

Annual Spring Concert Satisfies All Tastes; Program Again Tonight

By LOIS STEWART
 The splendid program presented under the leadership of Andrew Loney Jr., director of music education in the city schools, those who gather in the high school auditorium tonight should pay particular attention to the orchestra number, "Danza Chilena Estillo," a cappella choir's "How Lovely is Thy Dwelling Place," a Brahms composition, and the beautiful "Sequoia," a "Tone Painting," played by the concert band. Then there was the thrilling "Crusaders" overture by the combined bands, the girls' glee club rendition of "Joshua Fit the Battle of Jericho," and for those who follow the modern, the band's gay "Victory Garden Suite" which stressed the boogie-woogie tempo.

Incidental soloists were Murray Gordon Robinson and Alyce Wells. Accompanists who come in for a great amount of praise were Barbara Zinn, Joanne Robinson, Marie Wright and Patsy Hambrick. Director of the combined bands was Oland Warcup; girls' glee club and orchestra, John Best, and Andrew Loney, a cappella choir and concert band.

Wayne Angel, fourth grader from Mills who won the Dr. George H. Adler award, was presented early in the evening playing the composition which won him the honor in the all-school contest. His accompanist was Anita Campbell.

New Union Branch Office Will Open

PORTLAND, Ore., March 15 (AP)—An AFL director of organization will be in charge of a new union branch office scheduled to open here by April 1, Charles C. Hughes, AFL representative, said today.

The AFL progress committee, which is considering an organizational drive in parts of Washington as well as in Oregon, will be headed by the same director, he reported.

Burningham Will Head USBR Survey

C. W. Burningham of Redding will head the survey staff which is to conduct a complete investigation, for the reclamation service of the Klamath basin from the mountains to the sea.

Headquarters for the survey will be set up here in conjunction with the Klamath reclamation project.

Burningham's work at Redding has included a study of a plan to divert Trinity river to the Sacramento basin as a possible wartime power development. The Trinity is a tributary of the Klamath, and the study will be completed as a part of the new Klamath survey.

Funds provided by the reclamation service said in Sacramento today funds for the Klamath survey had been provided by congress.

The Klamath basin report will be comprehensive in nature, covering an inventory of all land and water resources and including recommendations for an overall plan by which it will be possible to achieve the maximum beneficial uses of these resources for agricultural, industrial and recreational development," Boke said. "The need for the development of more irrigated land in the basin is indicated by the heavy demand of war veterans for farm homesteads. In the forthcoming opening of 7500 acres for settlement in the Tulelake division of the Klamath project later this year. The study also is important in view of the gradual decline in timber resources of the area."

The first field work will include land classification studies in the upper basin, geologic exploration of various damsites, topographic mapping of reservoir sites, and hydrologic studies of basin stream flows.

The bureau's investigation will lead to the preparation of a department of the interior report on the Klamath basin which will include also the recommendations of the fish and wildlife service, the Indian service, the national park service, the geological survey, the grazing service, the bureau of mines and other agencies of the department with respect to the proposed river development program. The report ultimately will be submitted to the governors of Oregon and California, and the corps of engineers of the U. S. army for their comments before it is submitted to the president for transmittal to the congress.

Pythian Sisters—Winema club, Pythian Sisters, will meet in the library club room at 8 p. m. tonight. A potluck dinner will be served. Hostesses are Mrs. William Beck, Mrs. S. R. Redkey and Mrs. George Moses.
