Today's Roundup

By MALCOLM EPLEY
A COUPLE of members of the local flying club were in to see us the other day about airplane accidents.

EPLEY

Plane accidents, they said, are often oversensationalized by the press, creating a false idea in the public mind concerning the hazards of flying.

Alive And Unhurt

RIGHT on the heels of our discussion with the aviation enthusiasts, a plane made a forced landing on the ice of Upper Klamath lake, broke through the ice, and submerged, tail protruding from the water.

Heavy Rains Cause Sudden Floods In Parts Of South

By The Associated Press
Cold, clear weather settled on the southeast today after heavy rains caused sudden floods in northwest Georgia and Alabama and a threat to levees in Mississippi.

The bad weather moved north. Snow fell in Virginia, Maryland, Delaware and Washington, D. C., where one of the first storms of the winter was reported.

Snow flurries also extended over the western Great Lakes region and the northern Rockies. A new mass of cold air was coming out of this area.

Store Manager Transferred

LAKEVIEW, Feb. 11 (Special)
Walt McCaw, manager of the Sprouse-Reitz store here for the past 10 years, has been transferred to the company's store at Hillsboro, and he and Mrs. McCaw will leave in about five weeks after finishing up their work here and helping the new local manager get established.

Mr. and Mrs. McCaw came to Lakeview from Fallon, Nev., and during their 10 years in Lakeview have built up the Lakeview store until it was rated one of the best of the Sprouse-Reitz small town stores on the west coast.

They have been prominent citizens of Lakeview, and Walt was elected last year as town councilman. He has been prominent in Round-Up affairs and active on Rotary committees for a number of years, as well as participating in other community activities.

Our pilot sized up the landing possibilities, selected a field near Wocus, and brought us down safely and without even a jar.

Several people asked us afterwards if that experience wasn't enough to cause us to hesitate to go into the air again. On the contrary, it proved to us that one can even be foolish enough to run out of gas in the air and still come out of it unscathed.

The World Today

BRUSSELS, Feb. 11 (AP)—This column has reported that Belgium is one of the earliest among the liberated countries to show marked signs of economic recovery, and now we can give you the secret of this success.

It is that the morale of the Belgian people—the will to conquer their difficulties—is high, and they are hard workers.

Now, of course, it would be absurd to say that these elements alone could repair such an economic catastrophe as has devastated most of Europe. Morale and hard work cannot pull rabbits out of hats or create raw materials for industry.

So we find the Belgians getting ahead with the job because they are working instead of spending their time talking about the good old times or the Utopian future. They are dealing with the bread and butter present, recognizing that there is no political substitute for sweat.

This is not to say that there are not other countries which are in good spirit and are eager to work, for there are. But there are folk who have lost the will to help themselves.

Belgian Determination

YOU see signs of the Belgian determination everywhere. Mrs. Mack and I encountered one especially interesting exemplification of this spirit in the little city of Bastogne which we visited while motoring from Luxembourg to Brussels.

Well, the people of Bastogne have in effect adopted "nuts" as their slogan in battling with the disaster which left large sections of their city looking as though a tornado had hit it. Great numbers of homes and business places were destroyed or damaged and it has been impossible to replace them or do much more than makeshift repairs.

Still Bastogne says "nuts" and continues to carry on with vigor. Its spirit has not been broken. What is going on there is being duplicated in other war damaged areas. The whole country is turning to with a will to repair the physical and economic ravages of the Hitlerites.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (AP)—Stock market customers today bid up some distillers and assorted specialties while permitting many rail and industrial leaders to slip on lower levels.

Comments were related here and there on the thought that last week's market slump in nearly three months had served as a healthy correction of the swing to 15-year peaks.

S. Santiam Highway Now Open

SALEM, Feb. 11 (AP)—The South Santiam highway, closed 11 weeks by a slide and snow, was open today, but chains were required at all Cascade passes, the state highway commission said.

Minimum temperatures throughout the state today were below the freezing mark, causing roads to be frosty and slippery.

Colder and clear weather gave the commission hope of stopping the big slide on the Columbia River highway near Multnomah Falls, where a rain-soaked mountain has been sliding across the road into the river. The commission refused to even make a guess as to when the road would be reopened.

The daily road report: Government Camp—Overcast, 20 degrees, 108 inches total snow at summit, icy and packed snow throughout district.

Santiam Junction—10 degrees, overcast, 8 inches new snow, total snow at summit 156 inches, at junction 91 inches. Packed snow on road throughout area, chains required. Both North and South Santiam highways now open.

New Snow
Odell Lake—Clear, 9 degrees, 184 inches total snow at summit, 11 inches new snow. Packed snow on road east of McCredle Springs. Sanding crews operating, chains required. Three short sections of one-way traffic above Oakridge because of washouts.

Siskiyou Summit—Packed snow and ice, chains required. Sun Mountain Pass, on The Dalles-California Highway—2 inches new snow, 5 degrees below zero, 125 inches total snow, sanding in progress.

Quartz Mountain, on Klamath-Lakeview Highway—6 inches new snow, 2 degrees, being sanded. Greensprings Highway—4 inches new snow, 6 degrees.

Portland—Highways frosty. Salem—Highways frosty. Medford—Foggy. Roads icy

Astoria—Roads icy but well sanded. Lower Columbia highway closed at east city limits of Astoria, short detour available. Now two-way traffic near Clatskanie. Oregon Coast highway still closed at slide near Manzanita, detouring via Sunset and Necanicum highways. Still one-way traffic around washout on Coast highway 7 miles south of Seaside. Loggers not allowed on section. Still one-way traffic at washout on Mist-Clatskanie highway.

The Dalles—Clear, all roads icy, being sanded. Pendleton—Clear and normal. Meacham—22 degrees, snowing lightly, 3 inches new snow, total 57 inches. Some ice on Cabbage hill, but sanded. Chains advised.

La Grande—Skiff of snow on highway. Baker—All roads normal. Bend—3 inches new snow, packed snow on roads. Lapine, The Dalles-California Highway—Temperature 0, road very icy and dangerous, 1 inch new snow.

Burns—Clear, packed snow at higher elevations. Austin—2 inches new snow. Weston-Elgin Highway—Still closed by snow.

Independence—Granger Highway—Open to one-way traffic a half-mile south of Independence, where road washed out.

MEDITATION
Under a sunlit sky of blue I stood on the sand one day. Across the waves of darker hue, Seagulls dipped and wheeled and turned.

The waves came in with a mighty roar, And this is what I heard, "Fear ye not me saith the Lord; will ye not tremble at my presence, which have placed sand for the bound of the sea by a perpetual decree, that it cannot pass it: and though the waves thereof toss themselves, yet can they not prevail; though they roar, yet can they not pass over it."

One could be happy, but over all is the sadness, and the mighty power of conflict. While you can see beauty and grandeur, there is a sadness overshadowing and standing like a mighty giant full of power to kill and destroy.

But over all that I feel a greater power, standing like a mighty wall, just waiting for this to spend itself and find what it folly it all was, how far from the thing it thought itself to be.

And then the time will come when it will all be set aside, and this mighty justice shall move into place, then . . . calm security and peace. When we do not know, and none can tell, Let us Pray.

This is what I heard that day, GERTRUDE HURLBURT, Rt. 2, Box 408, Klamath Falls, Oregon.

From Other Editors

CORNETT (Bend Bulletin)
From Klamath Falls comes an expression of support for Marshall Cornett for the presidency of the Oregon state senate. It is The Herald and News of that city which presents the idea, one which we are happy to second.

Klamath Falls is Senator Cornett's home, but Bend is also in his senatorial district. His representation of the northern area, as well as of the southern, has been able. His standing in the legislature is high and his leadership in the upper house would be of unquestioned value.

Perhaps the suggestion comes a little early. The senate will not elect its president until the 1947 session. But it's a good thought just the same and we're in entire accord with it.

Return to Klamath—Mrs. Clara Baile and Mrs. Harriet Baile, who have made their home in Eugene for several years, have returned to Klamath Falls to live, and at present are staying with Dorothy Baile in the Evans apartments.

EUGENE, Feb. 11 (AP)—Five thousand Lane county school children earned more than half a million dollars in last season's harvests, County Agent O. S. Fletcher estimated today.
