WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—The nation there would be a "wasteful waste of food" in the Klamath valley of Oregon as the government acts to provide adequate housing for the itinerant harvest workers was voiced Tuesday by Representative R. O. Morse (R-Ore.). He said the government agencies to Camp Adair, near Salem, Oregon, for housing.

Morse said the itinerant workers employ more than 100,000 in the United States. The Secretary of Agriculture in a letter there is a shortage of harvest housing is provided, Morse said. He declared that the army needs about two months ago, he said, and work would be transported from the fields in buses.

At what I am afraid of, is that government red tape will stand vacant during harvest seasons and crops are wasted," Morse said.

He said he also took up the matter with the national housing agency and with the army.

Main Street Solicited

Solicitation in the business district for the collection of funds for Klamath county chapter, American Red Cross, was underway bright and early this morning under the chairmanship of K. A. Moore.

The county quota of $43,100, largest in peace time, was the goal of all workers in the 1946 campaign. Moore's committee is made up of Estlin Kiger, Moon Mullis, E. M. Chilcote, Millie Tipton, H. J. Hendrickson, Earl Redman, Bob Oliver, E. P. Livingston, Nick Long, Keith Moon, Stan Pleser, Sidney Weinstein, Frank Blackmer and Dick Reeder.

South 6th street solicitation was being wound up this week under the combined chairmanship of Otto Sari and Roy Carter.

All individuals and firms are urged to have their donations ready for the Red Cross worker so that the campaign can be completed by March 31.
