

Langell Valley

LANGELL VALLEY — Lt. and Mrs. Bob Seater spent the past 10 days in Seattle visiting relatives and friends. Lt. Seater left Monday by plane for Alaska to visit his mother and father, whom he hasn't seen for five years.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Conley have sold their ranch to Mr. and Mrs. Buster Adamson of Klamath Falls. They plan to leave in a few weeks to look for a new home. Their daughter Mrs. Harold Cox and children will return to their home in Klamath Falls to live.

Mrs. Mary Leidy spent Monday in Klamath Falls visiting relatives. Mrs. Anna Gift of Oakland, is visiting her son Lloyd Gift and family.

Mrs. Johnnie Campbell and new daughter Sandra Kay arrived home on Wednesday from Hillside hospital.

Mrs. Clay Walker and her sister, Mrs. Kittredge, left for Seattle to visit their sister.

Clara Ritter and Cloe Bradley were home from Corvallis for the weekend.

Dick Peppie is home on a 15 day leave from the navy to visit with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Owen Peppie and other relatives and friends.

Mrs. Mike Dearborn entertained with a dinner Thursday in honor of her son Mark on his birthday. Guests were Mrs. Mary Dearborn, Mrs. Reginald Thomas and Margaret Jane.

Mrs. Lester Leavitt, Allan Richards, Henry Dearborn and Mark.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Walker spent several days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Walker. Glen was recently discharged from the navy, after several years in the South Pacific.

Buck Boley arrived recently from England and has received his discharge from the army. He is in Klamath Falls with his wife, the former Madge Fitzhugh.

Mrs. Claude Murray spent several days last week visiting friends on the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Foote and son of Henley visited friends in Langell valley on Friday.

Doris Leavitt spent several days at Bonanza with her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Dearborn.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Lubbes of Newburg visited their daughter last week, Mrs. Walt Wilson, also their son Lloyd Lubbes at Malin. Other visitors at the Wilson home were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wirts and daughter of McMinnville, Ed Miller of Grants Pass, Bob Phipps of Portland and Oscar Harper of Coos Bay.

Summit Residents

Eye Big Snowfall

CASCADE SUMMIT, Ore., Nov. 8—An early snowstorm swept over the high Cascades and deposited 12 inches of snow at the summit. Whether the snow will stay on the ground for the winter is a question which is being discussed greatly by the natives here. In 1935 a snowstorm on October 20, left a blanket of snow and bare ground was not again seen until in May of the next year.

Edward E. Knowles returned to his former position here as telegrapher for the Southern Pacific company after spending the summer as relief dispatcher in Portland and Eugene. He was only here a few days though when he was again called to Portland as relief dispatcher. Dorothy Hukill of Arizona is taking his place here.

Mr. and Mrs. James Poag and son, Johnnie, motored to Salem Saturday evening to visit relatives. On their return trip snow had fallen and just before they reached home the steering apparatus of the car broke. Fortunately Poag was able to stop the car before an accident occurred.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lee have moved from Cascade Summit to McCredie Springs. Lee is powder gang foreman for the Southern Pacific company. The Lee gang of about 12 men has been stationed at Cascade Summit for the past two months where it has been removing rocks from the right-of-way.

Summit Lodge has closed its doors to the public for the winter months. Mr. and Mrs. Hall report a very good season.

A. C. Nagel is opening his trap line for the winter. Nagel came here in the winter of 1928 to regain his health and has remained to trap each winter since except for one winter spent in defense work.

Summit Residents

Eye Big Snowfall

CASCADE SUMMIT, Ore., Nov. 8—An early snowstorm swept over the high Cascades and deposited 12 inches of snow at the summit. Whether the snow will stay on the ground for the winter is a question which is being discussed greatly by the natives here. In 1935 a snowstorm on October 20, left a blanket of snow and bare ground was not again seen until in May of the next year.

Edward E. Knowles returned to his former position here as telegrapher for the Southern Pacific company after spending the summer as relief dispatcher in Portland and Eugene. He was only here a few days though when he was again called to Portland as relief dispatcher. Dorothy Hukill of Arizona is taking his place here.

Mr. and Mrs. James Poag and son, Johnnie, motored to Salem Saturday evening to visit relatives. On their return trip snow had fallen and just before they reached home the steering apparatus of the car broke. Fortunately Poag was able to stop the car before an accident occurred.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lee have moved from Cascade Summit to McCredie Springs. Lee is powder gang foreman for the Southern Pacific company. The Lee gang of about 12 men has been stationed at Cascade Summit for the past two months where it has been removing rocks from the right-of-way.

Summit Lodge has closed its doors to the public for the winter months. Mr. and Mrs. Hall report a very good season.

A. C. Nagel is opening his trap line for the winter. Nagel came here in the winter of 1928 to regain his health and has remained to trap each winter since except for one winter spent in defense work.

Summit Residents

Eye Big Snowfall

CASCADE SUMMIT, Ore., Nov. 8—An early snowstorm swept over the high Cascades and deposited 12 inches of snow at the summit. Whether the snow will stay on the ground for the winter is a question which is being discussed greatly by the natives here. In 1935 a snowstorm on October 20, left a blanket of snow and bare ground was not again seen until in May of the next year.

Edward E. Knowles returned to his former position here as telegrapher for the Southern Pacific company after spending the summer as relief dispatcher in Portland and Eugene. He was only here a few days though when he was again called to Portland as relief dispatcher. Dorothy Hukill of Arizona is taking his place here.

Mr. and Mrs. James Poag and son, Johnnie, motored to Salem Saturday evening to visit relatives. On their return trip snow had fallen and just before they reached home the steering apparatus of the car broke. Fortunately Poag was able to stop the car before an accident occurred.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lee have moved from Cascade Summit to McCredie Springs. Lee is powder gang foreman for the Southern Pacific company. The Lee gang of about 12 men has been stationed at Cascade Summit for the past two months where it has been removing rocks from the right-of-way.

Summit Lodge has closed its doors to the public for the winter months. Mr. and Mrs. Hall report a very good season.

A. C. Nagel is opening his trap line for the winter. Nagel came here in the winter of 1928 to regain his health and has remained to trap each winter since except for one winter spent in defense work.

Summit Residents

Eye Big Snowfall

CASCADE SUMMIT, Ore., Nov. 8—An early snowstorm swept over the high Cascades and deposited 12 inches of snow at the summit. Whether the snow will stay on the ground for the winter is a question which is being discussed greatly by the natives here. In 1935 a snowstorm on October 20, left a blanket of snow and bare ground was not again seen until in May of the next year.

Edward E. Knowles returned to his former position here as telegrapher for the Southern Pacific company after spending the summer as relief dispatcher in Portland and Eugene. He was only here a few days though when he was again called to Portland as relief dispatcher. Dorothy Hukill of Arizona is taking his place here.

Mr. and Mrs. James Poag and son, Johnnie, motored to Salem Saturday evening to visit relatives. On their return trip snow had fallen and just before they reached home the steering apparatus of the car broke. Fortunately Poag was able to stop the car before an accident occurred.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lee have moved from Cascade Summit to McCredie Springs. Lee is powder gang foreman for the Southern Pacific company. The Lee gang of about 12 men has been stationed at Cascade Summit for the past two months where it has been removing rocks from the right-of-way.

Summit Lodge has closed its doors to the public for the winter months. Mr. and Mrs. Hall report a very good season.

A. C. Nagel is opening his trap line for the winter. Nagel came here in the winter of 1928 to regain his health and has remained to trap each winter since except for one winter spent in defense work.

Summit Residents

Eye Big Snowfall

CASCADE SUMMIT, Ore., Nov. 8—An early snowstorm swept over the high Cascades and deposited 12 inches of snow at the summit. Whether the snow will stay on the ground for the winter is a question which is being discussed greatly by the natives here. In 1935 a snowstorm on October 20, left a blanket of snow and bare ground was not again seen until in May of the next year.

Edward E. Knowles returned to his former position here as telegrapher for the Southern Pacific company after spending the summer as relief dispatcher in Portland and Eugene. He was only here a few days though when he was again called to Portland as relief dispatcher. Dorothy Hukill of Arizona is taking his place here.

Mr. and Mrs. James Poag and son, Johnnie, motored to Salem Saturday evening to visit relatives. On their return trip snow had fallen and just before they reached home the steering apparatus of the car broke. Fortunately Poag was able to stop the car before an accident occurred.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lee have moved from Cascade Summit to McCredie Springs. Lee is powder gang foreman for the Southern Pacific company. The Lee gang of about 12 men has been stationed at Cascade Summit for the past two months where it has been removing rocks from the right-of-way.

Summit Lodge has closed its doors to the public for the winter months. Mr. and Mrs. Hall report a very good season.

A. C. Nagel is opening his trap line for the winter. Nagel came here in the winter of 1928 to regain his health and has remained to trap each winter since except for one winter spent in defense work.

Summit Residents

Eye Big Snowfall

CASCADE SUMMIT, Ore., Nov. 8—An early snowstorm swept over the high Cascades and deposited 12 inches of snow at the summit. Whether the snow will stay on the ground for the winter is a question which is being discussed greatly by the natives here. In 1935 a snowstorm on October 20, left a blanket of snow and bare ground was not again seen until in May of the next year.

Edward E. Knowles returned to his former position here as telegrapher for the Southern Pacific company after spending the summer as relief dispatcher in Portland and Eugene. He was only here a few days though when he was again called to Portland as relief dispatcher. Dorothy Hukill of Arizona is taking his place here.

Mr. and Mrs. James Poag and son, Johnnie, motored to Salem Saturday evening to visit relatives. On their return trip snow had fallen and just before they reached home the steering apparatus of the car broke. Fortunately Poag was able to stop the car before an accident occurred.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lee have moved from Cascade Summit to McCredie Springs. Lee is powder gang foreman for the Southern Pacific company. The Lee gang of about 12 men has been stationed at Cascade Summit for the past two months where it has been removing rocks from the right-of-way.

Summit Lodge has closed its doors to the public for the winter months. Mr. and Mrs. Hall report a very good season.

A. C. Nagel is opening his trap line for the winter. Nagel came here in the winter of 1928 to regain his health and has remained to trap each winter since except for one winter spent in defense work.

Summit Residents

Eye Big Snowfall

CASCADE SUMMIT, Ore., Nov. 8—An early snowstorm swept over the high Cascades and deposited 12 inches of snow at the summit. Whether the snow will stay on the ground for the winter is a question which is being discussed greatly by the natives here. In 1935 a snowstorm on October 20, left a blanket of snow and bare ground was not again seen until in May of the next year.

Poe Valley

POE VALLEY — Minola Waldrip was a visitor at the Rex High home from Tulelake last week. The Highs are sorting their potatoes this week, with the Strunk family among those helping.

Harry Gilbert's spud field being dug this week, is about the last one in the valley to be harvested.

Web Van Meter of Bly was a caller here Monday.

Mrs. Emil Wells and daughter were shoppers in Klamath Falls from here Saturday.

Lucia Webber and Freda Hope were shoppers in Klamath Falls Wednesday, from Poe valley, as were Warren Moore, Bo Tucker and the Donald Roberts family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Nork and sons, Benny and Douglas, were visitors in the valley Sunday from Shasta way.

Warren and Arbee Roberts and John Nork attended a movie in Klamath Falls Sunday night.

Among shoppers in Klamath Falls from here Saturday were Clarence Webber, the Bo Tucker and Haines families and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Nork.

Clarence Webber went to Bly Friday to see Web Van Meter who is working up there.

A Halloween party was held at the Community hall Wednesday night for local children. Games were played and a good time was had by all present. A fine social was held at the hall here Saturday night.

Lillian Reiling is reported to be improving, after a recent bout with the flu.

Cascade

Mr. and Mrs. Ben I. Benson and children left here for Summit, Ore., where they will make their home. Benson was section foreman here for the past year and a half. He will work in the same capacity at Summit, which is on a branch line extending from Albany to Yaquina.

Mrs. Annette Hopps, Southern Pacific telegrapher here, is taking a month's leave and is on an extended trip which will take her to Minneapolis and St. Louis.

Edward E. Knowles returned to his former position here as telegrapher for the Southern Pacific company after spending the summer as relief dispatcher in Portland and Eugene. He was only here a few days though when he was again called to Portland as relief dispatcher. Dorothy Hukill of Arizona is taking his place here.

Mr. and Mrs. James Poag and son, Johnnie, motored to Salem Saturday evening to visit relatives. On their return trip snow had fallen and just before they reached home the steering apparatus of the car broke. Fortunately Poag was able to stop the car before an accident occurred.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lee have moved from Cascade Summit to McCredie Springs. Lee is powder gang foreman for the Southern Pacific company. The Lee gang of about 12 men has been stationed at Cascade Summit for the past two months where it has been removing rocks from the right-of-way.

Summit Lodge has closed its doors to the public for the winter months. Mr. and Mrs. Hall report a very good season.

A. C. Nagel is opening his trap line for the winter. Nagel came here in the winter of 1928 to regain his health and has remained to trap each winter since except for one winter spent in defense work.

Summit Residents

Eye Big Snowfall

CASCADE SUMMIT, Ore., Nov. 8—An early snowstorm swept over the high Cascades and deposited 12 inches of snow at the summit. Whether the snow will stay on the ground for the winter is a question which is being discussed greatly by the natives here. In 1935 a snowstorm on October 20, left a blanket of snow and bare ground was not again seen until in May of the next year.

Edward E. Knowles returned to his former position here as telegrapher for the Southern Pacific company after spending the summer as relief dispatcher in Portland and Eugene. He was only here a few days though when he was again called to Portland as relief dispatcher. Dorothy Hukill of Arizona is taking his place here.

Mr. and Mrs. James Poag and son, Johnnie, motored to Salem Saturday evening to visit relatives. On their return trip snow had fallen and just before they reached home the steering apparatus of the car broke. Fortunately Poag was able to stop the car before an accident occurred.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lee have moved from Cascade Summit to McCredie Springs. Lee is powder gang foreman for the Southern Pacific company. The Lee gang of about 12 men has been stationed at Cascade Summit for the past two months where it has been removing rocks from the right-of-way.

Summit Lodge has closed its doors to the public for the winter months. Mr. and Mrs. Hall report a very good season.

A. C. Nagel is opening his trap line for the winter. Nagel came here in the winter of 1928 to regain his health and has remained to trap each winter since except for one winter spent in defense work.

Summit Residents

Eye Big Snowfall

CASCADE SUMMIT, Ore., Nov. 8—An early snowstorm swept over the high Cascades and deposited 12 inches of snow at the summit. Whether the snow will stay on the ground for the winter is a question which is being discussed greatly by the natives here. In 1935 a snowstorm on October 20, left a blanket of snow and bare ground was not again seen until in May of the next year.

Edward E. Knowles returned to his former position here as telegrapher for the Southern Pacific company after spending the summer as relief dispatcher in Portland and Eugene. He was only here a few days though when he was again called to Portland as relief dispatcher. Dorothy Hukill of Arizona is taking his place here.

Mr. and Mrs. James Poag and son, Johnnie, motored to Salem Saturday evening to visit relatives. On their return trip snow had fallen and just before they reached home the steering apparatus of the car broke. Fortunately Poag was able to stop the car before an accident occurred.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lee have moved from Cascade Summit to McCredie Springs. Lee is powder gang foreman for the Southern Pacific company. The Lee gang of about 12 men has been stationed at Cascade Summit for the past two months where it has been removing rocks from the right-of-way.

Summit Lodge has closed its doors to the public for the winter months. Mr. and Mrs. Hall report a very good season.

A. C. Nagel is opening his trap line for the winter. Nagel came here in the winter of 1928 to regain his health and has remained to trap each winter since except for one winter spent in defense work.

Summit Residents

Eye Big Snowfall

CASCADE SUMMIT, Ore., Nov. 8—An early snowstorm swept over the high Cascades and deposited 12 inches of snow at the summit. Whether the snow will stay on the ground for the winter is a question which is being discussed greatly by the natives here. In 1935 a snowstorm on October 20, left a blanket of snow and bare ground was not again seen until in May of the next year.

Edward E. Knowles returned to his former position here as telegrapher for the Southern Pacific company after spending the summer as relief dispatcher in Portland and Eugene. He was only here a few days though when he was again called to Portland as relief dispatcher. Dorothy Hukill of Arizona is taking his place here.

Mr. and Mrs. James Poag and son, Johnnie, motored to Salem Saturday evening to visit relatives. On their return trip snow had fallen and just before they reached home the steering apparatus of the car broke. Fortunately Poag was able to stop the car before an accident occurred.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lee have moved from Cascade Summit to McCredie Springs. Lee is powder gang foreman for the Southern Pacific company. The Lee gang of about 12 men has been stationed at Cascade Summit for the past two months where it has been removing rocks from the right-of-way.

Summit Lodge has closed its doors to the public for the winter months. Mr. and Mrs. Hall report a very good season.

A. C. Nagel is opening his trap line for the winter. Nagel came here in the winter of 1928 to regain his health and has remained to trap each winter since except for one winter spent in defense work.

Summit Residents

Eye Big Snowfall

CASCADE SUMMIT, Ore., Nov. 8—An early snowstorm swept over the high Cascades and deposited 12 inches of snow at the summit. Whether the snow will stay on the ground for the winter is a question which is being discussed greatly by the natives here. In 1935 a snowstorm on October 20, left a blanket of snow and bare ground was not again seen until in May of the next year.

Edward E. Knowles returned to his former position here as telegrapher for the Southern Pacific company after spending the summer as relief dispatcher in Portland and Eugene. He was only here a few days though when he was again called to Portland as relief dispatcher. Dorothy Hukill of Arizona is taking his place here.

Mr. and Mrs. James Poag and son, Johnnie, motored to Salem Saturday evening to visit relatives. On their return trip snow had fallen and just before they reached home the steering apparatus of the car broke. Fortunately Poag was able to stop the car before an accident occurred.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lee have moved from Cascade Summit to McCredie Springs. Lee is powder gang foreman for the Southern Pacific company. The Lee gang of about 12 men has been stationed at Cascade Summit for the past two months where it has been removing rocks from the right-of-way.

Summit Lodge has closed its doors to the public for the winter months. Mr. and Mrs. Hall report a very good season.

A. C. Nagel is opening his trap line for the winter. Nagel came here in the winter of 1928 to regain his health and has remained to trap each winter since except for one winter spent in defense work.

Summit Residents

Eye Big Snowfall

CASCADE SUMMIT, Ore., Nov. 8—An early snowstorm swept over the high Cascades and deposited 12 inches of snow at the summit. Whether the snow will stay on the ground for the winter is a question which is being discussed greatly by the natives here. In 1935 a snowstorm on October 20, left a blanket of snow and bare ground was not again seen until in May of the next year.

Edward E. Knowles returned to his former position here as telegrapher for the Southern Pacific company after spending the summer as relief dispatcher in Portland and Eugene. He was only here a few days though when he was again called to Portland as relief dispatcher. Dorothy Hukill of Arizona is taking his place here.

Mr. and Mrs. James Poag and son, Johnnie, motored to Salem Saturday evening to visit relatives. On their return trip snow had fallen and just before they reached home the steering apparatus of the car broke. Fortunately Poag was able to stop the car before an accident occurred.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lee have moved from Cascade Summit to McCredie Springs. Lee is powder gang foreman for the Southern Pacific company. The Lee gang of about 12 men has been stationed at Cascade Summit for the past two months where it has been removing rocks from the right-of-way.

Summit Lodge has closed its doors to the public for the winter months. Mr. and Mrs. Hall report a very good season.

A. C. Nagel is opening his trap line for the winter. Nagel came here in the winter of 1928 to regain his health and has remained to trap each winter since except for one winter spent in defense work.

Summit Residents

Eye Big Snowfall

CASCADE SUMMIT, Ore., Nov. 8—An early snowstorm swept over the high Cascades and deposited 12 inches of snow at the summit. Whether the snow will stay on the ground for the winter is a question which is being discussed greatly by the natives here. In 1935 a snowstorm on October 20, left a blanket of snow and bare ground was not again seen until in May of the next year.

Edward E. Knowles returned to his former position here as telegrapher for the Southern Pacific company after spending the summer as relief dispatcher in Portland and Eugene. He was only here a few days though when he was again called to Portland as relief dispatcher. Dorothy Hukill of Arizona is taking his place here.

Mr. and Mrs. James Poag and son, Johnnie, motored to Salem Saturday evening to visit relatives. On their return trip snow had fallen and just before they reached home the steering apparatus of the car broke. Fortunately Poag was able to stop the car before an accident occurred.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lee have moved from Cascade Summit to McCredie Springs. Lee is powder gang foreman for the Southern Pacific company. The Lee gang of about 12 men has been stationed at Cascade Summit for the past two months where it has been removing rocks from the right-of-way.

Summit Lodge has closed its doors to the public for the winter months. Mr. and Mrs. Hall report a very good season.

A. C. Nagel is opening his trap line for the winter. Nagel came here in the winter of 1928 to regain his health and has remained to trap each winter since except for one winter spent in defense work.

Summit Residents

"I used to lie awake nights on two jims thinking of the things I was fighting for, and none of 'em faintly resembling that exam coming up tomorrow!"

Merrill

Mrs. R. C. Burleigh and little daughter, Patty, have returned from Portland where the child has been receiving treatment in Emmanuel hospital.

Cpl. Pinkney Beasley, U. S. army air corps mechanic on a B-17, has returned to Hendricks field, Fla., after spending a furlough here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Beasley, for two weeks. He has been in the service nearly two years. At the Beasley home also while Pinkney was here were the Beasley's daughter, Mrs. C. W. McPherson, her husband and two little daughters, Nancy and Marilyn, all of Enterprise, Utah.

Mrs. N. Bogue will be hostess November 13 to members of the flower arrangement class taught by Mrs. Hugh O'Connor and those who attend will make Thanksgiving arrangements. Mrs. Luther Haskins will be hostess to the class on December 4 for the pre-holiday lesson.

Cpl. Pinkney Beasley, U. S. army air corps mechanic on a B-17, has returned to Hendricks field, Fla., after spending a furlough here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Beasley, for two weeks. He has been in the serv-

Mrs. N. Bogue will be hostess November 13 to members of the flower arrangement class taught by Mrs. Hugh O'Connor and those who attend will make Thanksgiving arrangements. Mrs. Luther Haskins will be hostess to the class on December 4 for the pre-holiday lesson.

Cpl. Pinkney Beasley, U. S. army air corps mechanic on a B-17, has returned to Hendricks field, Fla., after spending a furlough here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Beasley, for two weeks. He has been in the serv-

Mrs. N. Bogue will be hostess November 13 to members of the flower arrangement class taught by Mrs. Hugh O'Connor and those who attend will make Thanksgiving arrangements. Mrs. Luther Haskins will be hostess to the class on December 4 for the pre-holiday lesson.

Cpl. Pinkney Beasley, U. S. army air corps mechanic on a B-17, has returned to Hendricks field, Fla., after spending a furlough here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Beasley, for two weeks. He has been in the serv-

Mrs. N. Bogue will be hostess November 13 to members of the flower arrangement class taught by Mrs. Hugh O'Connor and those who attend will make Thanksgiving arrangements. Mrs. Luther Haskins will be hostess to the class on December 4 for the pre-holiday lesson.

Cpl. Pinkney Beasley, U. S. army air corps mechanic on a B-17, has returned to Hendricks field, Fla., after spending a furlough here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Beasley, for two weeks. He has been in the serv-

Mrs. N. Bogue will be hostess November 13 to members of the flower arrangement class taught by Mrs. Hugh O'Connor and those who attend will make Thanksgiving arrangements. Mrs. Luther Haskins will be hostess to the class on December 4 for the pre-holiday lesson.

Cpl. Pinkney Beasley, U. S. army air corps mechanic on a B-17, has returned to Hendricks field, Fla., after spending a furlough here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Beasley, for two weeks