

Dickerson Warns Of 'Sweeping Tide' Of Broken Homes In Hygiene Day Talk

Roy E. Dickerson, executive secretary of the Cincinnati Social Hygiene society, threw a challenge in the laps of the people of Klamath county when he asked them just what they intended doing to stem the "sweeping tide" of broken homes.

Dickerson spoke at the noon luncheon at the Willard Monday as more than 150 persons gathered to observe Social Hygiene Day sponsored by the Klamath County Public Health association with the support of state agencies and county groups. His topic was, "Safeguarding the Home."

The speaker said that "serial-polygamy" had now developed to the point where there was one divorce for every two marriages and that "as far as the stability of the family is concerned it is in a very dangerous and difficult position."

"We are educating our boys and girls for everything under the shining sun but for a happy marriage," Dickerson said. "We should make every effort to meet this sweeping tide of broken homes and divorce. If we do not do this, society will pay a very great penalty. The basic unit of society is the home."

Startling Figures
Dickerson continued from this point to present some startling figures on venereal disease as it pertains to the young people of the nation. He laid this to the increase in promiscuity among the teenage group.

Startling figures for Klamath county were presented by Dickerson who said that there was an increase of 258 per cent in venereal disease among the 15 to 24-year-old age group in 1945 as compared to 1943. Two years ago one out of every 18 persons contracting syphilis or gonorrhea came in that age bracket. In 1945, one out of 8 was the ratio. In 1943, 30.8 per cent of all persons having infection were between the ages of 15 and 24, and in 1944, this figure rose to 38.5 per cent, and in 1945, 50.8 per cent.

No Let-Up
Dickerson said he saw no "let-up" in this alarming condition and that the increase remitted back to one important factor and that was "decreasing fear" in the penalty for contracting venereal diseases.

"The last barrier of fear in contracting infection is down with the introduction of penicillin and the sulpha drugs," Dickerson pointed out. "Knowing that these drugs are available, the last barrier is broken down. We must do a better job in preparing our younger people for marriage and family life."

The morning session of Social Hygiene Day opened in the Veterans Memorial building with Fred E. Fleet, chairman of the social hygiene committee, presiding. The symposium topic, "Social Hygiene, Education Your Job and Mine," was conducted by W. H. Aufrance, M. D., state board of health; Mrs. George R. K. Moorhead, chairman of the social hygiene committee, Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers; T. G. Scherer, director of social hygiene education, Oregon Tuberculosis association, and Dr. Adolph Weinzirl, director of the E. C. Brown Trust, University of Oregon medical school.

Opens Meet
At noon Mrs. R. P. Ellingson, president of the Klamath County Public Health association, opened the meeting and introduced John Sandmeyer, program chairman. Sandmeyer presented the visitors and also Dr. Lowell T. Coggeshall of the Marine Barracks who spoke briefly.

During the afternoon session which was resumed at 2 o'clock, Dr. W. H. Aufrance emphasized the importance of completing treatments begun to cure venereal disease. He was followed by Dickerson who again spoke, this time using as his topic, "The Parents' Part in Sex Education."

Dickerson said that attitudes toward sex were being formed in the child in the cradle and by the time the child is six years old his emotional reaction is established. He stressed the importance of never telling the child anything that is not true.

So successful was Monday's gathering that a great many persons signed up for further courses in social hygiene. Some 200 attended one or more sessions. Appreciation was expressed to the Legion for use of the rooms, Mrs. A. G. Proctor for flowers, and various persons for bringing delegations to the session and those who assisted at the luncheon.

Following the conference the visiting delegation, with Mrs. R. P. Ellingson, and Mrs. Thomas C. Parker, executive secretary of the Klamath County Public Health association, held a committee meeting to make preliminary plans for a training course in social hygiene.

Condition Unchanged — Bill Jordan, Coos Indian who was brought to Hillside hospital suffering from serious injuries received in an altercation at Chiloquin Saturday, was reported unchanged by hospital attendants.

Jaycees Elect New Members

Five new members were elected to the Junior chamber of commerce at the board of directors' meeting last night. Those named were Vice, Western Oil company; Don Forbes, Sun Life Insurance company; Fred Beck, Beck's bakery; Fred Russell, Leach Service company, and Joe Mahoney, International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

A report was received from Ray Garrison concerning action of the Jaycee civic affairs committee on proposed special election measures to be placed on the ballot in the coming special election. Action on the report was postponed at Garrison's request until a more detailed investigation could be made.

John Sandmeyer, president, announced that Grant Thorne, vice president of the national Junior chamber would be principal speaker at the state board meeting to be held in Prineville, February 23 and 24. Sandmeyer assured the directors that Klamath Falls will put in a strong bid to bring the annual state convention of the Jaycees to this city in May.

Sam Mushen announced that Mitchell Tilotson, manager of the First National bank, will speak on "Inflation and Government Debt" at the Americanism Week program scheduled for next Monday night at the Pelican. All Jaycees are urged to attend.

Morse Raps GOP In Talk

BOISE, Feb. 12 (AP)—Republican Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon last night declared his party has not tried to prevent the exploitation of the common man and women from those who control the economic forces of the country.

In a Lincoln Day address here Morse also criticized the action of Sen. White (R-Maine), minority leader, "who defended the filibuster technique and argued against the exercise of cloture protection" during the recent controversy over the fair employment practices bill.

Morse said representative government "has the primary obligation of doing those things for all of its people which they best cannot do for themselves," and added:

"That includes the obligation of government to prevent the exploitation of the common man and women of this country

Gundersen Death Said Accidental

TULELAKE, Feb. 12—A coroner's jury here yesterday returned a verdict that Clyde A. Gundersen, border patrolman, died last Thursday night of a gunshot wound inflicted accidentally by himself.

Witnesses told the story of Gundersen's shooting himself while sitting in a car with three other people, similar to that reported immediately after the tragedy. The jury verdict agreed with the witnesses' theory that when the border patrolman pointed a gun at his head and clicked the trigger, he was joking and did not know a loaded shell was in firing position.

The inquest was based on the assumption that Gundersen died in Siskiyou county, before Patrolman Verr Lagar, who was with him at the time of the shooting, brought his body across the state line on the way to Klamath Falls for medical attention. The jury held that death occurred in Siskiyou county, although Dr. George H. Adler, Klamath county coroner who conducted an autopsy, said he believed Gundersen died in Oregon.

Members of the jury were E. L. Booth, Herman Wescher, A. E. Rodenberger, Rance Stover, Ray Lane, Don Webster and Ernest Wine. The inquest was conducted by Coroner A. C. Turner and District Attorney Charles Johnson of Siskiyou county.

Why is this sauce first with fine cooks?
LET'S ASK THE WOMEN WHO COOK WITH DEL MONTE!

Yes, Del Monte Tomato Sauce has been the grand old cooking sauce of western housewives, for years! Was their favorite—is their favorite!

And even during the war, when it was hard to get, they didn't forget it. Certainly not!

How do we know? Well, one of America's largest independent research organizations went out and asked them.

And what did Del Monte users say about Del Monte Tomato Sauce? Plenty! Two out of three women preferring Del Monte have used it over 10 years. Listen to Mrs. Smalley, for instance:

"Its extra flavor makes any dish taste better!"
— Says MRS. U. E. SMALLLEY, 3257 ELMA ROAD, PASADENA, CALIFORNIA

Just why has Del Monte been your favorite all these years?
"It's that word quality—that's my answer. When you reach my age, you don't like to experiment. You like to use a product you know is dependable. Nobody needs to tell me that Del Monte Tomato Sauce is made from ripe tomatoes and fine spices. Its flavor tells me that!"

Have you ever compared it with other sauces?
"Yes, by accident. My husband brought home another brand one time. But I didn't like it as well. I like the way Del Monte Tomato Sauce is blended. Every can of it I've ever used is so nice and smooth—and in 23 years I guess I've used hundreds!"

Do you like to cook, Mrs. Smalley?
"I should say! But even more I like to see folks eat with real pleasure. Food that tastes good does you more good, I always say. My favorite Tomato Sauce recipe? Well, my family says, 'Nobody can make Chili Beans to beat Mom's. I think Del Monte's extra flavor makes any dish better!'"

How about other canned foods?
"Del Monte is my brand for them, too. The Peas and Pineapple are my special favorites, but I like them all. I'd rather have one can of something good than a case of something we don't really enjoy."

Best ever! That's what Mrs. Smalley's family says!
CHILI BEANS
1 lb. pink beans 1 cup minced onion
3 slices bacon, diced 2 tbsps. chili powder
About 2 tbsps. salt 1 lb. ground beef
2 tbsps. bacon fat 2 cans Del Monte Tomato Sauce
or cooking oil

Soak beans in hot water for about 20 minutes, then cover to 2 or 3 inches above the beans with cold water. Add the diced bacon and salt. Simmer for about 3 hours or until the beans are very tender, adding hot water if necessary. Meanwhile, melt the bacon fat, add the minced onion and cook until slightly brown. Fry until the meat is nicely done. Add to the well and simmer for an hour more, very slowly. If desired, the beans may be placed in a bean pot or casserole and baked in a moderate oven (350° F.) for an hour or more instead of simmering. Saves stirring. Serves 5-6.

Just be sure it's Del Monte TOMATO SAUCE
