

Congressmen Scrap Over Military Youth Training

By MAX HILL
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Congressmen got into a scrap over universal military training today after Secretary of War Patterson said it is essential to American security and world peace.

As he finished, Rep. Short (R-Mo.) popped a surprise motion to delay consideration of a training bill until next year—or at least until the senate has voted. The move was blocked on a technical rule, however.

The Missouriian said he'd be back with his motion tomorrow. He told reporters:

"You can say this bill is dead; it would be dead right now if we had been allowed to vote this morning."

Patterson contended that the only justification for requiring every young American to give a year of his life to military training is that:

"It is needed to give the United States security and to make it possible for us to underwrite world peace."

On one of the busiest days of the postwar congress, this also happened:

Assured Information
A senate-house committee investigating the Pearl Harbor disaster is assured of any information it wants. The White House said President Truman had ordered heads of all government agencies to authorize their employees to give the committee "any information of which they may have knowledge."

Speaker Rayburn thinks the house will "get somewhere pretty soon" on a so-called "full employment" bill. He said so after congressional leaders talked with the president.

Rayburn announced Prime Minister Attlee of Great Britain will be invited to make a speech to congress next week.

Auto dealers crowded a house committee room to talk about the price of new cars. More than 300 lawmakers turned up at one time or another to hear them.

More than $335,085 of the money due for 1945-46 county taxes has been collected and reported for by the county tax collector up until today, representing approximately 17 percent of the $2,089,968 total on the tax roll.

Persons wishing to pay their taxes by November 15 and take advantage of a three per cent rebate on amounts paid in full, are urged to mail their checks and tax statements in rather than to come to the office.

First quarterly payments are due on November 15 and officials are expecting such a rush the last day or two they advise persons who can to make their payment by mail.

The tax office will be closed Saturday afternoon, Sunday and Monday, making only four and one-half more business days before first-quarter deadline.

OREGON HITS NEW MARK IN JOBLESS PAY

SALEM, Nov. 8 (AP)—Oregon's unemployment benefits last month totaled $436,037, highest October on record and $591 more than the total for the first nine months of this year, the state unemployment compensation commission said today.

Slowing down of lumber activities and return of veterans to civilian life was the reason for the big increase, the commission said, predicting that jobless benefits would increase even more rapidly during the winter.

Payments were made to 653 persons in the last week of August, shortly after the war ended. This jumped to 3319 a month later, and to 8005 last week.

While striking lumber workers cannot receive benefits, thousands of other workers have lost their jobs because of the strike, the commission said.

Of the 25,041 checks mailed last month, 15 per cent went to workers in other states. Weekly benefits averaged $16.91 for those remaining in Oregon, and $16.28 to those who left the state.

The highest previous benefit total for an October was $212,653 in October, 1938. The peaks usually come in late winter.
