

Dwight Davis, Former Secretary Of War, Dies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—Dwight F. Davis, secretary of war under President Coolidge and donor of the Davis cup emblematic of the International Tennis championship, died last night at his home. He was 68.

Davis had suffered from a heart ailment for the last six months.

With him when the end came were his wife, Pauline; son, Dwight B. Jr., and three daughters, Mrs. Alice D. Makins, Mrs. Cynthia Martin and Mrs. Helen Hermes.

While still a student in college Davis paired with Holcombe Ward to win a national doubles tennis championship in 1899, 1900 and 1901.

DWIGHT F. DAVIS

Awarded DSC

After holding several municipal appointments in his home city of St. Louis he went overseas in World War I as a major. He won the Distinguished Service Cross for valor under fire.

He came to Washington when President Harding appointed him director of the war finance corporation, became assistant secretary of war two years later and in 1925 succeeded John W. Weeks as secretary. He was governor general of the Philippines from 1929 to 1932.

Davis was a central figure in the long-controversial court-martialing of Col. Billy Mitchell. Mitchell declared there was favoritism and incompetence in the administration of military administration and that there should be a separate department to direct army and navy aviation and encourage civil flying.

Weeks was ill at the time and Davis, as acting secretary, ordered a court martial for Mitchell, who was convicted of insubordination and resigned from the service.

Ike Blames French For Difficulties

By JAMES F. KING
FRANKFURT, Germany, Nov. 29 (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower in a report released here today, criticized the French government for hampering the allied control council and urged early establishment of central German administrative machinery.

Summarizing the situation in Germany in October, before he left to become chief of staff of the U. S. army, Eisenhower cited the "potential dangers of unrest and disease this winter."

He declared, however, there was "no immediate emergency in the American and British zones as long as current rations can be maintained."

The release followed by a day the White House disclosure of a report to President Truman by Byron Price, former censorship director, blaming France for most of the occupation difficulties.

British Praised

Praising the British delegation for going along in council matters for the sake of unanimity, Eisenhower asserted: "There was no similar solution of the deadlock which prevents establishment of the central German administrative machinery provided for by the Potsdam agreement as necessary for the treatment of Germany as a single economic unit. French authorities in October maintained their opposition to this principle. Only in November were there indications of progress."

Little Progress

"On a number of other important matters, moreover, little progress was made during the month. A proposed law to authorize and encourage a federation of German trade unions on a national basis could not be adopted on account of French opposition."

Stating the United States had no intention of "taking any active steps to raise Germany above the economic level required by humanitarianism," Eisenhower declared that German industry must be raised above the five to seven per cent of capacity at which it is now operating, and that food must be imported without thought of payment.

"It is important to note that the revival of German agriculture, industry and trade which is being encouraged by the military government and the organization of German administrative machinery to take responsibility for the program," he said, "are necessary to avoid expense to the American treasury."

Leonardo de Vinci (1452-1519), one of the greatest painters who ever lived, also spent much time attacking great engineering problems. He discerned some of the principles of flying machines and submarines.

Business Slipping At Tulelake Jail

TULELAKE—Business was slipping at the Tulelake city jail where only one person had been incarcerated at the town hoosegow during the entire month of November so far.

Chief of Police Frank Rhodes said that 102 persons were lodged in the Tulelake jail in October, but thus far only one arrest on a charge of drunkenness had been recorded.

Light intensity, climate and soil produce marked variations in the nutritive value of fruits and vegetables.

Jury Convicts Man Of Murder

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., Nov. 29 (AP)—A superior court jury today heard testimony of the sanity of John Giliberti, 59, Montana ranch foreman, after it convicted him last night of first degree murder of Herman Trelle, 50, superintendent of the same ranch and former Canadian champion wheat grower.

The jury returned the verdict after five and a half hours' deliberation, recommending life imprisonment.

Trelle was killed with two blasts from a shotgun last September 1 and witnesses testified Giliberti was his assailant. The men had quarreled, it was declared, over Giliberti's treatment of ranch workers.
