Marines Get 43-30 Win Over Bearcats On Willamette Court

By HALE SCARBROUGH
Both the KUHS Pelicans and the local Marine basketball outfit are visiting Salem this week, playing Salem high's Vikings and Willamette university's Bearcats, respectively.

The Leathernecks are in the state capital now, having downed the Bearcats last night, 43-30, and have another game scheduled for tonight on the WU court.

Friday night the Pels take on the Viking quintet at Salem high. Tomorrow the local lads are meeting Albany up there.

The Leatherneck victory over Willamette last night was the second win of the current season for the military against three defeats, and was Willamette's second loss in two games.

The Marines grabbed a five-point lead within the first 10 minutes of play on the WU court last night and never lost the lead. At the half the score stood 21-14.

Barber and Graham were high-point men for the Bearcats, with eight digits each, and Lambert, Marine center, got eight, three field goals and two charity tosses.

A couple of newcomers to the Leatherneck lineup, Zautkech and McNeill, rang up seven each, and the latter's long tosses won him the crowd's applause. Art Verment played his usual stellar defensive game, stealing the ball again and again from the Bearcats. It was a fast rough game with numerous fouls being called on each side.

The summary:
Willamette (30) (43) K. Falls
Barker, 2 F. Benner
Graham, 8 F. 6. Verment
Jones, 1 C. 8. Lambert
Barber, 8 G. 6. Adams
Ackley, 6 G. 4. Slimak

OSC Drops Game To Portland Cagers

CORVALLIS, Dec. 12 (P)—A last minute scoring spree gave Portland's Northwest Insulators a 38-35 victory over Oregon State college last night for the Orangemen's first loss in this basketball season.

The Beavers led, 14-13, at the half. They held the edge until seven minutes before the final gun, when Bill Osterhout, Oregon State alum, burst loose for the Insulators.

Osterhout was high scorer with 15 points. Ted Henningsen sparked the Beavers, with 10.

Chandler Will Decide On Major Arc-Light Tilts

CHICAGO, Dec. 12 (P)—Albert B. "Happy" Chandler today will make his first major decision as commissioner of baseball since his election last April as the successor to the late Kene-saw Mountain Landis.

Chandler will cast the deciding ballot on the number of night games the clubs will be allowed to play next season. The leagues will vote as separate units, with Chandler casting the third ballot.

The night baseball question stalled the major leaguers yesterday. Larry MacPhail, president of the New York Yankees, who installed night baseball in the big leagues when he was in charge at Cincinnati and later at Brooklyn, believes that night baseball has gone out of bounds and should be put back in its place.

When MacPhail started the novelty at Cincinnati, the limit was seven games. He still believes seven games should be the maximum.

However, the two St. Louis clubs—the Cardinals and Browns—and the Washington Senators will oppose the seven-game restriction because of their success with night baseball last season. The Cardinals played 40 games under the lights in 1945; the Browns 39, and Washington 33.

Reports indicated that the majority of sentiment in each league is for seven games and no more.

Score at the half was 15-5 for the Huskies.

The Huskies led all the way in the A game, getting off to a five-point edge at the start of the play with a free toss and a pair of field goals, and used a zone defense to keep the Tule-lake shooters tied up.

Lineups and scoring:
Merrill Pos. Tulelake
Kandra (9) F. Hunstman (9)
Noonan (13) F. Hanes (9)
Fotheringham (10) C. Best (9)
Hammond (12) G. McLain (3)
Walker (9) G. McLain (3)

Substitutes: Merrill—Lodge, Trotman and Hunnicutt (2), Tulelake—Bailey, Turner, Kirby (2), Moore, Fish and Martin.

The Huskies' next game will be against the Sacred Heart quint here Friday night at Fair-view school.

The St. Louis Cardinals, baseball's No. 1 farm outfit, has about 26 minor league clubs, while the New York Yankees operate 13 to 15 teams.

Oregon Draws Bye To Open Chicago Meet

CHICAGO, Dec. 12 (P)—Chicago's first invitational basketball tournament opens at the Chicago stadium tonight featuring games between Hamline university of St. Paul, Minn., and Indiana State of Terre Haute, Ind., and De Paul, of Chicago, and Bowling Green, O.

The round-robin tourney, which opens the stadium's 1945-46 season of collegiate cage double-headers, is sponsored by De Paul.

There will be a one-day lull before the University of Oregon, last year's Pacific coast champion, tackles the winner of the Hamline-Indiana State game on Friday night. The University of Washington cagers meet the survivors of the De Paul-Bowling Green contest in the second game.

The tournament champion and winner of third place will be decided Saturday night.

Flashes of Life

SURPRISE
TOPEKA, Kas., Dec. 12 (P)—Leaving the front door key "in the same old place" accounted for a surprise breakfast reunion yesterday at the Paul Edgar home.

Returning home from the service, Thomas Richard Edgar didn't want to awaken his parents at 2 a. m., and found the door key in its old familiar place. He tiptoed through the house, went to bed and appeared at breakfast.

He was most surprised of all when he found at the table his three brothers, also in the service, who had preceded him home.

"COLLECTOR"
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Dec. 12 (P)—For sentimental reasons, Dr. L. A. Neal broadcast an appeal for return of a bronze plaque taken from his yard. He explained the 20-pound casting, bearing the figure of a country doctor in a buggy, had been in his possession more than a decade.

Three days later it reappeared, along with a note of apology from a college boy, who wrote:
"I merely took the plaque to hang in my room. I collect signs, planning to return them at the end of college career."

Mask Risking His Career With Roughhouse Rufus

With the Grey Mask and Rough Rufus Jones set for the grapple of the ages at the armory Friday night, speculation is rife among the customers as to the possible outcomes of the match.

The Atom Man is risking his entire northwest circuit career against the Detroit Dynamiter. If Rufus succeeds in battering the Mask into submission and unveils him, then the Hood will become just one of the boys in box office value or move on to greener pastures.

If Jones fails in his attempt to guzzle the old fellow, then he becomes one of the boys who has met the Mask and been conquered.

Other than that a defeat handed Jones will not detract from his box office attractiveness, since the colored boy gets his popularity through pure cussedness and is well known enough for citizens to boo on the streets, while Mr. Stoneface replies in part on his covered features to maintain his unsavory reputation.

So much for the main go. The ex-marine, Buck Davidson, who makes Klamath Falls his home during the hunting season, will grapple with the Toledo Adonis, Angelo Martinelli, in a four-round curtain-raiser.

Buck is one of the most likeable chaps on the rattle rodeo, sports a small mustache of which he is very proud and only grapples when he is in need of pocket change to buy shotgun shells during duck season.

Davidson is an exponent of the surfboard hold. Martinelli has been a regular performer here against all comers with varying success and is a clean-cut, tricky fighter.

The other bout, a five-canto semi, features Seattle Ben Sherman against gory old Pete Belcastro, the people's choice. Sherman leans toward a rolling
