

Hutcheson Talks Hot Lumber Ban

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 23 (AP)—M. A. Hutcheson, first general vice president of the AFL Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, met today with the striking lumber workers' policy committee.

Hutcheson, whose union has been backing the nine-week-old strike, came from Washington, D. C., to confer on procedure and on the "hot lumber" ban.

John Christenson, chairman of the strike policy committee, told house-hungry veterans today that he was sorry they couldn't build, but that it was lumber operators' fault.

Replying to 25 veterans' appeal for release of building material, Christenson said "we appreciate their problems. We have hundreds of veterans within our organization who not only want a house but want to get to work."

However, they don't want to go back to work under unfair working conditions after fighting overseas for the four freedoms which include economic justice.

Christenson said 52 plants, which met the strikers demand of a $1.10 minimum, were operating and "will supply sufficient lumber for extreme emergency cases."

100 Service Men Visit KF As Train Is Held 5 Hours

The five-hour delay in Klamath Falls of a special train carrying them to their homes in Oregon and Washington turned out to be a blessing in disguise to over 100 servicemen who enjoyed a "day after Thanksgiving" snack at the local USO late this morning.

The men had just arrived from the Pacific and for many of them the girls at the USO were the first American girls they had talked to in many months.

Cold turkey on the day after Thanksgiving was one of the things the men dreamed about overseas, and there was plenty left over from yesterday's dinner at the USO to make their dream come true.

Autopsy Held On Thompson

An autopsy performed on the remains of Tom Thompson, 70-year-old Bonanza farmer who died in a local hospital several days ago, revealed that the probable cause of his death was pneumonia subsequent to fractured ribs and a probable punctured lung allegedly received in a fight with Frank Bryant at Bonanza October 20.

The autopsy was performed by Dr. George H. Adler, county coroner. Specimens have been sent to Dr. Joseph A. Beeman, University of Oregon's Portland

Early this afternoon their train left Klamath Falls carrying a group of enthusiastic boosters for the local USO.

Autopsy Held On Thompson

The fight between Thompson and Bryant, an itinerant potato picker, was supposed to have occurred at Thompson's place near Bonanza Saturday night, October 20. Thompson swore out an assault and battery warrant against Bryant the next day and then entered the hospital.

Bryant has not yet been located.
