requests for holiday pay and group insurance were also denied.

The union officials declared that "this whole situation now lies in the laps of the Pacific coast association of pulp and paper manufacturers. We have done our best to adjust the issue, and for the first time in 11 years, have failed."

The field secretary of the association said he had no comment at present. Association heads were out of the city.

The annual wage conference of unions and employers—successful for 10 years in writing industry-wide working and wage conditions—ended a stalemate last May. The unions then carried the dispute to the war labor board.

day more pay. Republic challenged the request.

At the same time the ground-work was laid for a wage discussion in the shipbuilding and repair industry. Ernest A. McMillan, chairman of the national shipbuilding stabilization committee, said there would be a conference on the subject December 4. He will choose the site later.

The ship workers want 30 per cent more wages.

in an atmosphere of clabbered secrecy, with the public told about it AFTER it has happened. So we can only guess.

THERE are two interesting slants in the domestic news today.

Senator Revercomb, of the senate military affairs committee, asserts that the voluntary enlistment program is getting ALL THE MEN the army and navy need. If that is true, and CONTINUES, it means that congress will NOT vote peace-time conscription at any time soon.

The Washington transport workers strike is petering out quickly. It is TOO CLOSE TO CONGRESS. Too many people IN WASHINGTON have been compelled to walk to work— which Washington people don't like.

Such things, happening under the NOSE of congress, could lead to restrictive legislation.

possibility that the two men may have stolen a car earlier in the evening, although they were walking when arrested. Crumpacker, Humble said, admitted having a car at the scene of the robbery, but denied stealing it.

A car, a 1935 Ford, was reported stolen from Charles Malow, route 2, and was recovered a short time later Monday night on Pine street.

Both Crumpacker and Thill have previous criminal records. Crumpacker served two years in prison at Walla Walla, Wash., for burglary, and Thill spent six months in the boys' training school at Woodburn for larceny in 1936.

Both are confined in the county jail now with bail set at $10,000 each.

City Police Feud With Shore Patrol

PORTLAND, Nov. 7 (AP)—City police and shore patrolmen clashed verbally today over whether six sailors should be arrested. Police won.

A night club complained the sailors were over-rowsdy. Patrolmen ordered them to leave, and turned them over to shore patrolmen.

The shore patrol released the sailors, police said, and the men turned up at the club again. After this happened twice, police took the six sailors to jail.

CIO TO REFER PAY OFFER TO MEMBERSHIP

ready been rejected, the AFL committee reported. Earlier the AFL chairman, John Christenson, had indicated the plywood settlement would be the most troublesome to negotiate.

CIO International Woodworkers of America councils and operators were continuing meetings resulting in the same action decided Saturday by the IWA and Big Fir operators.

The IWA Columbia River council, with 16,000 members in western Oregon and southern Washington mills, voted last night to ask its membership to ratify the 12 1/2 cent offer.

The IWA originally asked 25 cents an hour and continued to work while negotiating. The AFL Sawmill and Lumber Workers struck September 25 when negotiations broke down over the $1.10 minimum throughout the industry.

fare-payers of their usual mode of travel.

The dispute in Akron was at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, where production was halted at its two main plants as CIO workers refused to pass picket lines in a dispute involving the rescheduling of 1800 maintenance and engineering employees from a six to an eight-hour day.

Picketing A CIO-United Rubber Workers spokesman said "unauthorized" picketing began at the plants after workers refused to return to an eight-hour day as directed by the company and an impartial arbiter.

The company ordered machines shut off during the two-hour periods and the union charged a "lockout" and said it would demand production workers be paid for layoffs. The number of employed made idle by the controversy was not immediately determined.

The executive boards of three labor councils in the San Francisco bay area planned to meet today to decide whether some 40,000 members made idle by a strike of 12,000 AFL and CIO machinists will continue to observe picket lines. The strike, in its ninth day, started over demands for 30 per cent wage hikes.

The first break in the strike of textile workers in New England states came as a CIO union official said 1000 of the strikers at three Connecticut plants of Powdermill and Alexander, Inc., would return to work today.

He said an agreement effected by a federal conciliator gives the strikers a closed shop, an hourly minimum of 65 cents, an 8-cent general increase, 7 cents hourly premium for third shift workers, and other benefits. About 17,000 other workers in Maine, Rhode Island and New Hampshire are striking for 30 per cent wage hikes and the closed shop.

CIO-organized workers at the American Brass company, in Waterbury, Conn., have voted 5444 to 559 to strike for 30 per cent pay raises and compensatory bonus for third shift workers. A CIO spokesman said efforts will be made to effect a "peaceful settlement of issues" and no date was set for the walkout.

60-Day POW's To Be Discharged

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—The war department today authorized immediate honorable discharge from the army of soldiers who were prisoners of the enemy for at least 60 days.

The action making the army policy in this matter uniform with that of the navy and marine corps, was made to apply to all soldiers who were out of U. S. control in enemy or enemy-occupied territory under honorable conditions for as long as 60 days. Discharge points will not figure at all.

The department estimated 25,000 men would be eligible for such discharges.

RAILROAD SIGNALS URGED BY CHAMBER

The board of directors of the Klamath County chamber of commerce went on record at noon today strongly urging immediate action in installing electric wig-wags at the three OCE crossings at Hager, Summers lane and Olene.

Resolutions were addressed to the Southern Pacific, Great Northern, public utilities commissioner at Salem and the Oregon state highway commission in an effort to avoid tragedies such as that which occurred Saturday night when three persons were killed at the Hager crossing.

The board received word of the belated support by the Portland chamber of commerce of Klamath Falls' effort to get mainline air service. The Portland chamber board took action to support Klamath Falls after the aviation committee and retail trade committee of the Portland group had indicated an unsympathetic attitude toward this city's efforts.

judges, W. Heber Dithrich and John C. Arnold, in statewide elections.

Republicans Win

Republicans won the mayoralties of Syracuse and Buffalo with Frank J. Costello and Bernard J. Dowd, respectively, but democrats showed considerable strength in other upstate New York cities.

In the 4th New Jersey district republicans retained control of the seat resigned by D. Lane Powers. Frank A. Mathews, Jr., organization GOP candidate, ran well ahead in a three man race. Frank S. Katzenbach, 3d, regular democratic nominee, was second.

The 24th Illinois district also elected a republican to congress — Roy Clippinger — but he had no major opposition. Clippinger succeeded the late Rep. James D. Heidinger, republican. Mathews' victory in New Jersey made the house line-up: democrats 241, republicans 191, American labor 1, progressive 1, vacancy (in New Mexico) 1.

In the only gubernatorial contest, Lieut. Gov. William M. Tuck was elected governor of Virginia by better than two to one over two opponents. He carried his ticket with him, including Lewis Preston Collins for lieutenant governor, and A. P. Staples, reelected as attorney general.

NO TRACE FOUND OF MISSING YOUNGSTER

DOWNIEVILLE, Calif., Nov. 7 (AP)—The formal search by army troops, townspeople, trackers and forest rangers for blond, blue-eyed, three-year-old Dickie tum Suden, son of a prominent San Francisco bay area mining family, was at an end today.

The youngster disappeared last Thursday morning from his home at Goodyear Bar in northern California, high in the Mother Lode country of the Sierra Nevadas.

Only tangible clues during the six days of the hunt were discovery of the boy's mitten, and footprints believed made by his tiny galoshes. Trained dogs were unable to pick up his trail and the entire area beyond which he might have wandered was thoroughly searched.

Futile

As first snows of the winter "swirled over the area the boy's father, Joseph tum Suden, announced further patrolling would be futile.

"This does not mean that investigative efforts will cease... but time and weather elements make it improbable that return of the child alive will be accomplished by further use of the facilities so far employed," he said.

There has been no confirmation of rumors that federal authorities would enter the case and continue the hunt for the child. No kidnaper note has been reported received by the family, and officials on the scene have lost little credence to the kidnapping theory.
