TIME-PRESSED PRESIDENT SLASHES CALLING LIST

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—President Truman is trimming his White House calling list sharply this week to permit him to grapple with grave home front and diplomatic problems.

In contrast to the 15 or more separate engagements that normally crowd his calendar each day, Mr. Truman had only four each, Monday and yesterday.

Associates spoke of this as evidence of a second phase of his administration. They told a reporter it was a further indication of Mr. Truman's determination to assume a more aggressive course of administration and party leadership as contrasted with greater emphasis in the past on delegated authority.

The calling list decision followed previous cancellation of a series of scheduled presidential trips this month and next.

List Limited

Mr. Truman's engagement list Monday was limited to Clifford W. Gaylord of St. Louis, a labor-management conference delegate; Paul V. McNutt, high commissioner of the Philippines; General of the Army George C. Marshall and a Christmas seal campaign worker.

Yesterday the chief executive talked with Wayne C. Taylor, president of the Exports-Imports bank; Preston Lane, Hagerstown, Md., newspaper publisher and democratic national committeeman; some magazine officials, and had his picture taken with members of the Adjutants General association.

A White House aide, who asked that he not be quoted by name, told a reporter the president cut his calling list to devote more of his time to:

1. Telephone and other conferences with administration advisers watching the labor-management conference for any possible spark of agreement.

2. Preparation for his weekend discussions here with Prime Ministers Attlee of Great Britain and MacKenzie King of Canada concerning future use and control of atomic energy.

3. Reports on the Far Eastern advisory commission which met here for the second time yesterday with Soviet Russia still absent.

Flashes of Life

HENRY FORD WINS

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Nov. 7 (AP)—Henry Ford is the new mayor of Kalamazoo—but his business is law and not automobiles.

Attorney Ford, no relation to the Dearborn Fords, polled the greatest number of votes yesterday to elect seven members of the city council. As a result, he succeeds to the mayoralty.

POPULAR

STEVENSON, Wash., Nov. 7 (AP)—Justice of Peace Cleo Brown has decided there must be something special about his marriage service.

A Portland couple whose names seemed familiar were married yesterday. After the ceremony the bridegroom said his relatives insisted Justice Brown perform the nuptials — nobody else.

Brown last week married a daughter, her mother and a grandmother from Bridegroom Robert C. Jacob's family.

Klamath Basin Harvest Completed

Harvesting in Klamath basin to all practical purposes, is over, County Agent Charles A. Henderson said today.

A very minor per cent of the onion and potato crops may still be in the ground in scattered fields, he said, and these may be dug all winter as weather permits.

Wet fields where the moisture has penetrated are in danger of field frosts if low temperatures follow rain and any crops remaining underground would be damaged.

OSC Rushing Period Will Open Thursday

CORVALLIS, Nov. 7 (AP)—Rushing period at Oregon State college will open tomorrow, but only seven of the 20 fraternities plan to return to peacetime pledging.

The rest are not expected to begin pledging and full-scale operation until spring or fall.

Merchants Differ On Prewar Hours

PORTLAND, Nov. 7 (AP)—Differences of opinion among Portland merchants on the recommended return to pre-war store hours were to be aired today at a special meeting of the Portland retail bureau.

Opposition to the shift to earlier opening and closing has developed among men's clothing and haberdashery shops, Bureau President A. W. Molin reported.

The Portland Traction company earlier voiced opposition to any return to the 9 to 5 schedule because shortage of equipment would not allow handling of the peak load of down-town workers.

Cooperative Would Close Jap Canteens

TULELAKE — The general assembly of the Tulelake Cooperative Enterprises, Inc., has adopted a resolution to close the canteens which have been operated in the Japanese segregation center on November 30. The announcement was made Monday by Lionel Perkins, business enterprises director of WRA, cashing of personal checks was discontinued Monday. Cashing of government checks will be continued until the business closes.

The cooperative has served residents of the colony for distribution of all mercantile needs.

Methodists Form Wesley Fellowship

SALEM, Nov. 7 (AP) — Methodist groups at Willamette university merged today into the Wesley Fellowship, with Evelyn Chapman, Portland, as president.

Other officers include: Vicky Jones, Silverton, vice president; Dorothy Libby, Albany, secretary, and Wally Baumer, Portland, treasurer.

Freta Henerickson, Roseburg, is publicity chairman.

LUMBERMEN TO HEAR PLAN OF LAND OFFICE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—The general land office has a plan designed to maintain the economic stability of the lumber industry in the Pacific northwest and the communities that depend on the industry for existence.

The general pattern of the program was disclosed today in an announcement by Secretary of Interior Ickes that the first of a series of meetings to discuss the plan with state and local officials will begin at Eugene, Oregon, December 3.

Representatives of the lumber industry, land owners, labor and residents of the area were invited to present statements at the hearing.

The plan calls for agreements between the federal and state governments and private timber operators to maintain a reasonable balance between tree cutting and tree growing on lands under their jurisdiction.

It calls for the establishment of 12 master units embracing more than 8,000,000 acres of intermingled public and privately owned land in Oregon and California. The 12 master units will be broken down into more than 100 smaller units for the accomplishment of sustained timber yield by mutual forestry management agreements.

In each master unit, reforestation, tree cutting, processing and marketing would be geared to sustain the economy of the lumber towns within the unit. The plan is designed to prevent the possibility of ghost towns in areas where timber resources might be depleted to a point where the lumber business no longer can support the community.

Firemen Extinguish Blaze In Auto

The fire laddies were right handy for T. H. Massey when he drove his car to the station at 3:15 p. m. Monday with the front cushion on fire. The blaze was put out with a garden hose and one minute later the firemen were called out to 107 Old Fort road where an overheated oil stove threatened the Alice Rudd residence. Occupant was F. E. Ball. There was no damage.

At 10:24 p. m. Monday the truck was called to 527 Upham where a second overheated oil stove was reported. There was no damage at this residence either, firemen said.

Firemen were called to Riverside school where rags in a storeroom had caught fire at 11:45 a. m., Tuesday. No damage was done. No students were in the building at the time as classes were dismissed in all grade schools Tuesday.

What's so extra special about this sauce?

LET'S ASK THE WOMEN WHO COOK WITH DEL MONTE!

2 out of 3 of them have used it more than 10 years

Yes, Del Monte Tomato Sauce has been the grand old cooking sauce of western housewives, for years! Was their favorite—is their favorite!

And even during the war, when it was hard to get, they didn't forget it. Certainly not!

How do we know? Well, one of America's largest independent research organizations went out and asked them.*

And what did Del Monte users say about Del Monte Tomato Sauce? Plenty! Enthusiasm such as even we never expected! Just listen to Mrs. Reynolds, for instance:

"In 30 years I've found no finer tomato flavor"

—Says MRS. IDA REYNOLDS, 2311 BROADWAY, SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

You're really an old-time California cook?

Yes, and I just wouldn't know how to cook without Del Monte Tomato Sauce—especially now with food prices so high. It does so much for plain meats, for egg dishes and fish—almost anything. It costs so little, too—and my family never gets tired of tomato flavor.

Have you tried other sauces?

Oh, yes, I'm always willing to give new products a fair trial. I've tried other sauces—tomato juice and catsup, too. But for nice red color and good tomato flavor, there just isn't anything like Del Monte Tomato Sauce to me. I know I can always depend on it.

Do you do much cooking now, Mrs. Reynolds?

I certainly do—and always have. Seems there's always a crowd of hungry young folks popping in here. But I always say I can turn out a good appetizing meal if I have a little meat or cheese and a can of Del Monte Tomato Sauce in the house. I've never failed to make a hit with my Tomato-Corn Rarebit recipe. It's an old-timer, too.

And here is Mrs. Reynold's recipe for TOMATO-CORN RAREBIT

1 recipe corn bread or buttered toast
3 tbsps. butter
3 tbsps. chopped green pepper
1 cup American Cheese, grated or thinly sliced
1 can Whole Kernel Corn
1 tsp. chile powder
Salt and pepper to taste
Dash of celery salt or cayenne
1 egg, lightly beaten
1 can Del Monte Tomato Sauce
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1 cup hot water

First make a recipe of corn bread and put it to bake, or prepare hot, buttered toast. If corn bread is used, 15 minutes before it is done, make Tomato-Corn Rarebit as follows: Melt the butter in a heavy skillet, add chopped green pepper and saute over very low heat until tender. Add the grated or thinly sliced cheese. Continue to cook over very low heat until cheese is melted. Stir constantly. Combine the beaten egg and the Tomato Sauce. Add with the remaining ingredients. (You'll like Del Monte Golden Whole Kernel Corn for this recipe—it's so nice and tender.) Heat thoroughly. Serve at once on golden-brown corn bread, hot from the oven, or on hot buttered toast. Serves 4-5.

—and the last thing she said was BE SURE IT'S
