Today's Roundup

RECORDS of several Klamath county organizations, as well as the editorial files of this newspaper, will show repeated warnings of the need for an automatic signal at the Hager crossing...

EPLEY

This grade crossing is on one of the most heavily traveled roads in Klamath county and has taken a heavy toll in death and injury.

Not only is the daytime vision of approaching motorists impaired on both sides of this crossing, but at night, particularly when flat cars are being pulled across the highway...

The only real solution to this problem lies in grade separation or installation of automatic safety devices.

Recently, the junior chamber of commerce and the senior chamber of commerce have attempted to have a wig-wag signal moved from another, less dangerous crossing...

With three more deaths fresh in their minds, railroad officials and the state public utilities commissioner will surely now take the action which has been delayed far too long already.

Bouquets To The OWAC

PUBLIC appreciation is in order at this time for the Oregon Women's Ambulance Corps unit here, which is disbanding after several years of exceptional voluntary service.

The women of the ambulance corps began their work as a war-time measure. They were an integral part of the civilian defense set-up here, and because they were needed, they continued to work long after civilian defense was practically suspended.

People who go their own ways, taking their pleasures and entertainment when they want to, do not realize what is required in volunteer work of the kind given by the OWAC.

Recognizing the good work done by the corps, the Klamath Elks lodge presented it with an ambulance in March of 1943.

This outstanding work won the Klamath girls first honors in the state. They deserved it, and they deserve high honor at home.

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The day's news portrays increasingly the perplexities of human existence. A drinking clique of high schoolers in Washington has reached the front pages with escapades which rather indicate that they are in control and not to be trifled with.

Texas, with petroleum and sulphur, ranks first among the states in the value of minerals produced.

by the citizens of my community, asserted their rights to destroy on Halloween; in fact the citizens melted away and the vandals were rather invited to maintain their rights.

Personally, I wanted to take their soap away from them on the ground that they could not possibly be wanting to use it to wash their faces, and I thought the possession of soap on Halloween rather showed conclusively that they wished to rub cars and windows in a way which would represent their personal signature of destruction permanently.

Why Is This?

WHY is this? In my younger days I saw kids carving their initials in the wrong places, generally in washrooms. They put obscene words there. Now they write these in soap on your front screen.

In our community they get it now. I will admit our community is about as badly run as any in the world.

Each individual peculiarity of the people is played upon by those who make it their business to do so (bus companies, so they will not furnish service; electric light companies so they will have the upper hand, and so on down the line of despicable little selfish interests.)

Why in my community the Baptists hate the Presbyterians, who in turn hate the Episcopalians who in the usual order hate the Catholics, and hates beyond these common ordinary distrusts are used by the controlling authorities so that the people never win.

The democrats hate the republicans and vice versa. The shopkeepers hate the customers, etc. Practically everyone hates everyone else, for some reason or another.

That I know, can understand and accept, but when I see morons, such as these children are, using such hates and other devices escaping common punishment for misdeeds; rising above decency to impose their destructive will upon adults, indeed asserting and getting a right to do so—I begin to wonder, as you all have, confronted in one way or another with the same circumstances.

Counsels Democratic Way

I WROTE a book on this subject, "The Ease Era," which is selling like a new notion eagerly wanted and grasped by the people. It counseled the democratic way of handling these modern offenses against society.

Frankly I am wondering if appeals to reason are possible; if the democratic way will suffice, whether we need a youth draft and domination to make people believe, as you all do when you see injustice imposed upon you.

But when such doubts assail me, and I wish for a dictator who would really put vandalism in its place and bury injustice in its moronic grave, I realize that what is wrong is that the forces of true democracy are not working.

I know then, that what is wrong is that evil merely has gotten the upper hand. Delusions have seized righteousness. Common honesty has lost its grip. So what? Turn us over to a dictator? Not by any concepts of insane imagination.

We have erroneously allowed our youngsters to believe evil influence is democracy, that crooks, sexual impulses, selfish interests, are justifiable—because you should be "understanding," as Mrs. R. has said. We let those influences run our children and ourselves.

Time To Assert Good

THIS is a crisis. It is time to assert good. Adults must not melt away in the face of childish assertions of influence.

The trouble is not with democracy, but with the fact that decency is not working, does not impose its will, is not assertive and belligerent, but is inclined to retire in the face of danger.

There must be no other thought in your imagination. Do not permit schemers to use your likes and dislikes. Think only of your own ultimate welfare.

This is a new world. Know your children, know your schools, know the people about you. Never permit impositions upon your intelligence by anyone.

No American is ever cowed, is ever forced to sling away to domination by morons, children and fools. Arise and assert yourselves. That is all that is necessary—to maintain that.

Total Spud Crop Reported Little Affected By Frost

Last week's prospect on freezing damage was a little bit optimistic. Some freeze did occur in Idaho but reports are conflicting.

Other areas appear safe, or nearly so. Red River valley still is a little doubtful with all storage bulging and some digging to do. Twin Falls, Idaho, could be damaged some—maybe some other areas.

Shipping Report

Shipments last week were down a little from the previous 7-day period with a 6-day average of 1080 cars. Significant declines are reported in Colorado and Idaho, while Maine, Minnesota, New Jersey, Long Island and Washington increased a little.

Total shipments to date contrast rather sharply with last year. Only five important areas now show an increase in spite of the vastly larger crop (Long Island, Nebraska, Oregon, Washington and Wisconsin).

The World Today

By DeWITT MacKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

For almost a generation now lights of hope from time to time have gleamed through the darkness surrounding the problem of establishing a Jewish national home in Palestine.

One good indication is that England seems anxious for aid in carrying out the responsibility of her Palestine mandate.

Observations anticipate that British Prime Minister Attlee will raise the Palestine question during his visit to President Truman.

Agitation for a sewage system for the town has started.

After several days of winter, Klamath appeared today to be on its way to a return to seasonal conditions.

IT WAS THIS WAY—ROSEBURG, Ore., Nov. 5 (AP) This story didn't go over very well.

A Drain, Ore., man was fined $500 and received a six months jail sentence when he pleaded guilty to swearing out a false complaint that two sailors had assaulted and robbed him.

Corporation income taxes collected by states more than tripled between 1939 and 1945, reaching $460,000,000 in 1945.

Nothing new on S-1396, the basic commodity bill; hearings not yet scheduled.

man a week hence. There has been no official statement to this effect, but it would be a logical move in view of the disorders in Palestine and Egypt.

Humanitarian Angle But the thing cuts deeper than the political dangers. There is the humanitarian angle. Untold thousands of Jewish people in Europe are facing a winter of terrible suffering and even starvation.

What looks like another flash of hope is seen in the statement issued by Musa Bey el Alami, Palestine Arab delegate to the powerful Pan-Arab league.
