

U. S.-Russia Apart On Turkish Issues; Japanese Control

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Diplomatic
News Editor

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Negotiations between Moscow and Washington over a variety of problems ranging from Japan to Turkey appeared today to be farther from success than officials here had hoped.

Here is the situation:

1. Foreign Commissar Molotov has replied to an American proposal for an allied control agency in Tokyo which would be subordinate to the far eastern advisory commission in Washington. There are strong indications that Molotov turned down this proposal and that Secretary of State Byrnes is not inclined to compromise the issue further.
2. The United States has laid a four-point program for revising control of the Dardanelles before the Turkish government. This would give Russia some advantages in the use of the straits which she does not now have. But it falls far short of Russia's reported desire for military bases on the vital link between the Black sea and the Mediterranean.

3. A Russian-Turkish treaty of nonaggression and friendship which had run for many years expired yesterday following Soviet denunciation. Diplomatic officials say they fear that Russia may make a few psychological passes at Turkey in order to gain the right to set up Dardanelles bases on Turkish soil and also to win over certain territories in northeastern Turkey which the Russians have claimed.
4. The problem of the atomic bomb and peacetime uses of atomic energy becomes more acute between the two countries, in the opinion of diplomatic authorities, as the time approaches for conferences among President Truman and Prime Ministers Attlee of Britain and MacKenzie King of Canada. These talks will open Sunday aboard the presidential yacht Potomac.

Byrnes declined at an afternoon news conference yesterday to comment on Molotov's speech in Moscow Tuesday saying that Russia would have atomic energy and that the secret of the bomb would not be kept. But the subject evidently was very much on Byrnes' mind because he went directly from the news conference to the White House to discuss with Mr. Truman preparations for the weekend talks.

NAVY SCHOOL EYED ON PACIFIC COAST

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—News that a navy school may be established on the Pacific coast was received with satisfaction today by western congressmen.

The navy is reported preparing a program for establishment of several new schools at which line officers will receive "refresher" training. One of these may be at Monterey, Calif.

Entirely separate from the question of what training program the navy shall maintain and what schools are needed for the future, it is important that it shall recognize that the problems of defense on the Pacific are different from those in some other parts of the world," Senator Morse (Ore.) told a reporter.

He and Rep. Jackson (D-Wash.) commented favorably on the apparent purpose of the navy to keep its officers abreast with what they described as "rapid changes which science is making and may be expected to make in the science of warfare."

Medford Man Reports Traffic Accident

Clyde W. Briggs of Medford reported to county officials Wednesday that his 1935 Olds was sideswiped by a 1938 Ford driven by Nadine Garrett, Shaasta View trailer camp, 10 miles north of town on highway 39 at noon yesterday.

Briggs said he was going south on the highway when the woman's car, approaching from the north at an estimated speed of 50 miles an hour, crashed into his left front fender.

Damage to Briggs' automobile was estimated at $150.
