

Good Stands Assured By Suberized Surface On Cut Potato Seeds

Properly suberized or corked surface on cut potato seed assures good stands, according to W. J. G. G. G., assistant county agent.

Temperature and moisture conditions are right, newly cut seed can be planted immediately in the ground. High temperatures are low and soil is wet, the corking over will not progress rapidly, he said. Soil bacteria and fungi gain access to the seed pieces through the fresh cut surface and cause seed rot which results in many missing and weak plants.

Optimum temperatures for suberization range around 60 degrees. Humidity of 100 per cent is best. Cool temperatures and dry air retard the corking over process. High temperature and dry air cause a drying of cut surfaces but not promote the formation of the thick layer of cork cells that is desired. Cut seed should be held about two days at 60 degrees and in air of 100 per cent humidity. If humidity is low, wet sacks may be used to cover the bags of cut seed, it was stated.

Cut Seed Preferred

Some growers prefer single drop seed to cut seed because cut seed in cold, wet springs sometimes gives poor stands. In such cases it can usually be found that the cut seed was not properly suberized, Jendrzewski said.

Continuous planting of single drop seed from the same lot of potatoes will result in high percentage of virus diseases such as leaf roll, mild mosaic and virus mosaic. Plants affected with these diseases produce smaller tubers. These small, diseased tubers are concentrated in the small sized single drop grade. Single drop seed from certified stock or stock of comparable freedom from disease is good seed for commercial planting, he said.

Support Price Provided For Major Crops

Congress is committed to provide price supports of not less than 90% parity for basic and Steagall commodities, according to Arnold Bodker of the state AAA office. Under Commodity Credit Corporation loans supports are provided for wheat, feed grains, hay and pasture seeds and potatoes.

Alsike clover seed is supported by CCC loans carrying a loan rate of 25¢ per pound. A basic support price for potatoes has been set at $1.60 per hundred pounds loaded on trucks in bulk at the farmer's gate.

No interpretation of the exact meaning of this loan rate on potatoes, alsike clover and brewing barley all have these advantages, he stated.

Essential that crops have certain advantages over production in other areas in order that the farmer may secure the benefits of the economic trends. Best net cash returns are received for crops for which demand is high, for which there is a market preference in quality, for which freight or transportation costs have competitive advantages and which are high yielding or have greater economy of production. Klamath county is fortunate in that the main cash crops: potatoes, alsike clover and brewing barley all have these advantages, he stated.

Europe Farm Output Good

Thousands of farm boys who have been serving in the army in European areas that have been farmed since long before the discovery of America are glad to get back to where tractors are more common. But many, say reports reaching the U. S. department of agriculture, have also given thought to the fact that some of the European farms that have been cropped for thousands of years are more productive and yield more to the acre than many American soils that have been wasted, washed out, or cropped out in a few decades.

The Ohio extension service, for example, cites George Kreitler, Licking county agent, who served in the Po valley in Italy. The Po valley normally harvests 60 bushels of wheat to the acre and other crops in proportion after 4000 years or more of cultivation. Kreitler does not suggest that Ohio farmers adopt peasant ways of working, but thinks they might well realize the value of working manure and crop residues back into the soil, the skillful use of fertilizers, preservation of soil by erosion control, and wise rotation of crops. Italian peasants, he found, made wiser use of hilly land than many American farmers do.

"The burden on the land in Europe has forced peasants to adopt a policy of hard work and no waste," Kreitler observes. Necessity drives American farmers, he suggests, could well borrow the best of these ideas before necessity compels, and adapt them to a better system of farming that will continue to use machines and still preserve and improve the land.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 16 miles of tiny tubular filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired, you have trouble. You feel tired, tired, and don't know what's wrong. Frequent urination, passing water with a burning or stinging sensation, or a feeling of heaviness in your back, are signs that your kidneys are overworked. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, loss of eyes, headache and dizziness.

Weaker Tone Seen In Hay Market

A slightly weaker tone developed in the hay market at Portland in the past week and some sales of alfalfa were at a little lower price. The range in prices of No. 2 or better alfalfa was $32 to $34 a ton, compared with $33 to $34 a week earlier, according to the weekly hay market review, prepared by the OSC extension service from USDA market reports and other data.

The situation in California grew worse under an increasingly urgent demand, a critical shortage of all kinds of livestock feed, and declining pasture and range conditions. No important movement of new crop hay is expected in central California for several weeks. Some hay from the Pacific northwest is beginning to move into California.

Agricultural Outlook For 1946 Bright

Klamath county holds a relatively favorable position in agricultural outlook for 1946 and succeeding years. AAA committeemen were told by C. A. Henderson, county agent, because it has distinct production and marketing advantages for the main cash crops.

The immediate prospect for 1946 shows available farm labor to be in short supply, probably similar to 1945. Wages may tend to be higher and prices farmers pay for machinery and supplies will be higher. All prices to be received by farmers for products are about the same as last year, the net price farm income will be lower.

However, farmers of this county, as elsewhere in the country, are attempting to decrease their cost of production. Improved machinery (if and when available), land leveling, better drainage, improved irrigation ditches and irrigation control structures, and what some of them tend to save labor and reduce overhead in cost of production, Henderson said.

In making crop choices it is essential that crops have certain advantages over production in other areas in order that the farmer may secure the benefits of the economic trends. Best net cash returns are received for crops for which demand is high, for which there is a market preference in quality, for which freight or transportation costs have competitive advantages and which are high yielding or have greater economy of production. National Potato Letter—New Potato Crop Estimate Shows Increase In Acreage

A new potato crop estimate from BAE covers only early spring areas, but indicates an increase of 3300 acres over planting intentions reported earlier. That's up more than 10 per cent over the February report. This increase does not necessarily set a pattern for other early sections, but it deserves watching. Next important acreage report will be issued about March 20, when other acreage intentions will give the first clear indication of 1946 prospects as a whole.

Supply situation for the next four months very definitely is on the fence. Florida's winter crop is about half marketed. Early spring areas show excellent condition as of March 1. In Texas, planting was finished early last month and conditions to date indicate good yields. Alabama has had excellent weather and the stand and condition are good. California had tough luck in the earliest sections, from which movement will be delayed. That's a break for western late stock, which will enjoy a somewhat longer season on the coast. Trade gossip from Louisiana indicates more acreage than last year, and considerably more than growers would admit up to a month ago.

World food situation has a strong bearing on spud marketing prospects. The United States is trying to save grain for foreign shipment. President Truman probably meant it when he said "Reach for a spud instead of more bread. Grain will not be higher, all prices to be received by farmers for products are about the same as last year, the net price farm income will be lower.

However, farmers of this county, as elsewhere in the country, are attempting to decrease their cost of production. Improved machinery (if and when available), land leveling, better drainage, improved irrigation ditches and irrigation control structures, and what some of them tend to save labor and reduce overhead in cost of production, Henderson said.

Klamath county is fortunate in that the main cash crops: potatoes, alsike clover and brewing barley all have these advantages, he stated.

Shipments last week were enough to cheer about. Total was 7449 cars, 787 cars over the week before and 1238 over the previous week. The past week's daily average was 1242 cars, of which probably 950 to 1000 cars daily were seed, which explains the failure of markets to break wide open. Maine was up 428 cars, Red River Valley 275, others less. Declines noted were: In Colorado, 68 cars; Nebraska 25, Oregon 58, and others less. In the south, Florida jumped by 89 cars to a total for season to date of 1736 cars, while southern California now has a total of 196 cars, with very little movement daily. Texas has total of only 12 cars, but will be more important later this month.

Demand and Markets

Maine has reported good demand for three straight weeks, with the market currently slightly stronger at 35 to 50 cents over ex-celling. Idaho reports fair demand, market about steady, prices 30 cents over ex-celling after being 5 cents higher last week. North Dakota demand has been rather slow, market about steady, prices still 10 to 15 cents under the floor. Colorado demand has ruled slow, market steady, prices 5 cents over ex-celling. Wisconsin still is difficult to report because of too few sales to establish a market, with demand fair, market slightly stronger and prices for few sales 5 cents over the floor. Michigan demand has ruled moderate, market about steady after strengthening last week, prices 30 cents over floor. Upstate New York probably has few potatoes

Full Farm Production Said Needed

At a meeting Tuesday in the county agent's office, Klamath county AAA committeemen were told by C. W. Smith, assistant county agent leader for Oregon, that full production rather than the all-out production of war years should be a goal until agriculture is restored in Europe. That problem will be given first consideration in those countries, and nationally we should not look for a long continued foreign demand for food crops.

More attention should be given now and hereafter to soil conserving crops to help check the soil productivity loss of war years so the productive capacity of county soil can be maintained in order that it will produce

Surplus Disposal

Government tonnage from last week's shipments amounted to only 36 cars compared with 159 cars the week before. This probably indicates cessation of taking for Beaumont from the Red River Valley, which last week accounted for only 4 cars. Bal-competitively under less favorable conditions to come. Consideration of the immediate importance of soil conserving crops highlights the fact that a tremendous shortage of clover and alfalfa seeds and other hay and pasture seeds will make the production of these crops reasonably profitable for a long period in areas favorable to this production.

Production goals for Oregon call for a 1946 increase in wheat, seed grains, hay, pasture and alfalfa seeds. A reduction in poultry and turkey production is desired in order that feed can go to help balance available feed with dairy and beef livestock goals. A 18 per cent reduction in potatoes should be made to balance production with demand if support prices are likely to be exceeded by buying prices for another season.

68 Head Of Cattle Sold At Auction

Sixty-eight head of cattle were sold for a total sum of $16,850, at the second annual Rogue River Valley Hereford Breeders' auction held last weekend in Medford. The top bull, owned by the Flounce Rock ranch, was sold to J. M. Owens, Brownsboro, for $1400. The top cow offered by Claude Sneed, Eagle Point, went to Mrs. Harry Obenchain of Bly for $800.

Average sale price for the 10 top males was $466, and for the 10 high females, $364, while the average per head was $251.
