New Pine Creek
NEW PINE CREEK—The East Side Saturday bazaar to be held this Saturday evening is expected to draw one of the largest crowds of the season. Everything seems to be pretty well worked out so that the stage is all set for a good time with plenty of booths, fish ponds, fortune telling, produce market, fancy work, cider and coffee and doughnuts and a grand time for all. Platte lunches will be available too, and the affair will be wound up with a dance. Upon this occasion the public is cordially invited.

Around 65 East Side granges motored to Thomas Creek last Saturday evening to attend the installation meeting of the three, East, West, and Thomas Creek granges and reported a very good time. The newly elected East Side grange master, Lute Miller, expressed satisfaction at having all of his officers present to be installed in their new offices. Everyone was impressed with the friendly cooperative spirit that prevailed. Those present were extended an invitation to attend the bazaar this Saturday evening at New Pine Creek and also for the big grange get-together to be held December 29 at the East Side hall, at which all grange members are cordially invited.

The music for the affair was largely furnished by a part of the East Side orchestra. Imogene Batman, substituted at the piano for Mrs. Erma Sanders who took sick and had to be taken home at the start of the dancing.

The Home Ec club met last Wednesday afternoon with 10 members present who finished the quilt that is to be raffled off at the bazaar. At the meeting Mrs. Daisy Fleming, president of the club, emphasized the fact that each grange lady member must not overlook to bring two or three items valued at from five cents to 50 cents. Also the lady members are to bring two of the following, a salad, sandwiches, pie or cake. All ladies were admonished not to forget the harvest table, bring anything in the produce line, apples, carrots, cabbages, turnips, pumpkins, squash, potatoes, onions, canned fruit, a chicken dead or alive, rabbits, eggs, canned minced-meat etc. Also each lady is to bring one or more potato-holders and aprons.

Mrs. Ray Bishop was hostess for the meeting serving cake, fruit salad with whipped cream and coffee.

A fine specimen of a big buck deer, with five points on one side and six points on the other, got his liberty last Monday morning week ago, at the hands of William Smith who released the old boy after he had been fouled in a fence nearly all night, judging from appearances.

The deer was caught in the fence on the old Morrison place, running between Mrs. Eliza McCrary's place and that of Mrs. Alpha Smith's. He had evidently misjudged the height of the fence which was a little above average and had run his hind legs through the wire mesh at the bottom and his front legs, horns and neck had gone between the top and second barbed wires stretched above the netting headed west. His rear legs were securely entangled and due to his large spread he could not extricate his head and front legs, so there he hung with a dread fear bulging from his angry, bloodshot eyes.

Mrs. McCrary had summoned Smith to get the deer out of his entanglement but warned him he better get nippers and a club. But Smith climbed through the fence, approached the hind quarters of the animal bare-handed, lifted first one, then the other of his back legs out of the mesh; but not easily for the deer was heavy and thrashed about madly. Once his hind legs were free, the animal shot through the top wires with a vengeance, headed west and south toward Mrs. McCrary's, then turned abruptly and came right back to the fence toward his liberator, shaking his horns fiercely like he was going to charge through it and pin Smith on his antlers.

Smith, however, stood perfectly still admiring the beautiful fellow and wishing for his camera. The deer wheeled and cavorted across the lot. Smith then left the spot and made to toward home but all the while looking back at the deer who leaped back over the fence exactly where he had been caught and out across the Gentry field into the orchard there, then over a fence, across the mill ditch with a bound and on up the mountain side just back of town. Smith watched the graceful and now gallant deer disappear into a side hill rever with a lingering feeling about his experience that he could hardly believe that he had actually laid hands on that beautiful wild fellow.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Alexander donated $5 to the cemetery fund.

Al Burgoyne, wife and daughter, Sharon Lee, arrived last Saturday from Malin, Ore., for a few days visit with his father, Jim Burgoyne. Al has completed three years in the army service in Italy and Germany. He is now enjoying his discharge.

S 2/c George McLain came home last Saturday morning with a permanent discharge from the navy. He was accompanied by his wife from Concrete, Wash. Sunday marked a glad homecoming dinner at the Homer McLain residence with 19 members of the family present. Those present were, Mr. and Mrs. Homer McLain and children Mildred, Pearl, Gale, Homer, Harvey; Mrs. Fred McLain, whose husband is in Manila; Mr. and Mrs. George McLain; Clyde McLain, now in the navy, who left Sunday afternoon for San Diego; Elsie Turpin; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McLain and four children.

The meeting was held at the grange hall. Mrs. Sarah Johnston was elected president and Mrs. Thelma Butler secretary. The object of the club is mainly to familiarize its members on the very latest methods of sewing such as are used in Red Cross sewing centers. Many short cuts are taught which aid the busy mother or housewife considerably.

Word was received last Monday morning that James E. Pemberton died at 3:30 Monday morning at the veteran's hospital at Reno. Full particulars were not learned concerning the cause of the death but it was believed to be of a sudden nature.
