Martha Shops and Shops

Appealing Bonnets Shown At Whytal's

ON the prow for a Spring bonnet... Martha cast an appraising eye over the flattering millinery at WHYTAL'S... including the tailored Thornton hats which are an exclusive. Standing forth were the numerous glossy straws with their conspicuous crowns... and tempting lace-straw pastels with peaked crowns above wide brims... but for sheer hat appeal, I liked the dashing Thornton of red straw braid... roll brimmed and encircled by a wide navy ribbon. The 1946 graduates are going for the pastel felts... mostly off-the-face types and well trimmed... leading a trifle touch of sophistication to their youthfulness... and dressiness to their suits.

Home Hair Care Aid To Operators

TALKING with Fern Short at the STUDIO OF BEAUTY the other day... she remarked that women are sometimes dissatisfied with a new permanent or hairdo... and often this is because they haven't taken care of their hair... but nevertheless, expect the operator to perform miracles. Hair that's lovely and easy to handle takes time and patience to acquire... which means a thorough brushing each day for scalp stimulation... and for glossiness. Always remember that healthy hair is of prime importance to good hair styling... and to a beautiful permanent. If you'll conscientiously do your little stint at home toward care of the hair... the operators at the STUDIO OF BEAUTY... on the mezzanine of Whytal's... can produce heaps better results!

Casual Felts Arrive At Long's

EARLY Spring felts of the casual class... a wardrobe necessity... arrived at LONG'S this week... and are priced so moderately that Martha's certain they aren't going to be there long. In the selection are high-crowned Skippys... flattering calots with matching pin... and Corkys, a beret type smartened up by gold nailhead trim. There's a riot of colors... chosen especially for tailored suits... maize, aqua, chartreuse, mist gray and light gray, beige, kelly green, red, navy and black. And they're on display in LONG'S APPAREL... 719 Main.

Currin's Stocks Shampoo Creme

THE request of numerous customers... CURRIN'S has procured a supply of Lustr-Creme... the new shampoo with lanolin that's receiving such wide acclaim. Two applications per shampoo produces new hair loveliness... which Martha has found to be a fact and not merely a phrase... having already used Lustr-Creme. Furthermore, I think it's simply made to order for children's hair... and soap doesn't get in their eyes! The dollar-size jar... providing a lot of shampoos... is now obtainable at CURRIN'S FOR DRUGS, corner of Ninth and Main.

IT'S A BIG ORDER

of Fine Foods... but you certainly don't have to pack it home when the PINE STREET MARKET... Seventh and Pine... is glad to perform this service for you, twice daily... and there's delivery to Lakeshore twice a week. The Market is also bringing new foods to you as rapidly as possible.

Leons Features New Silhouette

DASHING into LEONS, Martha was stopped by the springlike loveliness of newly decorated windows... providing a lulling background for distinguished ready-to-wear. Then, looking over the latest frock arrivals on Leons mezzanine... I noticed many interesting treatments of the basic style trends toward cap sleeves and side drape effects... (either real or simulated)... tiny waists and hipline emphasis.

One of the newest that Barbara Burness showed me is an unusually soft black crepe animated by pastel figures... on which black net forms simulated cap sleeves... and the side drape is real. Quite pretty enough for an occasion. Elegantly different is a dress of gray faille weave... openwork embroidery highlighting the shoulders... white buttons twinkling from collar to hem... and a white leather belt. Perfect for your white accessories.

Of course, these are only enticing samples of the many I viewed this week in LEONS, 525 Main... where the apparel is so "exclusively yours."

Easter Outfits At Tots and Teens

THERE are the most delightful little frocks at the TOTS AND TEENS... so completely darling Martha regrets this born thirty years too soon all over again. The Kay Lewis Picture Mode frocks... widely advertised... are for the dainty ages... two to six years... who'll adore the white organdy aproned fronts with the Topsy Turtle designs blown into the material. And, mothers, they're absolutely washable! Others have similar designs blown right into the dress fabric... and cute names, too, like Little Deers and Black Sheep. Some have embroidered petticoat edging barely showing beneath the skirts... while equally adorable is the musical note trim on the blue dresses.

Cal-Ore Reopens After Feb. Closure

IT'S CAL-ORE tonight... again... after a month's closure! This means everything is in full swing. The kitchen was remodelled during February... new equipment installed... and now is serving those incomparable dinners again. Sammy Herman's six-piece dance band had a rest... and is putting out those rhythmic menus once more... for your pleasure. To be sure, there are other forms of entertainment... as a guarantee against boredom... at CAL-ORE TAVERN... which, for the info of you near comers, is on Highway 97 South corner... just over the California line.

Greenhouses Now Open To Visitors

THE greenhouses on South Sixth street... that supply posies to the KLAMATH FLOWER SHOP... are being opened to visitors again... and, making a tour through these yesterday, Martha saw frame after frame of baby plants which will be ready for transplanting in your gardens... when the time comes. Under the watchful care of Sanford Rose, one of the new owners... snapdragons, petunias, pansies, delphinium, geraniums... tomato, celery, cauliflower and cabbage plants, to name only a few... are getting off to a healthy start. New nursery stock... including shrubs and evergreens... will be arriving the fore part of this month... so you can drop around to the Klamath greenhouses to pick your choice.

Co-owner Charlie Mack who handles the shop end of the business, told me that lavender and white stock is now available for floral arrangements... and snapdragons will soon be plentiful... at the KLAMATH FLOWER SHOP... 1211 Main.

A WRITE HANDY GIFT

that you'll use to the last card are those colorful write-a-message greeting sets... florally illustrated... at SHAW STATIONERY CO... 729 Main... where Martha found individualized writing paper with the new size sheets... and the fancy tablecloths and napkins that dress up a party.

LaPointe's Shows Junior Miss Hats

OUR sub-debs are charmingly provided for in LaPOINTE'S millinery shop... and from the hat price tags Martha saw, they're genuinely reasonable... a considerable factor in graduation and campus wardrobes. You have such a choice it's hard to tell all... but anyway a few of the styles include saucy French sailors of felt... whimsical little half-hats with satin bows or flowers... Innocent Breton rollers such as the one of mist gray flavored in red gossamer... smart black straws youthfringed by white pique... spun straw clothes of gay turquoise and other magical pastels... a few of those flattering Knox boxes... and, naturally, pill boxes and beanies.

Not to be overlooked are the Meadowbrook ribbon hats (bags to match)... in which several types... such as the arty beret... are designed particularly for the Junior Miss... and the new shades are luscious... midship blue, tropical spicce, green pepper, flohilla gray, sable mist, sparkling black.

Now, if you can't find yours in all that selection in LaPOINTE'S, 507 Main... then, girls, I give up!
