

M. B. Plan Opposed By State Group

PORTLAND, March 7 (AP)—Temporary use of the Klamath Falls Marine Barracks as an emergency veterans' college would be of "doubtful value" to servicemen, the United Citizens Higher Education Council of Oregon declared today.

Claude F. Palmer, vice chairman of the council, wrote Gov. Earl Snell the organization believed money needed to finance the emergency facility would be better invested in expanding permanent institutions.

Study Proposal
Palmer said the council had studied the proposal to take over the $6,500,000 Klamath Falls installations and asked the governor "whether it would not be better to strengthen the staff and the equipment of existing institutions with an extended effort to emergency housing" where present schools exist.

The council was organized last October and represents student, parent and alumni groups of state higher educational institutions.

"We believe the long range advantages of this strengthening process would constitute a much better investment than would spending several hundred thousand dollars" on temporary use of the Marine Barracks," Palmer's letter stated.
