

Girl Scout Week To Be Observed

Girl Scouts of Klamath Falls and all of the world join in observing Girl Scout Week from October 28 to November 3. High light of the week is the birthday of Juliet Lowe, founder of Girl Scouts, which falls on Halloween and is being observed here by an all-city Girl Scout party from 7 to 9 at the girls gym of KUIS. The girls are asked to enter the high school from Montclair street entrances.

John Sandmeyer is to be Master of Ceremonies for the evening and will engineer the program which follows:

"Skating Away," accompanied by Lois Connor.

"Paw Paw Patch," accompanied by Nancy Lamb.

Grand march and judging of best hick costumes, led by Troop 10 of Fremont school, accompanied by June Marie Murphy.

"Juliet Lowe Memorial," by Irene Bullard.

"Juliet Lowe's Message to Girl Scouts," by Phyllis Kaup.

"Scourwood Mountain," accompanied by Irene Bullard.

"Virginia Reel," accompanied by June Marie Murphy.

Closing.

Also an important feature of Scout Week is the launching of the plan of work in the troops. The girls and leaders of all the troops in the United States shared in planning this program by filling in reports on what they most desired to do in Scouting. The plan thus represents the ideals dearest to the hearts of all scouts. The slogan is "Active Citizenship Around the World" and puts particular emphasis on learning to understand and appreciate races and groups other than just our own. Arrangements are being made for correspondence with girls of many lands and exchanges of gifts, all in the effort to broaden viewpoints and grow in tolerance, and a feeling of world sisterhood.

Never has Girl Scouting faced a challenge of such urgency as now when we begin to build a new world of peace, friendship and plenty. It is encouraging to realize that in Klamath Falls and its close vicinity alone there are now close to 800 Girl Scouts and Brownies working and playing together in a program that is based upon a deep concern for people in every part of the world. Our community is fortunate in having over 100 adult volunteer workers serving as leaders, troop committee members and council members in this program. It takes generous gifts of time and energy as well as support for our Community Chest to keep this youth organization growing and functioning in this fine way. A further aim of the local council is to increase facilities at the summer camp to serve even more than the 155 girls who had the opportunity of camping this year at some time during the three weeks which the Girl Scout camp was open.

Bride In North

Rosemary Jean Hannigan of Olympia, Wash., and only daughter of Mrs. Ogden E. Brooks of Klamath Agency, will become the bride of Mr. Paul William Dolan of Loamster, Mass., at high noon Sunday in Our Lady of Good Help church in Hoquim, Wash.

The Rev. Father Thomas Lane will read the nuptial vows in the presence of many friends and relatives of the young couple. The bride, who will be given in marriage by her uncle, Dr. I. G. McMonagle, will wear a suit of winter white sheer wool with shell pink and French blue accessories. She will carry a white prayer book covered with white orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Weston Dalley will be the matron-of-honor and will wear an afternoon dress of lime green with black accessories and her flowers will be white gardenias.

Richard McMonagle will be the best man.

Mrs. Brooks, mother of the bride, will wear a street length dress of black crepe, matching feather hat and a corsage of gardenias and rosebuds.

Before the ceremony Roger McMonagle, cousin of the bride, will sing Gounod's "Ave Maria" accompanied by Miss Margaret McNeill who will also play the wedding marches. A reception will follow.

The bride is a graduate of Sacred Heart academy, Klamath Falls. The groom has just returned from overseas service with army engineers and plans to enter an eastern college to continue his study in engineering.

§ 1/2 Jerry Hicks, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hicks of Pacific Terrace, arrived here Thursday morning from San Diego where he is on duty. His brother Dick, signalman third class, USNR, is also home for the weekend from Treasure Island.

Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. James Hajicek celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary October 22, at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Joseph Pospisil, 723 N. Eleventh street.

Mrs. Hajicek, a beloved Klamath matron, came to this country from Czechoslovakia with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Schneider, at the age of one year. Mr. Hajicek also is a native of Czechoslovakia and came to the United States at the age of 18 years. They were married in Pisek, North Dakota, October 22, 1895, and made their home there until December 25, 1910, when they moved to Klamath Falls. Mr. Hajicek was affiliated with the Klamath Lumber and Box company for a number of years, retiring several years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Hajicek have three children, Mrs. Pospisil, Stanley Hajicek, both of Klamath Falls, and Henry Hajicek of San Francisco. One grandson is T/S Joe J. Pospisil, aviation engineer now on Okinawa.

Many friends called during the afternoon and refreshments were served. Assisting Mrs. Pospisil were Mrs. Stanley Hajicek, Mrs. Roderick Smith and Mrs. K. Patterson. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hajicek came from San Francisco for the occasion.

Soroptimist

Martin Gunderson of the Tulelake Relocation center was guest speaker at the Soroptimist luncheon this week. His topic was "Race Prejudice." He was introduced by Izola Parker, program chairman for the day.

Mr. Gunderson feels very strongly that this is one of our greatest social problems in the United States, and that it is one we must give a great deal of time and attention if we are to attain any measure of success in our peace efforts. He cited many instances in which loyal Japanese Americans who had served in the United States army over seas and had won medals for bravery had been discriminated against socially since their return. He objected to the statement, "Once a Jap, always a Jap." He said it was untrue and that some of them were loyal adherents of democracy. He further stated that we must learn to evaluate people as individuals rather than en masse, and said that all enlightened clubs should fight race prejudice and also religious prejudice.

In the absence of the president, Kathleen Thompson, the first vice president, Alice Lamm, presided at the meeting. Guests who were greeted were Mrs. J. M. Bedford of Loyalton, California, and Mrs. Twyla Ferguson.

Wedding Rites

Glenn LaVerne Gant, EM2/c, United States navy reserve, took as his bride Dorothy Marie Ernst, SK2/c, Wave, in a ceremony read in Calvary Lutheran church at Cranford, New Jersey, according to word received by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gant of Malin. The service was read September 8, in the presence of many friends of the bride's family.

The church was decorated with asters placed at the altar, gladiol in the chancel and white and blue bouquets. The bride wore white satin with form fitting bodice, fingertip veil and a seed pearl headress. She carried a Colonial bouquet of mixed flowers and wore a 150-year-old brooch which belonged in her family.

Following a 15-day stay on the Jersey shore the couple will resume their naval duties at the U. S. naval station at Sampson, N. Y. The bride attended Pratt Institute of Art in Brooklyn, N. Y., and has been in the WAC for the past two and one-half years. The groom attended Merrill schools and was overseas taking part in the Norman invasion and other European missions.

THEIR FIFTIETH wedding anniversary was observed October 22, when Mr. and Mrs. James Hajicek were honored by members of their family and their many friends.

Auxiliary Head To Visit Klamath

The Klamath unit of the American Legion auxiliary will welcome home its distinguished member, Mrs. Dorothy Templar, state president of the organization, when the Legion and auxiliary hold district conferences here Sunday, October 28. Mrs. Templar will be accompanied by the state vice president, Mrs. Leon Brown of Salem; Mrs. Mae Whitcomb, state secretary, and Mrs. Herman Edwards, state publicity director, both of Portland.

The Legion will greet the state commander, Neil Morfitt of Astoria; state employment chairman, Dick Smirthwaite; the state adjutant, Fritz Nissen and state service officer, Bob Dillard and Harry Stengel, all of Portland.

The conference starts with a 1:30 p. m. session at the Legion hall, followed by a banquet at the hall, at 7 o'clock, with a program later. Mrs. A. Petersteiner, the local president, and Paul Otterbein, local commander, urge all members to attend these sessions and especially the dinner in the evening.

Those assisting Mrs. Petersteiner will be Mrs. Carl Schubert, Mrs. C. H. Foster, Mrs.

Junior Wagner, Mrs. Ralph Howard, Mrs. Ray Brown, Mrs. Lora Evans, Mrs. Clara McPherson and Mrs. Fred Hellbronner.

Dr. M. E. Cooper is in charge of the banquet reservations assisted by R. D. McGhehey. Reservations should be called in to either Dr. Cooper, or Mrs. Petersteiner.

All chairmen are particularly requested to attend the afternoon sessions.

The educational committee of the Council of Church Women met Wednesday to make final plans for World Community Day, the program to be held at St. Paul's Episcopal church Friday, November 2, at 2 p. m.

League Meeting Of Wide Interest

The League of Women Voters held their October meeting on Wednesday in the library club rooms. Mrs. O. K. Puckett's factual and concise paper, "Trade Agreements, a Bridge to Peace," was read by Mrs. Twyla Ferguson. It said in part: "This time we realize that there can be no peace in a hungry world, in a jobless world, in a world at odds over economic relations." The logic with which Mrs. Puckett handled her subject made one realize we must have reciprocal trade agreements.

Mrs. John Yaden gave a talk on food conditions in the European theater. It painted a tragic picture of the wake of the Nazi-flooded and bomb-torn fields, disrupted transportation, slaughtered herds, few seed for planting, worn out tools and no fertilizer.

Mrs. Yaden's talk asked: "Is liberation to mean freedom to starve?" It reiterated starving people do not build stable governments, chaos cannot be guaranteed. She stressed the fact we should support UNNRA we should let our congressman know our beliefs.

Following this the program chairman announced it is quite significant and understandable that Anna Lord Strauss, president of the National League, should have been chosen by President Truman to meet with the food conference now being held in Quebec, Canada. This shows the league is abreast of the times, aware of its responsibilities and is challenging us to do something concrete about it.

The November 28 meeting in the library club rooms, will consist of a short talk by Mrs. C. H. Hancock on the necessity of OPA and the main topic will be by Frank Jenkins, who recently has returned from the European scene. Mr. Jenkins whelted our interest by his realistic we feel this is an excellent opportunity for both league members and others interested to receive a first-hand description of present-day Europe.

The League is assisting with a talk by Mrs. Donald McKay, local league president, when the Council of Church Women will meet at the Episcopal church November 2; also on November 15, League members will discuss the charter, international trade, race prejudice and the problems of moral and economic aid to Asia and Africa when the Women's association of the Presbyterian church meet in the church social room.

In December the League is sponsoring the appearance of L. B. Prillaman, professor of geopolitics and history, when he will be the guest speaker at an inter-club dinner. Plans for other outstanding speakers and events will be announced later. The League, a national non-partisan organization, is interested in familiarizing citizens for active participation in government and invites non-members to attend any meeting.
