Today's Roundup

By MALCOLM EPLEY

TRAFFIC accidents are resuming their place as major and frequent news events.

The sharp decrease in accidents during the war period was directly the result of a decline in travel. The increase in travel has brought a proportionate gain in accidents.

EPLEY

Secretary of State Bob Farrell reports that 1945 traffic fatalities in Oregon totaled 349, compared with 245 in 1944, a full war year. He offers the unpleasant, but no doubt sound prediction that the death toll will be much greater in 1946.

In the Klamath country, the greatest hazards lie:

1. On the straightaways of our best highways, which encourage high speeds and false security.

2. On such thoroughfares as South Sixth street, where pedestrians and vehicles mingle on the same pavement.

These places will account for a good deal of grief and tragedy in the coming year.

Convictions

CRIMINAL convictions in circuit court trial cases in Klamath county are a rarity. That is a pretty well accepted fact that is widely discussed every time a circuit court jury brings in a verdict.

The statistics show a good many convictions, but most of these result from guilty pleas.

This might be the basis of an interpretation that only those who are innocent fight the charges against them, and those who are guilty prefer to acknowledge that fact and take their chances with the mercy of the court.

But in the public mind, the idea persists that Klamath county jurors are the safest in the world for a defendant.

Travel Notes

A FRIEND of ours is just back from a trip into California, and reports the housing situation at Sacramento is so bad that a hotel desk clerk there told him the clerk had to postpone his wedding because he couldn't find a place to live—not even a hotel room!

Our friend did a little personal apartment hunting that resulted in a novel experience. Through mutual acquaintances, he interviewed a buxom lady who operates an apartment house, turning on his best personality for the occasion. After the interview, the lady, about 60, told the mutual acquaintances that she liked the looks of our friend, who is fortyish. She added that she likes to go out two or three times a week to dance, and if he liked the same sort of thing, she might be able to provide him with an apartment. He's got to move down there, and he's considering the proposition as a last ditch measure.

Coming home, this same informant stopped off in Dunsmuir, where he overheard a couple of women talking about spring shopping plans. One remarked that she hesitated to go to San Francisco this year to buy her finery because of the hotel room shortage there, and the other commented:

"You know, those women's shops in Klamath Falls are just as good as San Francisco, and they are a lot handier."

What he overheard further of the conversation indicated that Klamath would get the business.

Gleam

A Klamath man reports that his son, about 11, was telling him the other night about a good looking little gal in his grade at school who had caught the youngster's fancy. There must have been a gleam in the old man's eye, for suddenly the boy said:

"Aw, dad, she's too young for you."

The World Today

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press World Traveler

BRUSSELS, Feb. 7—This is a very personal column, but I want you to meet my old friend Ernest Marechal, one of Belgium's heroes, who magnificently symbolizes the allied spirit of freedom. Justice and righteousness for which he has stood so uncomprisingly at the risk of his own life through two world wars.

I regard Marechal with deepest affection, for at the end of World War I he rescued me here in Brussels from what, to put it mildly, was a most trying predicament.

I hadn't seen him since that time—28 long years—but one of the first things Mrs. Mack and I did on arriving in the capital was to call on Marechal and his wife and daughter in their home.

• • • •

Dared Death

BACK in the last conflict Marechal many times dared death to cross the German lines into France from occupied Belgium in missions for his government, in which he was a cabinet minister. A citation signed by the late King Albert himself described in detail Marechal's vast heroism, and he wears a high decoration for his service to king and country.

That citation is badly stained with dampness, for Marechal buried it in his garden when the Germans occupied Brussels again in the war. It would have been his death warrant if they had discovered it.

In the present war Marechal has had a son serving as a major in the British Royal air force. Another lies in a Czechoslovakian grave where the Germans buried him after they had killed him by starvation and other inhuman treatment. Still, the Marechals aren't vindictive. Tears come to their eyes, but they look on the sacrifices as part of their contribution to the welfare of the country and their fellow men.

Slides Topic Of Research For Dunsmuir Scientists

Slides that covered the Southern Pacific tracks just south of Upper Soda Springs near Dunsmuir recently and crippled rail travel for several days have become a choice topic of scientific research for amateur Dunsmuir scientists.

The would be men of science have offered their explanation, gleaned from spare-time investigation, and if their deductions seem a trifle out of line with scientific reasoning it could be because the Einsteins are employed as manager of the power company, manager of the telephone company, and an employe of the post office in Dunsmuir, and are unable to devote full-time to science.

At any rate, they have decided that Castle lake, high in the mountains west of Dunsmuir, has sprung a leak, and the contents of the lake are seeping out of the mountain side, causing the earth to slide.

When one of the men solemnly declared that he had seen a Mackinaw trout from the lake sliding down the mountain side along with rocks and mud, the experts announced that the subject had been explored to its fullest extent and was better left as is.

Marie Dorlaque, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Dorlaque of Klamath Falls, was pictured in the January Southern Pacific Bulletin. The thumbnail sketch of Marie stated that she was one of the queen candidates in the recent Victory Loan drive here. Her father is a Shasta Division engineman, and in the drive, Marie was sponsored by SP.

A retired SP engineer, Gene Holmes, died in Ashland last Wednesday. Holmes had lived in Ashland for the past few years, and resided in Dunsmuir and Weed before going to southern Oregon. He had been in ill health for some time.

• • •

In Klamath Falls on business yesterday, was J. H. Heron, assistant to the general superintendent of motive power for Great Northern in St. Paul. Heron left last night.

• • •

Ray Cowles, Ann Arbor railroad representative here, has moved his office from the Medical-Dental building to his home, 1133 California.

• • •

Mrs. Lulu Ella Creason, wife of Earl Creason of Dunsmuir, died following a long illness last week. Mrs. Creason was a resident of Dunsmuir from 1914 until the time of her death. Her husband is an SP employe, and Mrs. Creason was a member of the Grand International Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Two Generals Arrive Here

Two high ranking officers of the United States marine corps, Brig.-Gen. Andrew Creesy and Brig.-Gen. Arnold Jacobson, found themselves snowbound at Dunsmuir, en route to Klamath Falls, and stayed overnight in the northern California town until motor transportation arrived from here this moning.

Both generals were expected here last night as part of their inspection tour of marine posts in the northwest. They encountered heavy snow at Redding, Calif., and on the way north to Dunsmuir wore out a set of chains which prevented them from attempting to reach Klamath Falls on schedule, Col. Charles T. Brooks said.

Gen. Jacobson is quartermaster general of the marine corps and he is being relieved by Gen. Creesy who is taking over the depot of supplies, USMC, San Francisco. Gen. Jacobson anticipates retirement soon. Both officers will be here several days as guests of Col. Brooks.

Homma Asks That Trial Be Halted

WASHINGTON, Feb 7 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma, Japanese war leader charged with condoning the Bataan death march, today asked the supreme court to halt his trial before an American military commission in Manila.

Homma also asked the high tribunal, by airmail, that he be taken out of the hands of the military and that the supreme court review refusal by the Philippine supreme court to grant him a writ of habeas corpus.

The general's petitions were placed in the mail in Manila late in January, while the supreme court was considering similar petitions filed by Japanese General Tomoyuki Yamashita, who is under death sentence as a war criminal.

The high tribunal last Monday rejected all of Yamashita's contentions.

Homma's petitions were placed before the justices immediately after their arrival today, but the court is expected to announce later whether it will hear argument on them or reject them.

NOW SHE SHOPS "CASH AND CARRY"
Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Dorris and Tulelake rate as Los Angeles suburbs today, with a dozen or more husky policemen from L. A. on hand to check the southward flow of penniless wanderers into California. This unique hobo blockade was widely discussed in the press as a possible violation of friendly relations between Oregon and California.

Reports Will Feature Meet

Oral reports by four committee chairmen plus mimeographed reports by the other committees will feature a forum meeting of the Klamath County chamber of commerce at the Willard hotel Friday at 6:30 p. m.

Members and their wives, who have made advance reservations, will receive these reports as the chamber passes the third quarter of its current fiscal year. A meeting at this point in the year's program is an annual event, stimulating an interest in bringing incomplete programs to a close before the start of the new administration on May 1, as well as bringing members up to date on past accomplishments.

A preview of incompleted programs to be finished by April 30, and those just starting which may be carried into the next chamber year, will be given.

Committees will have their reports written and include agriculture, Indian affairs, land use, veterans affairs, national affairs, membership, taxation, military affairs, lumber, taxation, civic affairs and roads.

Klamath Merchants association will also submit a written report of activities at the meeting.

Charles R. Stark, chamber manager, will give a report on general chamber affairs and L. Orth Sisemore, president, will preside at the meeting.

Oregon Man Begins 18-Year Campaign For Presidency

SEATTLE, Feb. 7 (AP)—Claiming that the late Wendell Wilkie "started too late" in his campaigning for the presidency, Bill Belt, 22, of Hermiston, Ore., yesterday announced himself as a candidate for his country's top job in 1964.

"Eighteen years isn't too long to campaign for the most important job in the nation," he said.

Belt's political aspirations were born five years ago when jokers nominated him for president at a Boy Scout camp in the Wallowa mountains.

The joke snowballed until a Young America party was organized and a convention planned for 1943 in Milwaukee.

The war sent the party to far corners of the world and Belt, now out of the army, will resume law studies at Stanford university in April.

He said, however, that the Young America group now had a membership of 500,000. Dick Brown of Pasco, Belt said, is national manager, and he has proponents in every state in the union.

His platform, Belt said, is conservative, and his cabinet is organized, although he refused to tell its members.

Street Section Slides 20 Feet

SEATTLE, Feb. 7 (AP) — Weakened by heavy rains, a 200 foot section of the west side of 12th avenue broke loose, opposite the north side of the Marine hospital, and slipped 20 feet down the side of Beacon hill today. City engineers termed it the city's worst slide in many years and said repairs would be difficult because of the constant drainage. The east side of the thoroughfare was usable.

Woman Suffers Serious Burns

JASPER, Feb. 7 (AP)—Mrs. Minnie Swearingen, 37, was in grave condition today, burned in a fire caused by the crossing of a power line and telephone wire.

A 12,000-volt line dropped across a telephone wire four miles from the Swearingen home Wednesday. Flames broke out in both the house and garage.

Her husband returned from fighting the garage fire to find his wife unconscious with third degree burns.

Police Arrest Woman Driver

Mrs. Lavinia L. Shellhorn, route 2, has been arrested on a warrant from city police and cited to appear in municipal court this afternoon on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way to a pedestrian.

She was driving the car which struck 85-year-old Thomas J. Prather at Esplanade and Wall Tuesday night. Prather was taken to Klamath Valley hospital for treatment of a knee injury. His condition was said good today.

Investigating police said that Prather was coming toward town down Esplanade about 7:15 p. m., and was over halfway across Wall at the intersection when Mrs. Shellhorn turned left off Esplanade and struck him.

Mrs. Shellhorn placed Prather in her car and started to take him to his home instead of to the hospital. The car was stranded in a traffic tie-up at the high school and Prather was delayed in receiving medical attention.

Chief of Police Orville Hamilton ordered a complete investigation of the accident and the causes of the delay in taking the elderly man to the hospital, and yesterday afternoon issued the warrant for Mrs. Shellhorn.

Merrill, Malin Aid Clothing Drive

MERRILL, Feb. 7 — Merrill and Malin communities contributed one ton each of clothing for the United Nations drive. Two coal trucks owned by the county school district gathered the contributions Tuesday. Clothing at Merrill was left in the care of George Elliott, principal of the high school, and at Malin the drive was in charge of the Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian church and the auxiliary of the Malin post, American Legion.
