News Notes and Comment

By JOAN O'NEILL

The Black Flamingo will be the theme of the next presentation in the Little Theatre. The date set for the entertainment of the students is December 5. The service club, now under the name of Pi Upsilon Sigma, is sponsoring the show, but the dramatics department is putting it on. The service club will collect a share of the profits made on the shows.

Joan O'Neill

This time the theatre is having something new. Instead of producing a play they are having a night club scene with various acts. The stage will be done as a night club called the Flamingo club.

Drinks and other refreshments will be sold, too, in keeping with the night club atmosphere. Of course, they will all be on the soft side—coke, milk and donuts. A nine-piece band has been practicing for the big day. A show will be given every hour and will cost 10 cents per person.

Scarlet Letter

An old timer in the film world will be shown to the students of KUHS tomorrow and Thursday. "The Scarlet Letter" is being presented by the English department for the benefit of the senior, junior and sophomore classes. There is no admission charge to the show. This work of Nathaniel Hawthorne is on the reading list of the students.

And Incidentally

Georgia Rose and Patsy Hambrick will appear on Pelicana tonight. Marilyn Nethercott and Beverly Wampler are announcer-editors of the show.

Effie Botens and Janice Bilyeu spoke on the Christmas Seal drive at the Lions club meeting last week.

Shirley Conrady, Jimmy Modiset, Eleanor Barth, Alice Vincent and Jacqueline Anderson have worked afternoons at the chamber of commerce. One girl is allowed to leave school as part of her stenography course to work at the chamber of commerce each week.

The Spanish club is planning a dinner for new members to be held at Sari's Friday night.

Marie Wright sang for the county OSTA meeting that was held last week.

Several of the high school kids are appearing on the bond show at the Pelican tonight. Alyce Wells, Bud Selby, Erma Easely, Pat Myers, Grace Van Cleave and the jazz band will do their bit for the show.

City Road Issue Eyed By Council

Direct representation by the city before the state highway commission on road matters of municipal interest was suggested to the city council last night by the city planning commission.

The planning commission communication indicated its opinion that the city was not sufficiently active in presenting municipal views on such matters as highways through the city.

The councilmen discussed the matter at some length. Angus Newton, who is a member of the chamber of commerce roads and highway committee, said that the chamber group has been doing a "fine job" and indicated that coordinated representation is desirable. Councilman Paul Landry averred that the city council ought to be represented at every meeting of the highway commission, regardless of where it is held.

It was finally decided to ask the planning commission more specifically for its ideas on city representation at the meetings.

The council approved a recent proposal from the planning commission that the state highway board be asked to make improvements on the present northern entrance to the city, particularly at Oregon avenue and Biehn streets and at Oregon avenue, 11th and Prospect.

Hotel Operation

The council last night decided to permit operation of the Holly and Klamath hotels for 30 days until the present owners can sell the properties. It was bruoght out that both hotels were recently purchased, but the council on recommendation of the police chief had refused a license for the hotels. Chief Orville Hamilton said last night he felt it was only fair to permit operation of the hotels so they could be offered for sale as going concerns.

Smoking Ban Passed

The ordinance prohibiting smoking in theatre auditoriums and setting up a theatre licensing program was passed through second reading. Final action will be on schedule at the next council meeting.

The council agreed to pay E. A. and Emma Dunham $5531.65 for property in the Veterans' Memorial park area, accepting $462 as a donation from the Dunham's. The price was in accordance with city appraisal.

Dunham also offered to purchase property along Conger avenue near Main, adjoining other property he now owns. Involved is a piece of property which is dedicated as an extension of Pine street between Payne alley and Conger, but which is not actually used as a street.

Councilman Landry said it has been the city's policy not to close streets, but that an exception might be made in this case in view of the precipitous character of the land and the certainty Pine street would never be extended to Conger. The matter was left until a movement to close the street is initiated.

After hearing a discussion of the situation from Harry Molatore, operator of a restaurant which has previously held a club license under city ordinance, the fathers decided tentatively to extend the hours under the club license from 12 midnight to 1 a. m. Further action will await a study of the ordinances.

In the absence of Mayor Ed Ostendorf, who is in Salem, Council President Harvey Martin presided at the session.

this question:

"Many people visit our home every day—delivery boys, the postman, the neighbors' children, our friends — and if one of them should slip on the sidewalk or stairs, stumble over a lawn mower or be injured in any way we might find ourselves facing a lawsuit. Will a Residence Public Liability policy give us complete protection from this risk?"

The real "take-home"

If wages go up and output does not—living costs rise. Then a man may be no better off than he was in the first place.

As a matter of fact, he may be worse off. Because that's the start of the inflation spiral with its mounting cyclone of confusion. And once the spiral starts, prices usually keep two jumps ahead of wages.

It doesn't help to have $2 to spend instead of $1, if eggs go to $1, then $1.50, then $2 a dozen—and butter and bread and shoes and shirts double, then triple, in price.

That's the trouble with the theory that you can increase buying power simply by raising wages.

The most important thing isn't what a man makes in wages per week—

The most important thing is how much he can buy with the wages he makes.

The "take-home" that really counts isn't what you take home in pay, but what you can take home from the store!
