

Vets To Get On-The-Job Training

Oregon's ex-servicemen are to get started in on-the-job training under the GI bill of rights in a four-page bulletin prepared and released by the department of veterans' affairs, Director Hugh E. Rosson announced today.

The procedure the veteran follows in order to receive the training subsistence allowances granted him during his period of learning in an occupation is set forth concisely in the bulletin.

Eligibility
The veteran is advised to certify his eligibility for job-training with the veterans administration as early as possible to avoid delays in drawing his allowances once he has obtained a job under the program. His next step is to contact his local apprentice coordinator to arrange a training schedule and related studies, the bulletin says.

It cautions, however, that "government funds provided under this program are not intended as a dole for the veteran nor as a means whereby the employer gets cheap labor at government expense. These funds are intended to train the veteran for his own future security as well as to provide industry with skilled men."

Oregon's 24 apprentice council coordinators, working through the department of vocational education, are listed. The bulletin is being mailed to county service officers, all veterans' organizations, and local selective service boards.

QUICK COFFEE CAKE
(From Mrs. O. A. Ness, 334 1/2 West Berton, Seattle, Wash.)

1 1/2 cups Albers Flapjack & Waffle Flour
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

1 egg
1/2 cup milk
1/4 cup oil or melted shortening

Sift flour with sugar and cinnamon. Beat egg, add milk, add melted shortening; then quickly add all to dry ingredients. Stir just enough to mix well, and spread in shallow pan. Sprinkle batter with mixture of 2 tablespoons sugar and 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon, and dot with one tablespoon butter. Bake in moderately quick oven (400 degrees) 20 to 25 minutes or until done. Serve warm.

Your favorite way of using some Albers product will bring you $5.00, if we print it. Address Albers Milling Company, 1060 Stuart Bldg., Dept. 9N, Seattle 1, Wash.
