

Brief Backing Highway Improvement Mailed To Washington By Chamber

REVIEW, March 18—The Chamber of Commerce is backing a six months program for the reconstruction of the U. S. Highway 395 between the California-Oregon line and Alturas, Calif. The Chamber today with the mailing of a memorandum to Washington is backing this important project.

The brief, prepared by the Chamber of Commerce, is supported by more than 100 resolutions from government and civic bodies in Oregon, California, Nevada and Washington, all of which request reconstruction to be effected through the Public Roads Administration and California State Highway Commission without further delay.

Establishing the need for improvement is interesting in character, statistics in brief show that the condition of this road at the present time results in an annual loss to the state of $1,000,000. The Chamber estimates that the cost of reconstruction is $1,000,000.

Also pointed out is the fact that Oregon has spent nearly $10,000,000 in reconstructing this road in recent years, whereas, California has expended many times as much on the portion of the road in question, other than bare maintenance. The Chamber has been, states the memorandum, that large modern equipment cannot operate over road due to its steep grades twisting course, with the result that interstate commerce is definitely being restricted. The memorandum is addressed to Thomas H. MacDonald, federal commissioner of public roads, with copies going to the regional delegations and state executives and highway commission heads of Oregon, California, Nevada and Washington, and to other interested parties.

Featured is a map showing the inadequate facilities afforded, as well as statistical cost tables, etc., for the road rebuilding. The brief points out that a recent appropriation by the California Highway Commission will take care of only partial reconstruction of a fraction of the road needing rework.

Specific request is made that provisions be made for completing the entire 37 1/2 mile section in the three-year postwar road program.

Among the Oregon bodies supporting this effort are the county courts of Grant, Klamath, Harney and Lake counties; various municipal governments, chambers of commerce, service groups and stockmen's associations, etc. Similar local and state groups in California, Nevada and Washington are represented.

Sympathy of friends here is extended to Mrs. Ira Newell and family in their loss by fire last week which destroyed their furniture and damaged the inside of their home. The fire wasn't discovered until the children bus came by taking the home from school. When the bus stopped for the Newell children to get off, smoke was seen coming out of the home. An immediate call for the county fire equipment was sent in, and it came at once. Mrs. Newell was up near Portland in the interest of her health as she hasn't been well for some time.

Mrs. Dale Stebbins went to Red Bluff, Calif., and visited her brother George overnight one day last week, then on to another brother near San Francisco where she will be while receiving medical treatment. She never recovered entirely from the last stage of flu which she had last fall.

Several of the school children from here attended a party at the Enman home Saturday evening.

The continual rains are putting the side roads around Hager in bad condition again.

FATE

By EARL WHITLOCK

Do you want more leisure to take up the enjoyments you love? Maybe you can get it by changing somewhat your manner of thinking. When the Crusaders went to the Orient, they found there beauties and pleasures of which they had never dreamed - a civilization far ahead of their own. And that was due largely to the Mohammedans absolute belief in Fate. Fate, to Islam was not a thing to be bemoaned, but to be accepted. It was the will of Allah. No desperate effort to escape, no intense struggle to change the pattern of things. The pattern was accepted in Allah. And with all events thus settled in his mind, the Mohammedan went on about his worldly affairs and found time for poetry and art and music and philosophy - all the appurtenances to gracious living.

I am not sure that I would wish to adopt any fatalistic beliefs. They seem too much to limit the usefulness of individual effort. But wouldn't most of us be happier if our minds were more free for enjoyments, if we would believe strongly in the beneficence of All-wise Providence which rules over us. If we would quit such of our struggling and accept the theory that whatever sends to us is best - because He will not send us anything but the best?

What a lot of peace our souls would gain through such a knowledge!

Next Monday, Mr. Whitlock will comment on "The

Where Is Your New Home Now?

Right now the home you want to build is in the tree, the iron ore pits, the clay banks and the quarry.

Legislation, HH priorities, allocations, preference ratings, will not build a home. Neither will such legal juggling of a meagre supply of materials produce building materials. An HH priority may mean little more than a license to hunt home-building materials.

Lumber and building material dealers and contractors can build all the homes America needs—if building materials are available. But unless production of materials is unblocked, no one can build homes. Whether a house is labeled "Public Housing" or "Prefabricated Housing" or a "Privately Built Home"—all are bidding for the same supply of materials.

Here are the materials that must be produced. These are the materials in short supply which are subject to distribution controls through priorities:

- Lumber
- Concrete Block
- Clay Sewer Pipe
- Structural Clay Tile
- Cast Iron Soil Pipe
- Cast Iron Radiation
- Common Brick
- Millwork
- Face Brick
- Gypsum Board
- Gypsum Lath
- Bath Tubs

What has happened that all these essential building materials are lacking? Have we exhausted raw material supply? Or plant production?

Any government program that does not FIRST remove the obstacles blocking production of materials will simply add additional difficulties to the problem facing the building industry.
