

Red Cross Will Stress Aid To Vets

Shaped to meet continuing community and national needs, Red Cross programs during 1946 will emphasize service to veterans, hospitalized men, and occupation troops. L. Orin Sisemore, chairman of the Klamath County Red Cross chapter, announced today.

"Chapter home service may be expected to serve greatly increased numbers of veterans and their families," Sisemore predicted. Assistance with employment, vocational training, and hospitalization, help in solving personal and family problems and filing claims for government benefits, and financial aid are offered the veteran by chapter home service.

Hospital Service
With men in military hospitals still numbering hundreds of thousands, Red Cross hospital work is not expected to decrease for some time to come, Sisemore continued. Professional Red Cross workers provide welfare and recreation service to hospitalized members of the armed forces, and Red Cross volunteers perform personal services.

For occupation armies serving overseas, the Red Cross continues to provide field directors and recreation clubs. "Funds raised in the 1946 Red Cross fund campaign will make possible the continuation of these services to veterans, hospitalized men, and overseas troops as well as of our own community programs," Sisemore said.

To Meet—The American Legion will meet at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the Legion hall. All members and veterans of World War 2 are urged to attend.

Our Home Town

The Farmer—1946 Model

By EARL WHITLOCK

When you're looking back and weighing the contributions made by America to the winning of two wars, don't in your enthusiasm for the wonderful production of our industrialists, overlook what incredible feats the American Farmer accomplished. And he was working short-handed never forget that. Industry had a triple A priority and where needed. The Farmer—well, he just got along, somehow. And how splendidly he did get along, is a matter of record—with crop after crop that exceeded anything ever before attempted—let alone accomplished.

And now, his soil depleted, his equipment needing replacement, his labor problems still unsolved, his doubts unresolved as to when and if he is to get the prices for his products which have been promised him, he faces the future with that same calm, confident faith in his own ability and in the beneficence of Providence which has upheld him through the trying years just passed.

Somehow, he knows, the rains and the suns and the good earth and his own sweat, will see him through. For the Man-of-the-year for 1946, I give you the Man of Faith—the American Farmer.

Next Monday Mr. Whitlock of the Earl Whitlock Funeral Home will comment on "Warning to Motorists."

Police Seek Careless Shot

A spent rifle slug which snatched into the rear of an automobile driven by a Klamath man yesterday afternoon on Main street has the police department on the lookout for careless target shooters and persons who discharge weapons in town.

The incident yesterday afternoon occurred in the 500 block on Main. The motorist heard the thud of something hitting the back of his car and upon investigating a few minutes later found the large-caliber slug piercing the metal of his trunk cover.

The shot apparently was fired down Main from toward the river or possibly over the hill on the other side of the river. The slug is somewhat larger than a .38.

Chief Orville Hamilton said that he was going to have the bullet tested to see if it came from any of the guns for which the police have ballistics.

"The impact of the heavy slug into the metal trunk shows there was still some force behind it," Hamilton said, "and it could have killed a person easily."

He warns target shooters to take every precaution for safety before firing, to fire into an embankment whenever possible, and points out that persons arrested for discharging firearms within the city limits are liable to fine or jail sentence.

Chinese Demand U. S. Withdrawal

SHANGHAI, Jan. 14 (AP)—Chinese students who shouted "Why don't you go home?" to American troops demonstrated in Shanghai streets today for establishment of a democratic China and withdrawal of United States forces.

Leaders of the several thousand students, who marched six abreast through the streets, said they had uncovered a lead in a nationwide movement.

The demonstrators waved placards and banners, and shouted their slogans for American withdrawal and democracy in both Chinese and English.

Lead Uncovered In Yank Deaths

NUERNBERG, Jan. 14 (AP)—U. S. Army criminal investigation agents indicated today they had uncovered a lead in their inquiry into the deaths of three military government officers in the eight-day-old mystery at Passau near the Austrian border but kept a tight censorship over the details.

Even the names of two of the victims were being kept secret officially, but they were reported unofficially by Maj. Everett S. Coffran, of Washington, D. C., of the Passau military government detachment, and Capt. Adrian Wesseler of the Regensburg military government detachment. The third victim was identified as Lt. Stanley Rosewater of Omaha, Neb.

Man Charged With Leaving Crash Scene

Edwin G. Cavin, 21, 102 Eldorado, has posted $50 bail with city police for an appearance in police court for failing to stop at the scene of an accident on the S. 6th viaduct early Sunday morning.

His car and a machine driven by Otis F. Jerrue, 1614 Summers lane, were involved in a sideswipe on the incline of the viaduct that did minor damage to both vehicles. Cavin told police he was blinded by the lights of the other car and the cars sideswiped on the incline.

He stopped on top of the viaduct and looked back but did not see the other car and drove on.

PFC L. C. McClure, a marine, living at 1419 Nimitz, reported a minor mishap Sunday morning with a car driven by Bob Eastman, 3306 Bisbee, on S. 6th near Owens.

McClure reported that he was driving north on 6th and had slowed up at the intersection of Owens and the other car bumped into the rear of his machine.

A slight traffic accident yesterday at 3rd and Main involving cars driven by Leland E. Reeves, 437 N. 3rd, and Lane Gregory, route 3, was also reported to police.

Seattle Typo Tie-Up Ends

By The Associated Press
Seattle's three major daily newspapers—the Post-Intelligencer, Times and Star—were back on full schedule today following a wage-increase settlement Saturday afternoon in the 56th day of the AFL-affiliated Printers' union strike.

The Times and Post-Intelligencer got out Sunday editions—first copies reaching newsstands in the late evening and circulation managers today reported the largest Saturday night street sales in their memories. Presses could not keep up with the news-hungry public's demands, though they ran at 50,000-per-hour capacity.

The new printers' wage scale is $13 per shift for day workers and $13.75 for night shift men, increases of $2.65 and $2.90 respectively. The printers originally demanded a new wage scale on the basis of a $2.95 boost for the day shift, increases are retroactive to last September 1 deducting the time on strike.

Basin Basks In Winter Sunshine

The Klamath basin basked in mid-winter sunshine and a minimum of 12 degrees above zero in this community was recorded early this morning as bright skies and nippy air contrived to give back the usual winter weather for these parts.

It was coldest at Sun mountain on The Dalles-California highway where the mercury fell to five degrees below zero according to the state highway patrol. It was 10 above at Quartz mountain and eight above at Keno.

Forecast for the next 24 hours was for increasing cloudiness but no hint of snow.

Klamath youngsters took advantage of freezing weather conditions Sunday and were skating on the canal where just enough water is left to create a thick coat of ice.

Pistol Theft Reported Here

Theft of a Walther .38 automatic pistol sometime early this morning was reported to police by Edward Rittgarn, 1023 Main. The weapon was stolen from his room sometime between midnight and 8 o'clock this morning.

Merrill Man Hurt In Fall

MERRILL—Roy Dixon, about 35, suffered a slight concussion about 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon when he slipped and fell on the icy pavement on Main street. Dixon fell directly in the part of a car driven by a recently discharged Japanese-American soldier who was en route to California.

The veteran swerved his car to avoid striking Dixon and then stopped and offered first aid, reporting to the city marshal, Arlie Worden. Dixon was given treatment by Dr. F. E. Trotman.

Keno

Ben Kerns, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kerns, owners of the implement company in Klamath Falls, writes interestingly of a trip in a Munich patrol in southern Germany.

"Through snowy terrain in freezing temperature the MP's drove in an open jeep—the winter doors had been taken off for greater vision."

"We followed the long driveway of the castle, through the gates onto the main highway up to Starnberg, following the cold gray water of the Wurm See. Children were trudging to school with the day's necessities in packs on their backs."

"Women formed in small lines at the butchers' and bakers', all looking as if they had too little on for the bitter weather. The people think of but two things, food and warmth. Forests planted with loving care in straight lines are stripped of all limbs and undergrowth. Every loose piece of wood is carried home."

"Old German farmers with handbeard mustaches coated with a silvery sheen of ice, trudge at the heads of oxen working with ancient, heavy plows although the whole country is covered with snow. Now and then a woman, a small figure in the wind-swept field, is seen plowing."

"The whole countryside smells of manure as both animal and human sewage is used for fertilizer."

"Some Germans are using their cars now—running them on American gas."

"In Landsberg we arrested a German girl with three cartons of cigarettes given her by an American boy friend. The fellow was as much to blame as she, but we don't know who he is so we put her in jail for a week to wait trial."

"We ate with the military government in Landsberg. A good Russian chef there really whips up a good meal—steak in this case, with cream puffs topped with ice cream. I'll be glad when spring comes for it is hard to see even the enemy cold and hungry."

"Finally we returned to our lonely castle. Home is where you hang your hat in the army, and even if it is an isolated castle it is nice to return to."

Man Sues For False Arrest

YREKA—The City of Dunsuir and municipal officials there are defendants in a $40,000 damage suit filed January 7 in Yreka by Neal M. West, who charges that he was falsely arrested in Dunsuir last October 9.

In his suit the Dunsuir man asks $20,000 damages for defamation of his good name and reputation and an additional $20,000 exemplary and punitive damages.

The plaintiff, in his complaint, stated that on October 9, two Dunsuir police officers arrested him and that said arrest was "without and without warrant or judicial order or other authority of law" as at the time he was "acting in a quiet, peaceable, law abiding manner and had not committed any breach of peace nor committed any offense."

William Buchtel of Redding, Calif., is West's attorney.

Named defendants in the suit were R. L. Colhart, J. J. Corcoran, J. D. Lambert and T. B. Wheeler, city council members; E. G. Hawkins, city clerk; W. P. Ayoote, city chief of police; Steve Abgaroff and Barney Cropper, city police officers; the City of Dunsuir; John and Jane Doe and Richard and Jane Roe.

It is understood that West was arrested in Dunsuir on a charge which had been dropped. He was working for the Southern Pacific at the time, but reports advised that he was no longer living in Dunsuir. Advice from Dunsuir said West was placed in the county jail at Yreka following his arrest, but released within a couple of days.

PH Probe To Hear Kimmel

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—Chairman Barkley (D-Ky.) said today the Pearl Harbor investigating committee will hear Admiral Husband E. Kimmel tomorrow as scheduled.

Barkley told the senate that committee members had decided to go ahead with the hearing, which will give Kimmel his first opportunity for public testimony since the Japanese attack, despite arrangements for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz to address legislators informally on demobilization at 10 a. m., eastern standard time, tomorrow.

An end to the Pearl Harbor investigation in February was envisioned by members today with the possibility that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York may not be called.

Dewey was one of 48 prospective witnesses listed when hearings began November 15. Of this group, only nine have testified thus far. William D. Mitchell, former counsel, said about 20 additional witnesses not named among the 48 will be called to tell about the so-called "Winds Message."

During the 1944 presidential campaign Dewey received letters from Gen. George C. Marshall, then army chief of staff, urging him not to reveal that the United States had broken the Japanese code and was continuing to read the enemy's messages.

Woman Injured In Auto Collision

MALIN—Mrs. E. J. Lahodo, who resides one mile east of Malin, was injured at about 7 o'clock Saturday night when a car driven by her 16-year-old son crashed into the rear of a parked truck. The truck was said to have been without lights at the scene one-half miles south of here.

Mrs. Lahodo suffered painful hurts and was treated in Klamath Falls. The truck is said to be owned by Felixberto Laurence, a Malin farmer.

Familiar Sound Brings Arrest

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 14 (AP) Patrolman Edward P. Burns was walking his beat last night when he heard the sound of a familiar horn. Sprinting up to a car a half-block away, he inquired: "Having a little trouble sail-or?"

"Yes," replied the tar, "I'm trying to get it started to get back to the receiving station."

"But," Burns remarked, "this is my car. You're going to the police station."

There the sailor, a seaman first class, gave his name as Donald A. Yeager, 19, of Portland, Ore. He was booked on suspicion of grand theft.

Polio Drive Heads Named

Assisting Mrs. Dena Backes, Klamath county chairman for the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis, with the 1946 March of Dimes campaign, January 14 to 31, will be the following sub-chairmen in nine communities:

These chairmen will be in charge of arranging any special events, such as dances, in these communities to help in raising the $8000 quota that has been set for Klamath, half of which will be retained here for treatment of polio victims.
