

Nips Starved Prisoners; Girl Sobs As She Tells Of Heinous Brutalities

By JAMES TALSERMA
MANILA, Nov. 6 (AP)—A Spanish priest and a Filipino laborer, testifying at the war criminal trial of Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, recounted today the starvation, torture and massacre of 6000 Filipino and Chinese civilians by Japanese troops before the fall of Manila last spring.

Father Belarmino Decelis of the Spanish Augustinian order, said that last February 5 the Japanese jammed the 6000 civilians into the ancient church of St. Augustine, oldest building in Manila.

Air Grass
The men were thrown into the old dungeons which served the Spanish 100 years ago. Women and children he said, were kept without food in the church compound until they were so hungry they ate the grass and roots of the patio gardens.

On February 9, the men were taken out and forced to stand in the open streets under heavy artillery fire and then marched to Fort Santiago, where the burning and slayings took place. Juan Paloda, the Filipino, testified he was one of 100 packed into a stone dungeon 20 feet square. He was stabbed later, and left for dead in a pit with 500 other bodies.

Defense attorneys sought to show that the civilians in the historic old area might have died in the all-out American attack with tanks, point blank artillery fire, grenades and flamethrowers.

Bayonet Wounds
Earlier, an 11-year-old girl, Rosalinda Andoy, showed the military commission conducting the trial the scars of 38 bayonet wounds. She sobbed softly as she told of her mistreatment and the death of her family at the hands of the Japanese invaders. Her father was taken away to be murdered, and her mother and her aunts were bayoneted before her eyes. Even while her mother told her to "be a

COURT DISMISSES WARD'S COMPLAINT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—The supreme court refused today to rule on the validity of the government's wartime seizure of Montgomery Ward and company properties in seven cities.

This action was in line with the justice department's request that the court refuse to consider the case. The department contended that since the army relinquished control of the properties in October, there was no longer any basis for a high court ruling.

Wards countered with a petition insisting on a ruling and asserting another seizure of its property was probable.

The U. S. circuit court at Chicago in a 2-1 decision had held the seizure legal. In dismissing the complaint, the supreme court ordered the judgment of the circuit court vacated and sent the case back to the district court with directions that it dismiss the case as being "moot."

By this the court indicated that it considered the case one in which there was no longer any cause for action.

good girl, dearest," a Japanese used the woman for a live bayonet target, the frail girl testified.

Sister Nelly, a nun of the Order of St. Paul, recounted how a doctor was slain in cold blood as he sought to save the life of Father Cornelius Van Russell, who had been wounded fatally as he sought to remonstrate with the Japanese. The Japanese doused the doctor and his patient with gasoline, hung them to lamp posts and set them afire, she testified.
