

Council Decides To Turn Cash Balance Into Fund

From an entanglement of legal and don't's the city council last night resolved that the cash balance of $17,332.63 as of March 1, 1946, from the recreation department's fund be turned into a recreation fund for a specific purpose, probably a community recreation center.

Discussion arose from a question by Police Judge Harold Fray who doubted the legal authority of the city in turning the balance back into the general fund. City Attorney Henry Perdue explained that in a continuing levy a certain amount is raised each year for that specific year with the balance being turned to the general fund. Fray contended that the balance should go into the next year's fund and that the people should be asked only for the needed balance the following year.

In order to clarify the matter, the council voted to draw up a resolution establishing a sinking fund into which the cash balance will go. In the near future the recreation committee will decide on a definite purpose for which the money will be used.

Defends Tree

Appearing before the city fathers to defend his poplar tree, the roots of which have raised and cracked the sidewalk, Carroll Colvin, 340 S. Riverside, asked that he be permitted to raise the sidewalk, cut off the offending roots and repair the walk, rather than cut down the tree. City Engineer E. A. Thomas agreed that his plan would be satisfactory since the tree roots are not interfering with the sewage system. The council decided that the value of the tree warranted saving it and gave Colvin 90 days to remove the cause of the damage and repair the walk.

Mayor Ed Ostendorf reported that at a meeting of the airport committee yesterday C. A. Dunn was elected to serve as chairman following the resignation of G. A. Krause. Friday at 7:30 p. m. the committee will meet again to discuss the city's part in the future of the naval air station in Klamath Falls.

C. M. Hansen of the Lincoln Memorial park in Portland will arrive Thursday morning to give engineering assistance to the local cemetery committee in plans for the new city cemetery.

Eagles Will Honor Vets

War veterans, members of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, will be honored Tuesday evening, March 26, by Klamath Falls aerie No. 2090, with a special program and initiation of a large class of candidates. This special program and initiation is designated as the Fraternal Order of Eagles memorial program marking the first anniversary of the creation of the FOE memorial fund by the order in honor of all members who have been military service and those who are now serving. Discharged veterans who are members and members who are on furlough or leave will be honored guests at the program.

The first use to which the fund income will be put is to give any needed assistance to the families of members who died in the service, especially their wives and children, to rehabilitate disabled veterans and to educate the children of members who were killed in action during World War II.

At the present time the trust fund exceeds $1,600,000, which is the minimum goal set a year ago when the foundation was created and it is growing every day.

The program will be in charge of a special memorial fund committee composed of the following: M. L. Shepherd, chairman; Gus Mosby, C. C. Dugan, S. H. Ackerman, F. A. Steinenmueller, C. A. Humble, J. E. Schuster, N. J. Beard, Leon Crapo and Walter Spendahl.

Supreme Court Denies Appeal

SALEM, March 19 (AP)—The state supreme court today dismissed the appeal of Malesy Stone, who was sentenced in Polk county to a life prison term as an habitual criminal.

The grounds for the dismissal, requested by the Polk county district attorney, were that Stone's attorney, Leroy Lomax, failed to file the transcript of the lower court with the state supreme court within the time prescribed by law.

Stone also was convicted of the Grande Ronde bank robbery two years ago.

Robison Gets Travel Post

Alert Cabbies Net One Arrest

PORTLAND, March 19 (AP)—Holdup-conscious taxi drivers netted one arrest early today when two other suspects disappeared before police arrived.

Shaffer said Police was charged with carrying concealed weapons—a pistol and a lead weight—but was not identified as connected with a series of four taxi holdups here Friday night.

Another driver pulled to the curb and called police when two fares, picked up separately, seemingly knew each other and were unable to give directions for finding a wrecked car one of them sought. The men were gone when police arrived.

HIGH SCHOOL News Notes and Comment

By JOAN O'NEILL

Fred Wisenbach, art instructor at KUHS, has resigned his position in that capacity. Mr. Wisenbach has been carrying his teaching load along with his duties as minister of the Episcopal church. He feels that his church duties are too heavy to continue teaching.

The Rev. Mr. Wisenbach will be missed very greatly by his students in the department since he has been well liked and since he has been a fine artist. Mr. Wisenbach has been contacted to take over Mr. Swensen's duties. Mr. Swensen has substituted several times in the art line at KUHS. He was quite recently discharged from the service.

Need Not Leave School for Navy

At a recent conference in Portland which was attended by Stanley Woodruff, principal, one fact that is rather pertinent for senior boys was revealed. The conference was held for the purpose of discussing accreditation of military service experiences. It was mostly concerned with questions about boys already in the service, but the service problem for senior boys was also discussed.

It was brought out that those boys wishing to join the navy may do so at any time before the call of the selective service even if they have passed their 18th birthday. This means of course that boys need not rush their schooling and leave before their graduation simply because they are afraid they will not be able to join the navy after they are 18.

Reorganization Of Fremont National Forest Approved

Reorganization of the Fremont national forest into five instead of the four present ranger districts has recently been approved by the chief of the forest service in Washington, D. C., according to an announcement by Assistant Supervisor Merle S. Lowden. John B. Smith, former assistant district ranger at Bly, will be the ranger of the new unit to be known as the Drew Valley ranger district, which will take in parts of the present Bly and Warner districts. This will include the country surrounding Drews valley, Dog lake and Yocum valley and will take in the Cottonwood country, Dry valley, Dry Creek country and extend west to the western forest boundary near Fort Springs. Lakeview will be the headquarters.

Increase in work on the Fremont forest and the policy of having smaller local units were given as reasons for the reorganization. With smaller ranger districts it will be possible for each ranger to better know his territory and to give better service to forest users, according to Lowden.

Several similar changes in ranger district size are being made this year on other national forests and this realignment follows forest service policy of getting more intensive management on national forest lands.

Before coming to Bly in 1943 Smith had several years' experience on the Umpqua national forest in various jobs including timber sale officer, district guard and fire guard positions. He plans to move his family to Lakeview as soon as suitable housing is available. The office for the Drews Valley district will be in conjunction with that for the Warner district on the second floor of the post office building.

Supplies of market milk and commercial cream were described as ample, but whipping cream was short of demand.

Storage in public warehouses, which include army, navy and government holdings were reported as 395,854 pounds last Saturday, compared with 140,332 pounds the same date last year.

Flashes Of Life

KNOTS

NEW ULM, Minn., March 19 (AP)—Emil Dometer met up with a knotty problem just as he was finishing remodeling his store.

In the last piece of lumber—a scotch pine—he noted a gaping knothole, so he started searching for the knot. He went to the lumber yard and after a prolonged hunt he found the knot. Then he finished his job of gluing it in place, looked it over, and said, "not bad."

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

CHICAGO, March 19 (AP)—Many Chicago landlords, with no apartments to rent, can't find "no vacancy" signs to post on their buildings.

James Dameron, owner of a sign firm, said during the war manufacture of all metal signs dropped sharply and sign sellers kept only small stocks of "no vacancy" signs on hand. Before the war the big demand was for "for rent" signs—which are selling at half-price.

Dameron said his firm turns out 6000 "no vacancy" signs weekly, but most of them are shipped to other cities.
