

Today's Roundup

NUMBER of local people have called our attention to the following item which appeared in Time Magazine, Dec. 31: MUMU AND VIRILITY—Many a Pacific veteran came home with the gnawing fear that he was less of a man.

Time erred (as Time likes to say it) with respect to the branch of the service represented by the Klamath Falls installation (navy medical and marine corps) and Time also gave a vague and muddled statistical report.

Reading that, it is just possible that sterile couples around the country will soon be writing Dr. Coggeshall for information as to how they can get a shot of filariasis.

Correct Conclusion

WHAT the Marine Barracks records show in this respect is that there has been a normal rate of pregnancies and births in the families of married marines who returned from the Pacific theater after contracting filariasis. Barracks medics prepared a chart based on information obtained in the last weeks of a training period preparatory to transfer of these marines to another station.

It is true that this experience at the station where filariasis marines were exclusively concentrated served to dispel once and for all any apprehension that filariasis was a likely cause of sterility.

Watch for main line air service connecting Klamath Falls with major west coast cities. Watch for feeder line service to nearby communities.

Watch for an early return of civilian flying at the Klamath municipal airport, with flying schools, charter service, sales and service of private aircraft and all the features of a major airport.

Watch for construction of new homes. Present serious shortage will become worse as the remaining 3000 boys from Klamath county are discharged from service.

Watch for a full-fledged tourist boom. People have stayed home, through patriotism, necessity or other reasons, for so long that they are going to hit the highways in droves.

Watch for (and WORK for) many additional benefits for Klamath county. Improvements don't just happen. They come about as a result of the planning, and effort, and financing of persons interested in making their county a better place in which to live, work and play.

The World Today

By DeWITT MacKENZIE AP World Traveler

PARIS, Jan. 3 — This is being written in one of the very few Paris hotel rooms with any heat at all, although winter has fastened an icy grip on the French capital with its millions of inhabitants.

Across the street the French Tricolor and the Stars and Stripes are tugging at their standards side by side—a grand sight but an uncomfortable reminder that the wind which is whipping them about is penetrating every nook and cranny of this great city with a subfreezing temperature.

It means hardship and death not only in Paris but far beyond. For we are sitting here on the edge of a continent that is largely without coal or any other fuel.

Offices, hotels and homes in Paris and other cities are only partially heated at best and many have no heat at all.

Lumps of coal are in truth black diamonds, for the rationing is harsh. A person living alone is allowed only 330 pounds for the whole winter.

One of the most serious aspects of this fuel shortage rests in the fact that the people have been underfed throughout the years of war.

When wartime is done away with we're going to miss that very early morning chirp of the birds. Or are we?

25 Trailers May Be Moved

Twenty-five trailers from the trailer project at Shasta and Washburn way, may be moved out of Klamath Falls to more needed areas in the state, the national housing authority advised the Klamath County chamber of commerce today.

In a communication received by Manager Charles Stark from NHA, reason for the removal was given as the great many vacancies at the project. It was Stark's opinion that people here did not know that the trailers were available to returning veterans and their families who, if living in the trailer project, have first call on the emergency housing project buildings.

Removal of the trailers will add increased burden on the housing problem here, a situation already acute. Further information may be obtained from C. A. Hayden, manager of the project.

SYMPATHY KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (To the Editor)—After reading your comments on today's news, I thought perhaps someone should write to you and let you know the war is over, and I hereby wish to extend heartfelt sympathy to you, in your disappointment, regarding the agreement made with Russia.

It really is too bad that we can't go on, from where Hitler left off.

Very truly, BILL PYATT.

Woman Files For Damages

GRANTS PASS, Jan. 3 (AP)—Charging she was severely beaten by William Daniel Corey, abetted by Clifford Johnston, on Christmas eve, an attorney for Helen Howell filed a complaint with County Clerk Ben W. Coutant Wednesday asking for punitive and compensatory damages totaling $16,250. C. F. Pruess represents the plaintiff.

The plaintiff is in the Josephine General Hospital recovering from injuries which, in her complaint, she charges were caused by the beating from Corey, assisted by Johnston.

She asks for $10,000 general and compensatory damages, $1000 for medical care, $250 for damage to her clothing and $5000 punitive damages.

Court Stands Pat On OPA Ruling

SALEM, Jan. 3 (AP)—The state supreme court refused today to reconsider its decision in which it ruled that the state courts have jurisdiction in federal OPA suits to force compliance with price ceilings and other regulations.

The ruling was in the case of Chester Bowles, OPA administrator, against five Portland merchants. The case now will go back to the Multnomah county circuit court for trial.

and a warm welcome, too!

We'd like to have our Northwest neighbors feel the Olympic in their hotel. A sort of headquarters for all of our Northwest neighbors when they are in Seattle. The place to which they come naturally, and at which they feel perfectly at home.

But it hasn't been easy these last war-torn years. Even our 1,000 rooms have not, many times, been enough. With the military forces prompting a percentage of the rooms and war-born travel exerting priorities, it hasn't always been possible to do the things we would like. And so, if we have had to disappoint you, we hope you will understand.

Even now the situation hasn't altogether improved. But we want to take care of you. And we will do our utmost to do so. Our only request is that, while existing conditions continue, you give us as much advance notice of your visit as possible.

If you will do this you will not only find accommodations, but a warm welcome, awaiting you.

Merrill

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Yaple, former Merrill residents now living at Korbell, Calif., was damaged seriously by fire recently, according to word received here by a brother, Glenn Yaple. Origin of the flames was unknown. Contents of two rooms were totally destroyed and other rooms damaged by water and smoke.

Mrs. Bess Hodges, manager of Safeway here, is expected home in the near future. She was called to Wappelo, Mo., by the critical illness and death of her mother. She will make the return trip with Mr. and Mrs. Ora Fox who plan a trip to Missouri.

Inez Sowell, employed by the Merrill Safeway has been transferred to the Safeway store at Ashland.

Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Trotman had with them for the Christmas holiday their son, Bob, in training at the naval school at San Diego. He has just finished boot training and reported back to the base Monday.

No Truce Reached In Transit Dispute

SEATTLE, Jan. 3 (AP)—An AFL-Street Car Men's union spokesman said today "we're still poles apart" as a union committee went into another negotiating meeting with representatives of the Seattle transit commission in their wage dispute.

The union yesterday set January 11 for a walkout which would tie up all bus service here.

Superintendent Lloyd Graber of the transit commission said after last night's meeting the commission would "do all in its power to avert a work stoppage." The union asks a $2880 annual wage, compared with the present $2700. The transit commission says it has offered to increase the present $1.15 hourly pay to $1.20.

FUNERAL RITES FOREST GROVE, Jan. 3 (AP)—William J. McCready, head of the McCready Lumber company here since 1926, will be buried here tomorrow.

McCready, 69, came to Oregon in 1910 and was active in civic affairs of Forest Grove. He died Tuesday.

January 31 THE LAST DAY

Men now in the Army who reenlist before February 1 will be reenlisted in their present grade. Men honorably discharged can reenlist within 20 days after discharge in the grade they held at the time of discharge, provided they reenlist before February 1, 1946.

There's a long list of attractive reenlistment privileges in the new Armed Forces Voluntary Recruitment Act of 1945. The ability to keep your present grade is only one of them, but this privilege expires on January 31.

There are plenty of other reasons why many thousands of men have enlisted, and more thousands are enlisting every day. You'll certainly want to know all of the opportunities open to you. If you'll read them carefully, you'll know why a job in the new peacetime Regular Army is being regarded today as "The Best Job in the World."
