STORM LASHES NORTHWEST; 2 PERSONS DEAD

and isolating some families in rural areas.

There were no reports of injuries, livestock loss or peril to those marooned.

The wind driven storm was moving east across the mountains today, but continuing rain in the center of the flood area, near Bellingham, brought no promise of cessation of the flood waters.

The Pilchuck, the Skykomish, Stillaguamish, the Snohomish and the Nooksack rivers all were out of their banks. Water was up to the porches of most farm homes along the Pilchuck; stock was marooned on high ground in the fields; automobiles caught outside were standing in water above their running boards.

The Nooksack, sloshing over, threw a watery circle around the small community of Acme and ran two feet deep through the village of Everson. Schools closed at Concrete, Marblemount and Rockport when bridges were washed out.

Pipe Line Broken

At Snohomish, the rampaging Pilchuck broke the city water pipe line and an emergency pumping system was brought into use. Water across the Stevens pass highway there forced closing of the cross-mountain arterial.

Six inches of rain fell in the upper Skagit river country yesterday, the Seattle Diablo dam station reported, and the weather bureau said three inches fell in the Bellingham area in the 24 hours ended at 4:30 yesterday afternoon.

County officials in Seattle said there was no flood danger on the Green, White and Snoqualmie rivers, although the latter was flowing 10 feet deep over Snoqualmie Falls last night, nearly double the normal flow for this time of year. The crest was dropping today.

SO much for hard-boiled thinking. There is another situation loose in the world in which we must be broader-minded.

Britain's new foreign secretary, Ernest Bevin, tells the house of commons today that "hunger and privation in Europe may bring a further prolific human loss more devastating than the gun or the atomic bomb." He warns sharply of a terrible epidemic (based on hunger) in Europe this winter.

This condition, he adds, resulted from a deliberately imposed nazi (Hitler) policy. "When the nazis discovered they couldn't win the war," he says, "they decided to leave Europe in a state of complete anarchy." (Hoping that hungry and starving people would start new wars and new destruction.)

History tells us that is apt to happen.

IF we go to the limits of our capacity this winter in feeding the hungry both in Europe and in Asia, we shall be both merciful and WISE.

The hatreds that arise out of STARVATION last a long time.

HATRED is the seed of war.

Tension High In Rio De Janeiro

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 26 (AP) Great tension prevailed in this Brazilian capital today after a night in which the armed forces and police were on the alert over rumors of an impending revolution.

War minister, Gen. Pedro Aurelio De Goes Monteiro directed the army to keep clear of politics. "It is necessary," he said, "that the army remain united now more than at any time in our history, withstanding all political passions that would plunge the nation into a fatal civil war."

his rifle jammed. He then grappled with a third enemy soldier who was attempting to throw a grenade. At this time, Pvt. Shimp received a bayonet wound from a fourth enemy soldier, but he continued to grapple with his assailants until other marines arrived and helped to liquidate the enemy. His initiative, courage and indomitable fighting spirit were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States naval service."

Cpl. Robert J. Gjerness' citation reads as follows:

Meritorious Service

"For meritorious service in connection with operations against the enemy while serving with a marine infantry battalion on Iwo Jima, Volcano islands, on February 27, 1945. The light machine gun section of which Cpl. Gjerness was section leader was attached to a rifle platoon assaulting a vital ridge commanding the approaches to Hill 362. The platoon was repulsed by superior enemy fire. The platoon again assaulted the ridge, this time suffering heavy casualties, among them the platoon leader. The platoon became disorganized. Cpl. Gjerness, realizing the severity of the situation, and with complete disregard for his own personal safety, took charge of the platoon and through his courageous leadership the platoon was orderly withdrawn and the wounded were evacuated. His conduct was in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States naval service."

when troops of the British commonwealth, China and Russia would arrive, nor what would be done with them after they reach Japan.

Maj. Gen. Richard Marshall, deputy chief of staff to MacArthur, commented "it's news to me," when told of a report that British forces were due at Tokyo Jan. 1.

Marshall said the joint occupation policy still was being discussed by representatives of the allied powers, and that MacArthur had received no directive governing their military participation in policing the conquered nation.

Questions still undecided, apparently, concern the strength of British, Chinese and Russian occupation forces, their zones, and whether they would be dispersed into small units.

It generally was agreed that, no matter how distributed, the troops would be under American army control.

Nationwide Walkout Authorized By Union

New York, Chicago and Detroit. Supervisory employes not involved in the walkout serviced some planes. The federal mediators planned to meet in New York with company officials and leaders of the airlines mechanics department of the CIO United Auto Workers. Police halted mass picketing of hangars at LaGuardia field, New York.

Strike Ended

In Miami, Fla., about 2000 CIO maintenance employes of Pan American Airways ended a three-day strike after company officials read a statement acknowledging a union contract. The workers walked out in protest over what they said was a company violation of a contract.

A strike of 1000 CIO packinghouse workers at the Iowa Packing company in Des Moines, Ia., in a dispute over seniority rights of servicemen, ended after three days. New workers on the strike lines included 2000 AFL employes of the Aluminum company of the American Plant company at Lafayette, Ind., in a dispute over wages, and 700 CIO machinists at the San Leandro, Calif., plant of the Caterpillar Tractor company, also seeking a 30 per cent wage increase and a closed shop.

probably will be approved there.

The members may tack on requirements that trainees be given regular army disability payments if injured and an opportunity to go to college with government aid if they demonstrate military proficiency.

Some favor an amendment providing that West Point and Annapolis appointees be chosen from among youths who have demonstrated officer caliber during their training.

Might Pass

As to the bill's chances in the house, even its opponents admit it might be passed.

"We have better than an even chance right now and the tide is swinging in our favor," one backer said.

"It's an uphill fight but I believe we can cover the ground necessary between now and December," said another.

"If it came to a vote tomorrow, I believe it would be defeated," an opponent declared, "but it might be another story next month."

Chairman May (D-Ky.) said the military committee first will call American Legion officials who favor the president's proposal.

It will hear also opposing church, labor and educational groups, supporters from the army, navy, marine corps and veterans' organizations, and some churchmen and educators who agree with the president.

"GI Joe and GI Jane must be assimilated as rapidly, as thoughtfully, and as completely as friendly human thought and effort can devise. They must be assimilated at the local home level through full participation in civic life as quickly as possible."

Doe said that every community should have a veterans' center—which is not an employment bureau—where veterans can get the information they need. He urged business men to give veterans every possible consideration, including sincere business advice. He urged special consideration of men with war disabilities.

Dangers Pointed Out

The speaker pointed out the dangers in any theory that the government should "take care of" 13,000,000 veteran men and women. He voiced the belief that these young men and women have the capabilities, the ambitions and the willingness to "take care of themselves" if given the chance—not just by government and law, but by their home communities, the operators of businesses and industries which have job opportunities.

Doe was introduced by Ted Medford, former Safeway manager here and a long-time friend of the Oakland, Calif., business man. The luncheon was held at the Willard hotel, with Frank Eberlein, president of Rotary, presiding.

decided to participate in the allied Far Eastern Advisory commission, which will meet here for the first time Tuesday.

Announcement yesterday of the continuing four-power council discussions climaxed a day in which government officials and newsmen debated this question:

When Foreign Commissar Molotov first proposed the council for Japan, did he mean one like that set up to govern Germany, or one like those established to administer former German satellite nations such as Hungary and Romania?

It made a lot of difference.

Four Allies Equal

On the Berlin council, four allies have equal authority. The chairmanship alternates among Gen. Eisenhower; British Field Marshal Montgomery; Russian Marshal Zhukov, and French Gen. De Lattre de Tassigny. All decisions must be unanimous.

On the Balkan commissions, the U. S. and Britain have equal representation with Russia, but in the event of conflicting views the soviet position governs.

The U. S. would not agree to a Berlin-type council for Japan. Officials say the problem of governing the Japanese home islands is entirely different.

Eleanor Puts Chill On Harry

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26 (AP) The widow of Franklin D. Roosevelt, architect of the United Nations conference, says she is not sure that President Truman's foreign policy will help create "a peaceful world."

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, at a press conference preceding an address last night before the Pennsylvania Citizens' Political Action committee here, asserted the United States' "first line of defense" is "the making of a sound peace."

"It would be most unfortunate," she said, "for the sake of future generations if efforts towards a sound peace are unsuccessful."

MAN INDICTED FOR ROBBERY OF BANK

SPOKANE, Oct. 26 (AP)—Only 25 hours after the robbery of the Brewster, Wash., branch of the National Bank of Commerce, Charles Oliver O'Toole, 23, Laredo, Tex., was formally charged with bank robbery in an indictment returned by a federal grand jury here at 10:30 a. m. today.

O'Toole, who is held in the Okanogan county jail in lieu of $10,000 bond, was arrested less than two hours after the bank holdup when the car he was driving was wrecked about a mile from Brewster.

The grand jury indictment, which charged that O'Toole obtained $4900 in the holdup, was drafted under a section of the bank robbery act which carries a 20-year maximum prison sentence "for putting in jeopardy the lives of employes of a bank."

The grand jury, which completed its original calendar yesterday, was held over especially until today to consider the O'Toole case.

September 7 is Independence Day in Brazil.

"My answer is — other nations can build navies too, but is that any reason we should give them a navy?" He said in reply to the question of other nations being able to make the bomb — in time.

He declared the Pacific war would have ended by Jan. 1, 1946, regardless of the bomb. By cutting short the fighting, however, the atomic bomb saved many lives, the general said.

AFL Willing To Negotiate

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 26 (AP) In reply to an appeal from the Seattle Master Builders association, the striking AFL Lumber and Sawmill Workers said today they would negotiate with any employers who wish to do so.

The Seattle group, representing architects and construction interests, declared that the strike has halted the entire post war building program, and asked the union to state whether it would negotiate with individual employers contended that the original AFL demand for an industry-wide wage settlement required negotiations of the industry as a whole. Employers said that was impossible.
