

Advertising Roundup

By A. D. ADDISON PROFESSIONAL men have been annoyed off and on for years by the bum jokes about practicing—"practicing law" and "practicing medicine."

ADDISON

When a newspaper shows that it needs more practice (makes a mistake) it's a matter of PUBLIC RECORD... and the phone rings in a hurry!

Last night's paper, for instance, carried an ad for Klamath Temple's revival rally in which the picture labeled "Dr. Chas. M. Leaming" was really that of Dr. Beryl D. Orris, psychiatrist.

World Today

By DeWITT MacKENZIE Associated Press World Traveler

PARIS, March 23—France's appeal for assistance in inaugurating her five-year economic plan is symptomatic of the shocking distress which blankets most of Europe and Special Envoy Leon Blum quite likely is only breaking trail for a long line of applicants from other nations.

Of course the big problem of the moment in most countries of the old world is to find food, on the basis that if you are starving it doesn't matter a tinker's dam how much money you have in your pocket unless it will buy something to eat.

There was hunger in Europe after the first world conflict, and there was economic disturbance, but it was a happy interlude as compared with what is happening now.

Belonged To Atomic Age

THE total war which Hitler inaugurated truly belonged to the atomic age. It not only stopped the wheels of progress but it destroyed the means of recovery.

Japanese Girl Will Meet Father For Initial Time

TULELAKE, March 23—Yieko Taira, just 7 months old, will see her father for the first time when the evacuee train that left the WRA center Wednesday reaches an internment camp in the south.

Chamber Members Invited To Dinner

Any and all members of the chamber of commerce are invited to be guests of the Modoc county defense council dinner set for Wednesday evening in Alturas, Calif.

present misfortune is due to various reasons, including political confusion and spiritual hurt, but we find enough cause for economic distress in the despoliation of this great country by the Hitlerites.

South Road Story

Editor's Note: This is the story of the opening of the South Emigrant Road in 1846 as told about 25 years ago by Lindsay Applegate, a member of the party.

By ELIZABETH BUTLER LOOSLEY THE dishes were quickly disposed of and Frank and Ed came in bearing more logs for the fire.

"And now what happened?" asked one of the boys. "What happened? Oh, yes, where was I?"

"On Klamath lake, the fourth of July." "Well, our trip up the west side of the lake was wasted time; we had to retrace our steps in order to reach the east side."

"We saw, near the foot of the ridge on the east a lake about twenty miles long, we saw a high butte covered with timber and at its base low ground—a pass. Decided to go around the south end of the lake and rode down, only to find ourselves in what you now know to be the Lava Beds."

"Being as we had unpacked, we nooned here and had gone about one mile when we came to a large stream (Lost River) coming into the lake."

"We paid the native with gifts. Finding a spring at the base of the mountain, we stopped and July 7th went east over rough tableland on which scattering trees grew."

"The tenness was broken, someone shouted, 'See, there's a man. It's Goff!'"

BARNES FILES DAMAGE SUIT

Claude Barnes, Klamath Falls painter, has filed a law suit with the circuit clerk for amounts totaling $1441.75 against Jerry Welch and Tony Conroy as damage to his car and business, allegedly resulting from negligence on the youths' part when they borrowed the car March 4.

Barnes charges that Welch and Conroy took his machine, a 1937 Ford sedan, without his permission and drove it in such a manner that the motor was burned out.

The car was placed in a Merrill garage where repair work amounting to $241.75 was done. Welch and Conroy have refused to pay the garage bill, Barnes' suit continues, and the car is being held until payment is made.

Barnes, through his attorney, U. S. Balentine, is suing for the amount of the repair bill, for $200 he alleges he lost by not having the car for his business and for $1000 punitive damages.

Spring Concert To Be Presented
