

Beck Says Teamsters Not To Put Ban On Hot Lumber

PORTLAND, Nov. 24 (AP)—An order for teamsters in 11 western states to stop handling "hot" lumber is not contemplated, the international vice president of AFL Teamsters told a newspaper here.

with the Oregonian, he minimized a prediction by an official of the striking union that all western teamsters might stop handling northwest lumber.

"The only orders of that nature have come from our councils in Oregon," Beck said. "I have nothing of that kind in mind at this time."

The AFL Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, however, pledged 100 per cent "financial and moral" aid to the strikers. M. A. Hutcheson, first general vice president of the union, here to confer with the strike policy committee, declared that his union "is in a sound financial condition as prepared to carry on the battle until the operators meet the demands."

He asserted that "the operators could end the strike today, if they so desired. We would like the strike to end."

Vet Business Chance Topic

Over buffet suppers at the USO beginning at 4 p. m., Sunday, November 25, the League of Women Voters will conduct a series of round table talks on business opportunities for veterans in Klamath Falls. The discussions are intended to help veterans become familiar with local postwar opportunities.

The people participating in the talks this week are Charles Stark, secretary of the chamber of commerce, George Davis, general manager of Lorenz company, and Lynn Roycroft, district supervisor of the Oregon Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Naslund Returns To Lakeview

LAKEVIEW—Capt. A. E. Naslund has returned to Lakeview after two and one-half years in the army medical corps, having been placed on the inactive list. Dr. Naslund was stationed in the India-Burma theater prior to his return to the States, and the major problems of doctors there were heat and disease. Through efficient care and medical treatment, the station hospitals kept American soldiers in the best of health.

Dr. Naslund and his family will make their home here, with his return to his dental practice in the Heryford building.

Klamath Legion Ritual Team To Show At Lakeview

LAKEVIEW—American Legion post No. 53 will sponsor a public initiation and dance Saturday evening, December 8, at which time the ritual team of post No. 8, Klamath Falls, will be here to conduct the initiation for World War II veterans. The affair is open to parents of new Legionnaires and the public in general, and is being staged to give people a better understanding of the principles of the American Legion organization.

T. B. Scarce In Portland Area

PORTLAND, Nov. 24 (AP)—Tuberculosis has scarcely touched Multnomah county children outside of Portland, Dr. F. Sydney Hansen, county health officer, reported today.

Only one of 6757 children tested showed active tuberculosis, he said, although 445 had a positive reaction.

To increase an actor's height, wooden clog (the cothurnus) and the Greeks had him wear a wig.
