In The Day's News

By FRANK JENKINS
EX-AMBASSADOR-TO-CHINA
HURLEY is making something of a splash in Washington. Four congressional committees want to hear his story. The senate foreign relations committee schedules a meeting for next Wednesday and invites him to testify. He says he is committed to attend, but wants the session to be OPEN. As called tentatively, it is to be CLOSED.

There is some talk of a joint session of congress to hear the Hurley story (which is to the effect that communist sympathizers in the state department are sabotaging the department's OWN PROGRAM in China.)

HURLEY tells the Washington reporters today: "I'm ready to appear at any PUBLIC hearing that is afforded me by congress. Now that the war is over, people are entitled to have the basic information to enable them to form intelligent opinions of American foreign policy."

(That is certainly true, because in any war arising out of a mistake in American foreign policy the people will do the bulk of the fighting, the suffering and the dying.)

DIPLOMACY, traditionally secret, grew up in the days of "divine right" kings who ruled with despotic power. Foreign policy was then a GAME in which the common people had no say. They'd have been present in their place quickly enough if they had tried to butt in on what was regarded as the exclusive business of their betters.

(Their PLACE would have been a deep dungeon.)

MUCH of the world (NOTABLY AMERICA) has changed since then. The spread of education has made the PEOPLE of enlightened countries, such as ours, competent to judge as to the rightness or the wrongness of our basic relations with other peoples.

The trouble is that while the world has changed DIPLOMACY HASN'T. In most of the world's capitals, the conduct of foreign affairs is still looked upon as the exclusive prerogative of the silk-hatted professionals.

IF you want a good grounding in the traditional principles of diplomacy (which deals with foreign "policy") read Machiavelli's "The Prince." (You can get a copy of it at the public library.)

Hurley Talk Bid Urged In Congress

Foreign Policy Hot Issue As Clamor Rises

By CLAIR JOHNSON
WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—A proposal that Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley address a special session of congress prompted by his sudden resignation as ambassador to China.

The suggestion came from Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R-Mass.), as clamor mounted for a full-dress congressional investigation of the nation's foreign policy.

Referring to moves by four different committees to have the general testify about his accusations that "career diplomats" are undermining national interests abroad, Mrs. Rogers told a reporter:

"I want the whole story. The issue is of such magnitude, with the security of our country involved, that I think the general ought to tell the complete story to a joint meeting of the senate and house."

"Also, as specified in my bill (introduced yesterday), Secretary of State Byrnes should supply congress with all information he has about the sabotage of our foreign policy and why General Hurley resigned."

It was uncertain immediately just where the general will speak on Capitol Hill—but it appeared definite he would do some talking some place, there next week.

Ready To Talk
Informed of the bids for his appearance, he told a newsman: "I am ready to appear at any public hearing that is afforded me by congress. Now that the war is over, people are entitled to have the basic information to enable them to form intelligent opinions on American foreign policy."

The senate foreign relations committee appeared to have the inside track for the general's initial testimony. Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) has invited him to a Wednesday meeting.

100,000 See Cadets Run Over Navy

West Point Closes Season, Unbeaten And Untied

By BOB CAVAGNARO
MUNICIPAL STADIUM, Philadelphia, Dec. 1 (AP)—Army defeated Navy 32-13 today in the 46th renewal of their football rivalry played before upwards of 100,000 spectators including President Truman. The victory enabled Army to complete its second consecutive season unbeaten and untied.

Today's victory was Army's 24th in the series that started in 1890 and the wondrous West Pointers' 18th consecutive triumph since the opening of the 1944 season.

Army scored three touchdowns in the first period, and one each in the third and fourth, while Navy picked up its touchdowns in the second and fourth periods, the latter on a one foot buck through the middle of Army's varsity line. It was the first time Army regulars had been scored upon by rushing this year.

Blanchard Stars
Army's 205-pound bruising fullback, Felix (Doc) Blanchard, accounted for three Army touchdowns. First was on a line smash culminating in a 56-yard drive when the game was little more than three minutes old.

His second was on a 17-yard end sweep. Blanchard's third score came when he intercepted a pass and went 45 yards to cross the goal line.

Left Halfback Glenn Davis scored in the first period on a 149-yard run, and again in the final quarter on a 31-yard gallop.

Navy's first touchdown was spectacularly contrived on a 63-yard forward pass play from Quarterback Bruce Smith to Halfback Clyde Scott, who ran 37 yards after catching the ball.

A pass interception by Navy Sub Guard Bryan Brown on Army's 27 set up Navy's second touchdown. Bill Barron cracked through center to the 15 and then Bartos smashed to the three. On the next play he pushed to the one-foot line and then he went over.

45 Killed By East Storm

By The Associated Press
A two-day storm which resulted in the deaths of at least 45 persons in the northeastern section of the nation moved slowly out to sea today (Saturday), leaving in its wake snow and ice, disrupted communications and considerable coastal damage from lashing tides and winds of gale force.

Hundreds of families, whose residences had been isolated by huge tides, were temporarily homeless in the six-state New England area.

Coastguardmen said two small vessels were missing with 11 men. They were the New Bedford dragger Terra, carrying a crew of 10, which last was heard from east of Nantucket, Mass., and a 37-foot cabin cruiser, drift off Newport, R. I., with its owner, Frank W. Pierce.

Mariners were cautioned to watch for the Boston Lightship, which was torn adrift.

S. H. Goddard Killed By Train

Squire Henry Goddard, 58, Shady Pine, was killed instantly shortly after 11 o'clock Friday night while checking cars in the Southern Pacific yards.

Goddard was working on track 4 and in some manner got in front of cars being switched on track 3. A car switching north, 285 yards north of the west end of the yard office, struck Goddard, passed over his body as did the following five cars. City police were called. The body was moved to Ward's.

Southern Pacific officials said Goddard had been employed by the railroad for the past three years. He was formerly connected with local mills and had lived in this area for 15 years. Goddard's widow and two married daughters survive.

Partners Change In Nuptial Shift

CARSON CITY, Nev., Dec. 1 (AP)—Two young women from New Jersey who shared a cabin here while awaiting divorces, were on second honeymoons today, each with the other's former husband.

District Judge Clark J. Guild granted divorces to Mrs. Delbert G. Faust and Mrs. Roy O. Preisler, both of East Orange, late yesterday, and immediately thereafter he performed the double marriage in which Faust wed the former Mrs. Preisler, and Preisler married the one-time Mrs. Faust. Then the four joined in a wedding dinner celebration, after which they left for New Jersey. The husbands arrived together by automobile from New Jersey just before the ceremony.

Their attorney, Frank B. Gregory, who was drafted as best man, said the couples were in their 20's.

Classes Resume With Vacant Seats

Mute evidence of the school bus tragedy at Lake Chelan which killed 16 children is seen in the vacant seats of seven children as classes resumed at the Lakeside grade school.

Diver Finds School Bus On Bottom

CHELAN, Wash., Dec. 1 (AP)—A school bus, which carried the driver and 15 students to their deaths in Lake Chelan last Monday, was found by a navy diver in 200 feet of water, 250 feet off shore shortly after 10 a. m. today.

The diver, C. E. Meyers of New York City, reported the bus was resting upside down, facing shoreward.

Sheriff Bruce Parkinson said a line would be placed around the front axle and an effort made to raise the bus almost to the surface of the lake, from which point divers would endeavor to remove the bodies before lifting the car out of the water.

Chief Torpedoman Meyers reported that he could not enter the bus because its door was jammed against the lake bottom. He remained under water for several minutes examining the wrecked machine, reporting his findings by telephone to his helpers on a barge anchored off shore.

Later Meyers, who was removed to the decompression chamber to recover from his dive, said that he believed all of the bodies were in the bus. He said he could see dimly the entire length of the machine. It appeared that the emergency door was open, he said.

The divers were working at a depth of 210 feet.

State Patrol Capt. F. H. Morgan confirmed earlier information that the bodies would be removed from the bus before it was towed down the lake to Chelan.

Youth Who Took $20,000, Pair Of Co-Eds To Florida Expected To Get Off Easy

DETROIT, Dec. 1 (AP)—Prodigal Malcolm McLeod will escape formal punishment for his runaway trip to Florida with two Wayne university coeds and $20,000 of his father's money, it was indicated yesterday upon his return here.

However, his winter vacation will be spent in northern Michigan, not southern Florida.

"I do not believe the family will want to prosecute him," said John McNeil Burns, law partner of Malcolm's father, when he met the youthful trio at the depot here.

Former Congressman Clarence J. McLeod, father of the 18-year-old boy, was reported too ill to meet the train that brought his son and the two attractive college sophomores back from Columbus, Ga., where they were taken off a Miami-bound train Sunday.

The girls, Betty Ann Mackey, 21, and Kathleen Conroy, 19, were released to their parents. From his cell in police headquarters, Malcolm queried: "How soon do I get out of here?"

Police brought back $19,236 of an estimated $20,500 they said Malcolm took from a closet in his father's home Thanksgiving day.

Later the youth was released from police custody after his father declined to sign a complaint against him.

Another Flier Found On Coast

PORTLAND, Dec. 1 (AP)—The 10th of 12 men whose army plane crashed in southwestern Oregon Monday was located today by a coast guard rescue plane searching the mountainous area.

A plane headed to the site to drop supplies to him, and if necessary—to parachute a coast guardman.

Surprise Offer Up To Union

UAW Acceptance Of Scheme Hinted By Leaders

By The Associated Press
General Motors President C. E. Wilson has surprised the industry with his plan for GM to produce parts and accessories for its competitors while GM itself is not making cars because of the CIO auto workers' strikes.

Wilson, in a letter last night to President R. J. Thomas of the striking CIO United Auto Workers, outlined his proposal. He said GM is willing, while the strike continues, to operate all its part and accessory divisions "exclusively on outside work."

High union sources who declined to be quoted said they expected quick assent to the GM offer.

Tule Group Off To Isles

TULELAKE—Four hundred twenty men, women and children left the Tulelake war relocation center Friday at 5:30 p. m. bound for Los Angeles where they will be placed on a boat Sunday and shipped to their homes in Hawaii.

This is not a deportation proceeding, WRA officials said, but members of the party are families returning to their former homes. In the group are 19 children under three months of age, and a large number under three years, all of whom were born during the time their parents were at the WRA center.

Families exhibited much pleasure at the prospects of returning to Hawaii. WRA reported arrangements for this particular trip have been under way for some time in order that all former Hawaiian-Japanese could return at the same time.

A number of these people were not sent directly from Hawaii at the time war was declared, but were in this country either visiting or on business. It was learned that most of the men in the group were small business operators.

On November 7, there was another shipment to Hawaii but these people were from other centers and not from Tulelake.

Bedroom Blond Brings Blushes

ISERLOHN, Germany, Dec. 1 (AP)—Seventy-six steel magnates representing Ruhr industries worth billions of dollars were arrested at their homes last night in a series of raids by hundreds of British security police and troops.

The raids began at 11 p. m. and were so thorough that only eight of the original list of 84 named for arrest were not apprehended. Picking them up was only a question of time.

The industrialists were caught in circumstances ranging from drinking champagne to taking stomach pills before going to bed.

A director of the August Thyssen Steel Works was embarrassed when the British said they found him in a bedroom with the blond 24-year-old daughter of a baron.

Timber Worker Crushed By Cat

Weston Howard, about 52, for eight years an employe of Weyerhaeuser Timber company, suffered fatal injuries at Camp 4 early Friday evening when he was crushed under a caterpillar tractor on which he was working.

A crew working nearby moved the tractor from Howard's body and rushed the man to Hillside hospital where he died at 7:11 a. m. Saturday. Howard's home was at Keno. He leaves a widow and several small children, it is understood. The body is at Ward's.

Aircraft continued searching for the two still missing men, while, in this area, planes hunted a navy Ventura that vanished Thursday.

Hess, Relieved By Confession Of Fakery, Held Eligible For Trial With Other Nazis

NUERNBERG, Dec. 1 (AP)—since the trial began engaged in lively conversation with other prisoners in the box just before the session opened.

Hess had Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz and Erich Raeder shaking with laughter before the court session opened when he told them how he pretended loss of memory and partial insanity. All other defendants were absent yesterday when Hess made his sensational confession and most of them were convulsed with laughter when they learned of it for the first time today.

Morse Prints Senate Menu To Push Action On UNRRA

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—Senator Morse, (R-Ore.), childing what he termed "well fed" senate colleagues for not taking up immediately legislation to provide $550,000,000 for UNRRA, had the senate restaurant luncheon menu printed in the congressional record.

Earlier this week, a move to bring the measure up for immediate consideration was blocked. It will come up in turn on the calendar.
