

STATE WITNESS MISSING; HUNT WILL CONTINUE

laid before the jury the bulk of his lurid evidence against Heuvel concerning the alleged immoral act.

Tearful and sobbing, Miss Huff related how she and another girl, Virginia Gibson, had been picked up by police at the Metropolitan hotel early in the evening of November 8, last year, taken to the city jail and booked for vagrancy.

Heuvel, she said, told them at that time their sentence would be a $100 fine or 30 days in jail, then locked them in the women's cell for the night.

Cell Filthy
The cell was small and filthy, the witness said, and already occupied by three Indian girls.

Next morning, Miss Huff continued, Heuvel took both girls back into his office and advised them to do anything he asked to get out of this.

The Huff girl testified that she told Heuvel she could get money to pay her bail but that the police chief answered that it didn't make any difference to him about the money.

He asked both girls, the witness said, if they would be willing to do anything he asked to be turned loose and both said they were willing.

Going before the police judge, both pleaded guilty to vagrancy and Heuvel asked that sentence be held up until the girls received medical examination. After the examination, Miss Huff said, they were taken back to their cell.

Early that evening, November 9, the young woman's story goes, Heuvel brought both Virginia and her out of the cell and back to his office, closed the doors and asked if they still were willing to do anything he wanted. They agreed again.

Virginia Gibson was then sent out of the room, and the 23-year-old Huff girl remained alone with Heuvel in the office.

Witness Sobs
Then the supposed act took place, Miss Huff testified. At this part of her story she buried her face in her hands and sobbed for several minutes.

A few minutes later Bernice left the room and Virginia went into the office with Heuvel, according to testimony.

Both girls were locked up in the cell again for the night and admonished not to talk about the happening because the cell was wired, Miss Huff said.

The next morning they were brought before the police judge and Heuvel asked that they be released under the condition they would leave town and not return. Either 160 or 190 days' absence was specified by the judge, the girl said.

Later, they were taken to the bus station by a policeman and put on a bus for their homes in The Dalles. Miss Huff said she told the story to a sister and her husband a few days later, then repeated it to her mother and, about two months afterward, a state policeman came to her house and asked her to tell it to a district attorney in The Dalles. She did and then was subpoenaed to come before a grand jury in Klamath Falls.

Under direct examination by Kimmell, she stated she had been in Hillcrest girls' industrial home for refusing to attend school, had been picked up by Seattle police for disorderly conduct and had been accused by a police officer in Portland of breaking up her sister's marriage.

Then under cross examination, Attorney Herbert F. Welch of Lakeview, defending Heuvel, brought out a Portland police record file with the girl's picture and fingerprints, and showed it to her.

"That's something I don't want to talk about," the girl cried, referring to the police chart, and burst into tears again. She had to be taken into an ante-room before regaining composure enough to answer Welch's questions.

Long Record
Back on the stand, she admitted serving a year in jail in Portland, to having lived with a married man for a period of time, pleading guilty to disorderly conduct in Seattle, being arrested twice in Seattle for drinking and associating with men, being arrested in Bremerton for disorderly conduct, being arrested in Portland on a general charge and having a complaint filed against her in Hood River charging that she was infected with syphilis.

She had refrained from admitting these brushes with the law before, she said, because her husband, a sailor stationed at Vero Beach, Fla., knows nothing of them and she didn't want them to enter into her present married life. She apologized to Attorney Kimmell for not telling him all about her past record and Attorney Welch apologized to her for causing her embarrassment by bringing them in.

Attractive
Miss Huff, an attractive, brown-haired young woman, was dressed in a light blue, one-piece dress, sheer hose and black shoes, on the stand, wore a diamond ring and wedding band and a small costume jewelry brooch. She sat with her father in the courtroom.

Orville Hamilton, acting chief of police now, and Frank Blackmer, city police desk sergeant, were also called as witnesses for the state. They testified that they had seen both the girls at the police station the night they were brought in, but had not seen them afterwards.

Tony Nelms, desk man who relieved Blackmer, also saw the girls at the station and was on duty at the desk when the alleged act against Miss Huff took place. He testified that he saw Virginia outside the chief's office and knew that Bernice was in the office, but did not know whether Heuvel was also there.

He also saw Bernice come out of the office and Virginia go in. Nelms was on duty when the girls were originally booked, and stated under cross examination that a charge of vagrancy might be used to cover street-walking.

SNOW FALLING IN MOUNTAIN PASSES

SALEM, Nov. 15 (AP)—Snow was falling hard in mountain passes today, on top of the slush caused by yesterday's rains, the state highway commission said today.

The temperature was around 33 degrees, indicating the snow might turn to rain later in the day. Chains were advised in all passes.

Vets Over 21 Must Pay School Tuition

PORTLAND, Nov. 15 (AP)—Veterans over 21 years of age must pay tuition to return to Portland high schools, the school board voted last night.

A recommendation that servicemen whose high school education was interrupted by the draft be readmitted free of charge was rejected by a 2 to 1 vote.

The board also refused to allow Oregon State Teachers association to hold its convention in Lincoln high school next March, and declined to close Portland schools to allow teachers to attend.

The proposal, the board said, would disrupt the year's schedule. Previously the teachers' convention had been held during Christmas vacation.

mittes, Taylor said at a news conference, has started to work yet on three important problems. He listed these as (1) recommendations for machinery to handle disputes where collective bargaining has failed; (2) definition of collective bargaining; and (3) consideration of legislation needed to back up conference decisions.

Definition Necessary
A definition of collective bargaining is deemed necessary because of recent complaints of both labor and management that one or the other fails really to talk out the difficulties involved.

Knowland's suggestion on the wage issue was submitted to Schwelienbach in the hope, the senator said, that the cabinet officer "might find it helpful in preventing a fatal delay" in rapid reconversion.

Under the Californian's proposal, labor and management would agree to an initial increase of perhaps 10 per cent and then negotiate a "leeway" for a possible additional raise. This in the case of the auto workers might be the balance of the 30 per cent they are asking, or a 20 per cent leeway.

Any additional raise, however, would be paid out only as it was earned by industry.

Yearly bargaining conferences would be held to estimate the coming year's business and to agree on a division of income among workers, management, stockholders and consumers.

tee members, principally Rep. Parnell Thomas (R-N.J.) who asked:

"Who do we have as potential aggressors?" Eisenhower would not specify any nation because he said he could not foretell international developments adding that years ago none thought we would be at war with Germany or Japan.

Right now, he said, "There is no one nation in the world that can challenge a prepared America."

"The greatest single motivating force for world peace today is the organized military potential of the United States," Eisenhower declared.

Eisenhower cautioned that the development of war techniques would give the United States no time to prepare if it were attacked again.

GM Offers CIO New Wage Boost

DETROIT, Nov. 15 (AP)—General Motors corporation today offered the CIO United Automobile Workers a flat 10 per cent wage increase in another answer to the union's demand for a 30 per cent increase.

The union previously had rejected an eight to ten per cent wage boost.

General Motors, in its new offer, suggested a 45-hour work week with time and a half overtime pay.

French Troops Restore Order

SAIGON, Indochina, Nov. 15 (AP)—French troops reoccupying areas of Indochina have restored order in rubber plantations from 70 to 80 miles north of Saigon and "most coolies have returned to work and factories are starting up," an Anglo-French statement said today.

The nationalist movement has collapsed in that area, it added. The statement declared new "incidents of terrorism" broke out yesterday in southern Saigon, and "there was considerable rebel activity around Cho Jao and Gocong," 40 and 30 miles south of Saigon. "Important mopping up operations are in progress in the area of Vinh Long," 60 miles southwest of Saigon, it said.

corresponding increase in retail prices.

Mallon claimed OPA arrived at new car prices—not yet announced—by guesswork.

Bowles argued that dealers in the months ahead would have no losses by used car trade-ins and, even with a reduction in the margin between manufacturers' price and retail price, could make more than prewar average profits.

Mallon told the committee: "The gravest and most imminent possible handicap to new car production lies in the threatened strike in the steel industry... if it leads to a shut-down, there is no telling when a normal supply of new cars will be available."

Mallon said there also is "imminent danger of a series of strikes in the automobile factories themselves."

Three Millionth GI Discharged

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP)—The three millionth soldier to be discharged since V-E day left the army last night.

The war department, announcing this without naming the soldier, gave a month by month summary of discharges. It showed the rate increased from 58,000 in the period from May 12 to May 31 to a peak of 1,270,000 for the month of October.

Merrill Doctor Escapes Injury

HENLEY—Dr. F. E. Trotman, Merrill, narrowly escaped injury but wrecked his car about 9 a. m. today when he skidded and overturned on the slick pavement in front of the Henley school.

Dr. Trotman was en route to Klamath Falls at the time and met the Poe Valley school bus which was just making a turn into the Henley school grounds. He applied his brakes, slid, struck a highway post and overturned, his car headed in the opposite direction. Although the car was demolished, Dr. Trotman was not hurt and was able to continue into Klamath Falls.

LUMBERMEN TO MEET

EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 15 (AP)—Western Oregon lumbermen will convene here tomorrow and Saturday for the seventh annual Willamette Valley Logging conference, H. J. Cox, conference secretary, said today.

Col. W. B. Grealey, Seattle, will address conferees at the banquet Friday night. Roy Morse, Longview, will be toastmaster.

Conference President F. L. Thompson, Albany, will preside.

ese propaganda which he said taught his people to hate all foreigners, and asserted: "All the unrest in the community is directed to an aversion to foreign peoples present in our country, to marching with lances, that has now already grown into murder and robbery and other tendencies that, seen from the viewpoint of the struggle for social reform, signifies nothing and is reactionary, as every fascist deed will always be reactionary."

British Press Attack
The British, using a minimum of forces to prevent heavy casualties, pressed the attack slowly in Soerabaja. A summary of the action said native resistance was "particularly determined in the area of the Hotel Soerabaja, the British-held post office building and the railway embankment."

Southeast of the court and justice buildings in the Kota railway station area, Indonesians launched strong attacks against the troops of the 49th Indian brigade. The attacks were broken up by British artillery concentrations.

ized, through the United Nations, to receive it with strong assurances that it would not be used for destructive purposes.

The statement was issued by President Truman, Atilie and MacKenzie King at a White House press conference. The three completed their deliberations last midnight.

Shortly before scores of newsmen crowded into the president's office, several senators—including Chairman McMahon (D-Conn.), of the senate's atomic committee—filed in to witness the signing of the joint statement.

Present also were Secretary of State Byrnes, Admiral William D. Leahy, the president's chief of staff, and other officials.

Atilie was seated on the president's right and MacKenzie King on his left. As silence fell, the president arose behind his desk and told the newsmen that he would read a document signed by the prime ministers and himself.

Any questions, he said, would have to come later when reporters were familiar with the statement. He then read rapidly the entire text.

When he finished he held the text up for those in the room to see the signatures, then informed reporters that was all he had to say.

Honan, Sulyuan and Chahar. It is evident that the communists seized the initiative and had their armies in motion before the nationalist troops were fully deployed to the north.

Destruction of vital links in every major railroad from Central to North China by communist troops and villagers in the areas they freed from the Japanese undoubtedly worked to the greatest disadvantage of troops of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. Nationalist troops on the other hand have the moral value of 60,000 American marines present in the Peiping, Tientsin and Tsingtao areas of North China and the assistance of a United States troop carrier squadron in flying two armies north from Hankow and Shanghai.
