Reds Hold Atom Bomb Race Odds

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—Dr. Irving Langmuir predicted today that if an atomic armament race develops Russia will produce its first atomic bomb in about three years and possibly accumulate them "far faster" than the United States.

The associate research director of General Electric gave the senate atomic energy committee half a dozen reasons why he said the Russians would have an advantage:

1. "A larger population and it can be regimented."
2. "They have a remarkable system of incentives which is rapidly increasing the efficiency of their industrial production."
3. "No unemployment."
4. "No strikes."
5. "They have a deep appreciation of pure and applied science."
6. "They have already planned a far more extensive program in science than any contemplated by us."

"We must consider also that the Russians have continued the training of scientists during the war to a far greater extent than we have," the chemist said. "Furthermore, they have available in any atomic energy program the knowledge and technical skill of German scientists and technicians."

Ample Resources
"Russia certainly has ample resources in uranium," Langmuir testified that if Russia considered the incentives great enough, she could mobilize her resources for an atomic energy program, get her people to forego a high standard of living and devote 10 per cent of her production capacity to a five year atomic energy plan.

In contrast, he said, before the war the United States devoted only 0.04 per cent of its national income to research. This rose to about 0.5 per cent during war-time.

Far from advocating that the United States and Russia indulge in an atomic armament race, Langmuir proposed that the governments of Great Britain, Canada and this nation seek immediate contact with the Soviet government to secure a tentative agreement based on the Truman-Attlee-MacKenzie King formula of November 15.

Japs Bayoneted Fliers To Death

SYDNEY, Nov. 30 (AP)—Evidence that Japanese troops found an American and three Australian fliers to crosses and bayoneted them to death with rifles was presented today in the opening at Morotai, New Guinea, of the first war crimes trial by Australians.

Capl. Tokio Iwasa, Japanese officer on trial for complicity in the killings last March 23 on Talabau island of Celebes, was quoted as having told an Australian officer:

"The men behaved very bravely. They did not utter a word." A Japanese military police sergeant said the atrocities occurred during a "presentation of colors" ceremony. He said the fliers were condemned to death by a Japanese court without trial or without having been charged with any offense. The victims' names were withheld.

Dissension Evident In GOP Ranks

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP) Danger signals for any early agreement on a mid-term republican policy program were raised today by a group of first and second term house republicans.

As senate and house GOP steering committees continued meetings in an effort to present an affirmative policy statement to the party's national committee meeting Dec. 7, in Chicago, 39 house members whose service started with the last congress joined today in this warning to the leadership:

They intend to express their own views on major matters and not let party leaders speak for them.

The group issued a formal statement which contained no reference to any rift. But several members said privately that one has developed between the younger and older republicans.

Among the 39 issuing the statement were Reps. Ellsworth of Oregon and Horan and Holmes of Washington. Made public by Rep. Augustus W. Bennett of New York, the statement called for non-partisanship in the current Pearl Harbor investigation and in consideration of universal training proposals now under study. It said the group believed an expression on those two subjects "is appropriate at this time."

C of C Slates Two Inner-City Meetings

The chamber of commerce made plans today for two inter-city meetings within the next three days.

Modoc county defense council members will be guests of the chamber at an open house social gathering at the Pelican cafe party room Saturday night. Chamber officers and their wives will be hosts and hostesses.

Chamber directors will go to Lakeview Monday night for a meeting with Lakeview directors. About 15 had signed up to go today.

The total, however, was $460,000 below the number of permits issued in October.

Bank clearings continued a slow decline to $312,696,300 — about $40,000,000 below November a year ago.

Jap Girls Stroll Arm-in-Arm With American GI's

TOKYO, Nov. 30 (AP) — The manner in which Japanese girls and boys are fraternizing with Americans was criticized today in the house of peers by a member, Koichiro Nagaoaka.

"Although it is a good idea to mix and learn things, the way girls and boys are conducting themselves now is not the way to win respect," he said.

He apparently was referring to the arm-in-arm strolling of Japanese girls with the Yanks and other pronounced departures from the usual staid behavior of Japanese in public.
