Visitor Speaks At Soroptimist

Mrs. George R. K. Moorhead, chairman of the social hygiene committee for the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers, talked to the Soroptimist club on the subject, "Oregon in the Spotlight." Mrs. Moorhead told of her recent trip east, at which time she met with heads of departments in health and physical education at the University of North Carolina in her work with the University of Oregon school of medicine. Dr. Morgan of North Carolina university paid high tribute to the Oregon program that is developing to comply with house bill 53. She stated that Rose Poole was a member of the house committee on education that was instrumental in the passing of the bill. Mrs. Moorhead stated that now instructors in this field realize that symmetrical bodies, with strength, agility and speed did not come about by chance. The well-trained instructor in health and physical education today prescribes games and sports necessary to meet the child's needs as a doctor prescribes medicine. Testing of skills is an important part of the program to give the teacher a basis for program planning.

While in Washington D. C., Mrs. Moorhead attended a national board meeting as president of the Oregon Women's Federated clubs. She visited the Museum of National History in New York and learned from Robert Curator of interesting studies being made there.

A survey shows that the average man of this generation is one and one-half inches taller than the man a generation ago, while the average woman is an inch taller.

After studying the Oregon physical fitness program, Mr. Scheparo stated: "That is the first program for training school children that ever made sense." Mrs. Moorhead complimented the schools of our county for the excellent work that they are doing in this field. President Kathleen Thompson called the meeting to order and introduced Mrs. Robert Henry as program chairman for the meeting. Mrs. Henry in turn introduced Izola J. Parker, executive secretary of the Klamath County Public Health association. Mrs. Parker announced the program for Social Hygiene day for Klamath, Jackson, Josephine and Lake counties to be held in Klamath Falls, Monday, February 11.

Roy E. Dickerson, who is known nationally as a speaker and author in the field of social hygiene, will appear on two programs during the day.

Mrs. Parker introduced the Thursday speaker.

As soon as they're back in the easy-to-buy category, watch for a wonderful new shade . . . a misty color as ethereal as a wisp of cloud in a summer day . . . and with the magic quality of harmonizing with whatever color shoe you wear . . . misty-gray with gray shoes . . . misty-brown with brown shoes . . . almost no color with black.

Whytal's Showing Checked Numbers

A NEW selection of suits is just in at WHYTAL'S . . . including two styles of those neat black and whites . . . and modish wool crepes . . . with wide wing sleeves and tie fronts . . . in four shades.

One type in the checked suits has that waist-length, banded jacket . . . known as the Eisenhower jacket . . . very youthful looking. Gleaming metal buttons and a neckline trim of plain black give it a distinctly different look. The sleeves are full-ish and cuffed.

The other suits of soft, pure wool . . . in black and white regulation checks . . . have the longer, belted jackets . . . wide armhole sleeves . . . and front slit skirts. An all-around, all-year suit that would be a favorite . . . in Martha's opinion.

In the same shipment came several of those nifty shepherds check toppers . . . matching either of the above suits admirably . . . for a triple outfit.

And, speaking of checks . . . WHYTAL'S . . . in the Medical-Dental Building . . . also has those new gray and white sports suits . . . with cardigan jackets and the skirts pleated fore and aft.

Golden or ginger browns, high in favor with the top-notch coat and suit designers, has given new impetus to the color range. These spicy tones combine most smartly with black, navy and gray.

Market Extends Delivery Service

DELIVERY service of the PINE STREET MARKET has been extended to include Lakeshore drive . . . twice weekly . . . on Tuesdays and Fridays . . . so now the store's patrons in that vicinity can simply call in their orders if they desire.

Back on the Market's shelves is an item Martha hasn't seen in a long, long time . . . canned lima beans and HAM . . . filling and appetizing for a quick supper.

What's more . . . there are also canned mixed limas . . . meaning green and dry together . . . and fancy, whole, peeled Irish potatoes . . . delicious for creaming with peas . . . or frying. Canned sweet potatoes, too . . . which I've always preferred.

Furthermore, PINE STREET MARKET . . . Seventh and Pine . . . has another supply of Marshmallow Whip to float on hot chocolate . . . or top off desserts . . . and choice, canned grapefruit which has been among the missing for some time.

The hat designers are favoring fruity colors for the coming season, such as lime, lemon and cherry used together; also clear white with pale to gunmetal grays, or with violet clusters.

Greens are on the rise again for Spring, with the trend away from mossy tones popular for several seasons, to shades that have a fresh and lively quality. Stepping forward are the yellow-greens of leaves and grass and blue-greens of the sea. Jade green shows signs of becoming the shock color for the season.

Kurlash Items Reach Currin's

AN item arrived at CURRIN'S this week that so many girls have been dropping in to ask about . . . the genuine Kurlash . . . with rubber filler . . . so Martha's passing the word along that once more they're available.

These eye beauty creations give the lashes an upward sweep . . . making the eyes appear brighter and more sparkly . . . so no wonder they're in demand!

With Kurlash came Twissors. Sounds like a word from those tongue-twister fables . . . but they're really tweezers with scissor handles . . . for removing superfluous hair . . . and cleverly shaped for unobstructed vision. A handy gadget to have in the makeup box, I should think.

Kurlash is priced at one dollar . . . and the Twissors, fifty cents . . .

Lastex Garments Returning Soon

GIRLS, your closest friend . . . your little two-way stretch . . . will soon be back after a four-year wartime absence. To meet the pent-up demands for lastex yarn . . . also used in swim suits and dress fabrics . . . production has been stepped up. By June the output is expected to reach pre-war levels.

Lastex owes its elasticity to synthetic rubber . . . which has been pertected to do as good a job of holding the line or stretching in two-directions as the pre-war stuff . . . and it's claimed to be even more resistant to deterioration than real rubber.

Boasting wearing qualities and plenty of pre-war stretch . . . these foundation garments will begin arriving in limited quantities early in 1946 . . . in greater volume by the middle of the year.

Shaw's Feb. 14th Selection Vast

WITH February 14th less than three weeks off . . . it's time to be thinking of spreading a little sentiment around . . . and let Martha remind you that before that date ever arrived last year . . . practically every Valentine in town had been bought up.

So, it isn't a mite too early to be picking your favorites in heartfelt greetings . . . and cupid's messages . . . from the vast selection now on display at the SHAW STATIONERY COMPANY . . . 729 Main.

Richlieu Pearls Arrive At Long's

THERE'S nothing lovelier than pearls . . . to Martha's notion . . . when it comes to personal adornment . . . hence the longing looks toward the lustrous Richlieus just placed on display in LONG'S yesterday.

Pearls have been difficult to obtain . . . and Long's feels doubly fortunate in that the Richlieu name stands for perfection in man-made pearls.

Any of the single, double or triple strands look as though they were expressly intended for a bride . . . and white satin. The collection also includes an exquisite, 24-inch single strand.

LONG'S APPAREL . . . 719 Main . . . also has matching earrings . . . of plain, rosette or pearl clusters.

LaPointe's Hats Herald Spring

MARTHA was surprised to see what a collection of Spring hats has already arrived at LaPOINTE'S . . . upon wandering into the millinery room the other day . . . and goodness gracious, the variety!

Of course those famous lightweight felts . . . Knox and Brewster . . . are well represented . . . including beiges trimmed in cinnamon browns . . . whites smartened up with navy . . . many styled with the new high crowns.

One beret Knox I particularly liked . . . being non-extreme, yet perky with tiny felt bows . . . and available in several good Spring shades.

A few of the outstanding extremes are a hi-crowned turban by Alice May . . . a Lily Dache veil-trimmed, black straw that's worn with a dashing tilt . . . a roll-brimmed straw of plain gold with heavy mesh veil, designed by Leslie James . . . and a distinctive all-white fashioned of raw straw and straw cloth.

There are flower hats galore . . . with an Easter-ish look . . . but why wait that long? And bonnets on which satin ribbons have been twisted into strange . . . but lovely effects.

Certainly any shade of hat you covet for the coming season . . . from black to white and in-betweens . . . you'll find in LaPOINTE'S millinery department . . . 507 Main.

• • •

Please don't overlook the little boxes in the stores about town . . . that stand mutely waiting for your dimes . . . to carry on the fight against infantile paralysis.
