home near Midland. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Al Vinzco, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Orval Kuhlman, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Puddycomb and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Milani.

JENKINS SPEAKS TO TULELAKE ROTARY

TULELAKE—Frank Jenkins, publisher of The Herald and News, guest speaker at the Rotary luncheon Wednesday, brought first hand information of the utter destruction of many of the cities on the continent which he visited during his recent trip overseas.

Unemployment that totals about 90 per cent of the population, hunger and cold and an almost total lack of interest in the welfare of the country is breeding hatred of Americans and of America, he stated. Jenkins was introduced by Dan Crawford, chairman for the day.

Visiting Rotarians were Francis Shelton and John French, Los Angeles; Al Farrell, Pittsburg, Pa.; Paul Landry, Fred Blohm, Klamath Falls; Orville Boyd, Alturas; Ed Bishop, Redding and O. A. Shultz, Santa Ana. Other guests included Cliff Ranier, Max Green and Wallace Carver.

SHERIFF ARRESTS ESCAPED CONVICT

ALTURAS — Leo L. Young, who is said to have escaped from the Nevada prison camp August 30, was arrested by Sheriff John Sharp late Wednesday evening after the car in which he was riding was wrecked a few miles east of Cedarville.

Two brothers, William and Earl Russow, also said to be escapees from the camp, were said to be with Young but made their escape before the officers arrived at the scene of the accident. An extensive hunt by the local sheriff's posse, Nevada state police and the warden and prison guards from Carson City, failed in locating the brothers.

The men reportedly had killed a steer and were thought to be returning to their hideout when the accident happened. Young was returned to Carson City where he was serving time on a rape charge. The Russows were arrested for kidnaping.
