Wife Declares Army Deserter Good Provider

FLORENCE, Ore., Jan. 10 (AP)—The wife of an Oregon coast millworker accused of deserting the army 15 years ago said today her husband and father of their four children had "always been a good provider" since they were married eight years ago.

FBI agents yesterday reported Paul Llewellyn White, 37, was arrested at his home on a charge of deserting at Fort Douglas, Utah, on June 6, 1930, when he was a general prisoner at the army post.

He is being held at Camp Adair pending decision by army officials whether to court martial him at Fort Douglas or at the base post of the 38th infantry to which he belonged.

Court Martial A public relations officer of the 9th service command reported last night, White may be court martialed for "escaping confinement." The Fort Douglas officer said the 38th infantry is now a part of the 1st division 1st army and is stationed elsewhere.

Mrs. White reported the oldest of their children — three boys and a girl — was three; the youngest two months.

FBI Agent Howard I. Bobbitt said White reported he had worked in lumber mills and railroads since leaving the army. White is a native of Idaho, but has lived at Florence the past four years.

The FBI reported last night White had been arrested under an order from the war department at Washington, D. C., to reactivate all desertion charges not more than 20 years old.

system of freedom of the individual. The problem of the future, if war on a terrifying scale is to be avoided, will be to work out a method whereby these basically opposed systems can exist side-by-side in peace and co-operation.

That isn't impossible, but it will require STATESMANSHIP.

Firebug Sought At Vanport City

VANPORT CITY, Ore., Jan. 10 (AP)—Vanport City, the nation's largest housing project, has broken out in a rash of mysterious fires that investigators are trying desperately to diagnose.

Police are hunting a firebug—or bug—that has set seven blazes in the last month at a cost of more than $200,000. He—or she—started out with a shopping center and school in December. Last Sunday a grade school burned.

Now this week a minor incendiary fire has flared up every day. Harried investigators are wondering whether someone has decided to solve the problem of surplus housing by simply burning it down.

"They seem to be trying to," said a deputy sheriff as he rushed back from today's blaze—a $500 affair in a vacant unit. "We must have somebody who delights in setting fires to these empty buildings."

Officials aren't sure whether it's a one-man affair or an epidemic.

Statutory Rape Trial Underway

Lack of heat in the courthouse this morning caused Judge David R. Vandenberg to recess circuit court early before noon after the state and defense opening remarks had been made in the trial of Felipe Olalde, young Mexican charged with statutory rape.

Deputy District Attorney J. Hawkins Napier made the prosecution's opening statement to the jury, and he will probably begin to unfold the state's evidence against Olalde this afternoon.

Selection of a jury took all of yesterday and most of this morning's session and three special panels in addition to the original jury list had to be called.

The Mexican youth was indicted for statutory rape upon a 14-year-old Mexican girl. Both Olalde and Pedro Palato, also indicted on a similar charge, have been in jail for several months. Palato's trial is not scheduled to come before the court until February 25.

The jurors in the Olalde case are George Bodenhamer, George W. Van Horn, Charles H. Flackus, R. J. O'Sullivan, Clarence H. Lewis, Ben Henzel, Thomas W. Allen, Glen D. Jones, C. H. Booth, Harry E. Wilson, Ralph E. Williams and Roy F. Kinsman.

Dream Of Nylons Turns Into Search For Rayons

By DOROTHY CAREW NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—The dream of nylons has turned into the search for rayons — for retail stores have almost no hosiery of any kind to sell.

Nylons have not arrived. And rayons are practically gone. Many a woman who scorned the wartime hose a few months ago because nylons were in the offing, now is traipsing from store to store in hopes of getting a pair of good old rayons, baggy knees and all, without success.

Manufacturers say the rayon supply will not improve. Hosiery makers predict it will be at least six months before getting a pair of hose will be a simple matter of walking into a store and asking. But that next pair will be nylon.

Bandits Loot Berlin Train

BERLIN, Jan. 10 (AP)—Bandits dressed in Russian uniforms held up the Bremen-Berlin train last night in the Russian occupation zone of Brandenburg and looted 15 freight cars of large stocks of provisions, the American military government said today.

The inter-zone train is operated by German crews. At Helmstedt, on the border of the British and Russian zones, it takes on American guards and then travels the rest of the way into Berlin through the Soviet zone under Russian jurisdiction. The robbery, occurred at the small station of Biederitz.

The U. S. military government said only three American guards were on the run because of a manpower shortage.

Vets Moved Out Of Northwest Ports

SEATTLE, Jan. 10 (AP)—Returning veterans were moving out of northwest ports today and the pile-up was gradually being eased.

Yesterday 18 trains carried 6758 men homeward from Tacoma, Seattle and Portland. Coastal ships to California had 352 passengers and 156 men went east by air.

Still awaiting accommodations were 10,845 men at Fort Lawton, 9747 at Fort Lewis and 3252 at Vancouver Barracks. However, no ships are scheduled to arrive for the next 48 hours, and the situation is expected to improve even more in the next two days.

The big planes will carry from 44 to 50 passengers each and cruise 100 miles an hour and faster than present equipment.

With the settlement of the international air line program, the Northwest spokesman said, the company expects to use these planes on the Orient route until even larger craft are obtained.

She created the name for the coast guard's women's reserve from the first letters of the coast guard motto and its English translation — semper paratus — always ready.

Captain Stratton became the first member of the reserve a few hours after its establishment on Nov. 23, 1942. A graduate of Ottawa (Kan.) university, she has been on leave from her position as dean of women and professor of psychology at Purdue university, Lafayette, Ind.
